PROPOSE ISSUE OF $75,000,000 IN ROAD BONDS

Special Committee of County Officials Unanimous in Recommendation of State Bonds.

TO REPAY COUNTIES FOR HIGHWAY WORK

Plan Will Be Submitted to Commissioners' Convention and to 1929 State Legislature.

Macon, Ga., September 25.—(AP)—A special committee of the Georgia Association of County Commissioners went on record here today as favoring unanimously the floating of $75,000,000 in state highway bonds, nearly one-third of which amount will go to refund, in cash, money advanced by various counties toward the completion of their own system of roads.

The recommendation, which will be made to the commissioners' association next April, and in turn to the general assembly of Georgia, was proposed by A. J. Lippett, of Albany, and seconded by Judge C. H. Brown, of Clarkesville.

Of the $75,000,000 it is proposed that $50,000,000 will go for the construction of hard surfaced highways, and the other $25,000,000, or such sum thereof as may be necessary, will be returned to the various counties of Georgia, which heretofore have advanced money to the state highway department for the construction of their own highways. Under that proposal Bibb county would receive approximately $750,000.

The bonds would be sold, under the committee's recommendation, by a bond commission, which commission would allocate the funds under such direction as would be defined by the state legislature. The commission would be composed of one member from each of nine state highway districts, each to be named, it was said, by the county commissioners of his particular highway district.

It also will be recommended that the issue be predicated upon interest and principal being paid out of gas taxes, and that this provision be incorporated in the constitutional amendment authorizing the bond issue.

The bonds, it was said, are to be 30-year serial bonds bearing interest of not more than four per cent. The $50,000,000 would be applied primarily to the 5,500 miles in the state system, which mileage was agreed upon in contract made between the state and the federal government, and is the mileage upon which the 50-50 plan is based.

W. Tom Winn, of Atlanta, said that the present gasoline tax would retire the bonds, principal and interest, within 20 years.

E. I. COOLIDGE DIES

Former Elks Official Had Lived Here for 25 Years.

Edward I. Coolidge, of 746 Highland avenue, died Tuesday night at a local hospital following a short illness. He had been a resident of Atlanta for more than 25 years.

He was a member of the Masonic and Elks lodges and of the Druid Hills Presbyterian church. He was a former officer in the Elks lodge and was active for many years as a teacher and leader of boys' athletics in the Druid Hills Presbyterian Sunday school.

He is survived by his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Moran, of Atlanta; three sisters, Mrs. J. C. Hettenhausen, of Fort Williams, Ont., Canada; Mrs. Frank Hall and Mrs. Fowler, both of Montreal, Canada, and a brother, James Coolidge, of Portland, Ore. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by Sam R. Greenburg and company.

RASKOB CREDITS U. S. PROSPERITY TO WILSON TERM

Praises Federal Reserve Act and Advises Enlargement of Home Market as Best Theory.

New York, September 25.—(AP)—American prosperity lies in the economic rehabilitation of the agricultural population of the country which will in turn become a domestic market for the products of the industrial section, John J. Raskob, chairman of the democratic national committee, declared tonight in his first official radio speech of the campaign.

The democratic chairman said his view of the situation was diametrically opposed to that of Herbert Hoover, republican presidential nominee, who, he said, has offered expansion of foreign trade as the surest guarantee of continued prosperity in this country.

Mr. Raskob said the United States has passed through an economic revolution during and since the world war and declared that the present era of prosperity is in large measure due to policies of national government instituted and put into effect during the administration of the late President Wilson.

Enlarge Home Market.

The creation of the federal reserve system, Mr. Raskob said, was to his mind the greatest single forward step toward the business situation which the nation enjoys today. Present-day prosperity is the result of the federal reserve system and higher wages which has created a vast buying power in the industrial population, he said.

By extending this enlarged buying power to the farmers, Mr. Raskob said, the domestic market can be enlarged by 50,000,000 persons on farms and in farming communities, about 40 per cent of the population of the country.

"During and since the war America has passed through an economic revolution," Mr. Raskob said. "Before the war we were a debtor nation. We very largely consumed our own production. Our volume of business was relatively small in proportion to population. Wages and individual incomes were comparatively low. Our financial structure was weak and subject to periodic and panicky fluctuations.

Praises Federal Reserve.

"Then came the democratic administration of Woodrow Wilson and the world war.

"It has been for 10 years a standing source of amazement to me that the marvels of that administration in the science of economic statecraft and business administration have hardly been referred to.

"The preliminary step was the creation of the federal reserve system."

After outlining the administration of military affairs by President Wilson in the world war, the speaker declared that the mobilization of industry was a greater feat in business statecraft than the military victory.

"What was done in those 18 months laid the foundation and charted the course of economic revolution in America," he said. "Its effect on our postwar business structure is profound. . . . Now it was deliberate democratic policy—frankly announced at the beginning at the war—that labor was to receive at the outset such treatment as would make social upheaval at home impossible.

Hoover's Stand Attacked.

"Almost immediately there followed a forward spurt of domestic business—a home consumption of manufactured goods that no economist or businessman had ever deemed possible in America. We had simply created and tapped a new reservoir of buying power in our domestic market.

"Another far-reaching change was in the attitude of the public toward the security markets. The liberty loans brought the public into these mar-

Position of Assistant Secretary and Treasurer, Which Has Been Held by W. L. Neese, Discontinued

WORSHAM PLANNING APPEAL TO COURTS

State Entomologist Declares That He Has Been Duly Elected to Position Until July 1.

E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist, was removed by the state board of entomology Tuesday, and Manning Youmans, of Dawson, Ga., an inspector in the entomology department, was appointed as his successor, it was announced by Eugene Talmadge, commissioner of agriculture and ex-officio chairman of the board. At the same session of the board the position of assistant secretary and treasurer of the board, now held by W. L. Neese, was discontinued and Mr. Neese's position was declared vacated.

Removal of Mr. Worsham and Mr. Neese came within an hour after Governor L. G. Hardman had appointed T. W. Hollis, of Buena Vista, to succeed J. P. Hogg, also of Buena Vista, as a member of the state board of entomology. The third member of the board, Dr. Lyman Veeder, of Cornelia, was not present but Commissioner Talmadge and Mr. Hollis, the new appointee, constituted a majority of the board and it was on their vote in an executive session that the changes were made.

Mr. Worsham declared, in a brief statement, that he will "take proper legal steps to retain the position of state entomologist."

Worsham To Fight Removal.

"I am duly elected by the board as state entomologist until next July 1," he said. "Any effort to remove me will be met with proper legal procedure."

After this statement was made, Commissioner Talmadge declared that the board had asked for Mr. Worsham's resignation and that when he refused to resign the board voted to remove him and appoint Mr. Youmans to the place. Commissioner Talmadge said the change was effective immediately and that Mr. Youmans had been installed as state entomologist with full authority to operate that department.

Mr. Worsham said he had received no notice of his removal other than a verbal statement from Mr. Youmans to the effect that the board had elected Youmans as Worsham's successor.

Commissioner Talmadge said the board had informed Mr. Worsham at the meeting held Tuesday that his services would no longer be required. Mr. Worsham said that no charges

ROBINSON TO TALK AT KANSAS CITY

Vice Presidential Candidate Will Return to Little Rock Home Today and Prepare for Journey

BY WALTER CHAMBLIN.

Hot Springs, Ark., September 25.—(AP)—The call of the open almost got the best of the democratic vice presidential nominee today and it was with difficulty that Senator Joe T. Robinson put thoughts of another fishing trip out of mind and settled down to the preparation of speeches for his western campaign trip.

Sitting on the spacious porch of Couchwood, the summer home of a friend, the senator could look down on the waters of Lake Catherine a hundred feet or so below him. Pulled up at a wharf was a small motor boat full of fishing tackle and bait and temptation.

The temptation became even stronger after luncheon for the senator at that time had an opportunity to taste the black bass caught yesterday and he pronounced them "delicious."

During the morning he visited Hot Springs for a few hours and returned to the lake which was about 12 miles distant from this city with a friend, W. H. Martin, of this city.

He said that he is working in particular on a speech to be delivered Friday in Kansas City where he will have a large radio hookup, the second nation-wide scope since formally accepting the vice presidential nomination.

He also is preparing several speeches directed to women voters, contending that the record of Governor Smith, the party standard bearer, has been most favorable to women and that it is his opinion that this should receive greater emphasis than so far given it in the campaign.

Mr. Robinson will leave here tomorrow evening for his home in Little Rock to pack for the western trip.

He will leave there at 11:15 p. m. over the Missouri-Pacific for Springfield where he will open his western drive Thursday night.

MAN IS CHARGED WITH SLAYING FIANCEE FOR MONEY

Spokane, Wash., September 25.—(AP)—Archie A. Moock tonight was charged with having decoyed Mrs. Katherine Clark, of Boston, Mass., to Spokane under promise of marriage and with slaying her with a hatchet for her money.

A roll of money for which Mrs. Clark, of Boston, is believed to have been slain here recently was found today buried in the back yard of Moock's home. Bills totaling $1,390, a sum approximating the amount which the woman is thought to have brought from Boston with her, was discovered wrapped in a piece of newspaper. In another hole was found a bundle of love letters signed "James Murphy," which officers declare were written by Moock to lure the woman here on a promise of marriage to "Murphy."

Prosecutor C. W. Greenough announced that he would file a murder charge against Moock.

The woman, who was staying at the Moock home, was killed with a hatchet. Moock told the police he was drunk at the time and that he had just introduced Mrs. Clark to "Murphy" before he lost consciousness. Her body was found in an orchard east of here.

PARTY LEADERS HERE FOR TALK BY ROOSEVELT

DEMOCRATS COMING FROM MANY CITIES

Maddox Will Preside and Governor Hardman Will Speak at Luncheon To Honor Guest Today.

BY PAUL STEVENSON.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, distinguished democratic national leader, will arrive in Atlanta at noon today, ready to deliver the opening campaign speech in behalf of the Smith and Robinson ticket at the auditorium at 8:30 o'clock tonight, when he will be greeted by what promises to be the greatest democratic gathering held in Atlanta in the last quarter of a century.

Bond Almand, chairman of the arrangements committee, and John R. Slater, manager of the state democratic campaign, went to the Warm Springs home of Mr. Roosevelt Tuesday night and will accompany him to Atlanta. He will be taken to the Ansley hotel upon upon his arrival and a few minutes later will go to the Capital City club, where a great democratic luncheon will be served in his honor. G. E. Maddox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, will preside as toastmaster at the Roosevelt luncheon and Governor L. G. Hardman, head of the democratic party in Georgia, will make a brief talk.

All roads for democrats Wednesday night will lead toward the auditorium, where a force of ushers has been organized to handle an enormous crowd. Delegtions from other cities began to arrive in Atlanta Tuesday night and hotel lobbies in the downtown section abounded with the talk of prominent political leaders from all sections of the state.

Leaders On Stage.

On the stage to greet Mr. Roosevelt will sit a group of democratic leaders who represent all factions of the party and who have fought many battles in the stormy factional days that have faced the party in the last quarter of a century. As Mr. Roosevelt arrives on the stage, escorted by Governor Hardman, the reception committee and audience will rise and give him a formal greeting.

All persons on the reception committee who will sit on the stage are asked by the committee to arrive at the auditorium by 8:15 o'clock as the speaking will begin promptly at 8:30, inasmuch as the hour of 8:30 to 9:30 has been set aside over a national radio network for the broadcasting of the Roosevelt speech.

Seated on the stage will be representative democrats and party officials headed by Governor Hardman, official head of the party in Georgia; G. E. Maddox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee; Major John S. Cohen, national democratic committeeman from Georgia; Mrs. Edgar Alexander, national democratic committeewoman from Georgia and manager of the woman's division of the state campaign; John R. Slater, state campaign manager; Bond Almand, chairman of the arrangements committee; state, city and county officials, members of the state democratic executive committee, members of the supreme court and court of appeals and members of the two branches of the Georgia legislature. Several former governors also will occupy seats of honor on the stage, among them being former Senator Hoke Smith, former Governor Thomas W. Hardwick, former Governor Joseph M. Brown, former Governor John M. Slaton and former Governor Hugh M. Dorsey. A special tier of seats has been reserved for a delegation of Confederate veterans who have asked that they be given seats on the stage to hear the speech of the distinguished democrat.

Robert C. Alston, prominent Atlanta lawyer and former president of the American Bar association, will preside at the session. The speech of introduction will be delivered by

After casting its vote congress gave prolonged cheers for Calles, Obregon and Portes Gil.

Congress ordered that a popular presidential election be held on the third Sunday of November, 1929. The regular president then elected will succeed Portes Gil on February 5, 1930.

Portes Gil, for the past few months secretary of the interior in the cabinet of President Calles, has expressed his intention of continuing the policies of his chief, including the at-

CLINTON S. CARNES IS INDICTED AGAIN

Embezzlement of $88,660 Is Charged to Missing Baptist Treasurer in New True Bill Returned.

The checkered career of Clinton S. Carnes, ex-convict, whose rise to the treasurership of the Baptist Home Mission board was followed recently by his disappearance and the disclosure of a considerable shortage in his accounts, was brought once again to the attention of the Fulton grand jury Tuesday, with the result that another indictment charging embezzlement was returned.

Tuesday's indictment of Carnes, the second brought by the grand jury, charges the missing treasurer with embezzling $88,666.86 from the home mission board. Solicitor-General John A. Boykin ordered bond on this true bill fixed at $50,000 in the event Carnes is caught. Bond on the first true bill, which charges embezzlement of $69,000 from the home mission board, has been set at $50,000 also, the total bond he will have to make under the pair of indictments reaching $100,000.

The first indictment was returned September 11. The grand jury will consider further angles of the Carnes case as the work of the auditors proceeds, only those shortages of which the auditors are at present positive having been brought to the grand jury's notice, Solicitor Boykin said.

Witnesses before the grand jury Tuesday were D. R. Page, of Ernst & Ernst, auditors; Dr. W. H. Major, Dr. Arch C. Cree and Thomas Howell Scott.

Carnes disappeared on August 15. He has been identified as the C. S. Carnes who served a term in the Atlanta federal penitentiary for mail fraud. Carnes had been with the home mission board for approximately nine years.

23 Philadelphia Police

:: MEN ARE CHARGED WITH AIDING STILL ::

Jailed on Booze Charge

Philadelphia, September 25.—(AP)—Charles Cohen, a captain of police, and 22 policemen, including seven sergeants and two city detectives were arrested late tonight, charged with extortion, bribery and conspiracy.

The arrests were an outgrowth of the grand jury investigation of bootleggers and their "rackets" which has been under way since August 20. All the prisoners were locked up in cells at city hall. They will be arraigned tomorrow before Judge Edwin O. Lewis, who ordered the grand jury inquiry.

Captain Cohen and the policemen were arrested after they had been questioned for four hours in the office of District Attorney Monaghan. The prosecutor stated that the alleged bribes had been paid by the owner of a 75-gallon still in South Philadelphia.

The still was raided last December by federal authorities. At the time ledger sheets were found containing notations of money alleged to have been paid Captain Cohen and other members of the force for protection. The ledger showed, it was stated, that the captain had received $75 a week and the policemen a total of "$200 or $300 a week."

Moonaghan declared that the income of Cohen from "the still and other sources of protection money" would reach $4,000 "over a short period."

FLORIDA DEATHS TO EXCEED 2,300

Okeechobee Region Emerges From Waters; Pressing Need of Food Is Told.

West Palm Beach, Fla., September 25.—(AP)—Flood waters in the hurricane devastated Lake Okeechobee area were reported gradually receding today despite recent heavy rains, making the task of transporting relief to the district less difficult.

Aside from the pressing necessity of furnishing food for the hungry refugees in the interior and shelter to protect them from the rains, the greatest task faced by the relief workers remained the disposition of human and animal bodies.

Funeral Fires Seen.

Funeral fires were seen tonight in several parts of the Everglades as the workers went about their grim task forced upon them because of the impossibility of taking out any more bodies for burial and the necessity to dispose of them as a sanitary measure.

The death list grew into greater proportions than any had first imagined and the task of recovering bodies virtually swamped the personnel. Red Cross and military officials now admit that the exact toll of lives taken by the hurricane will never be known. They have been unable to keep an accurate record of all bodies found, it was said, and the record keepers themselves have been busy burying the dead.

Dead Will Exceed 2,300.

While Dr. E. D. Clawson, head of medical relief, declared the death toll would be in excess of 2,300, A. L. Schafer, representative here of the national Red Cross held to his estimate of 1,200 known dead. At the same time Howard W. Selby, chairman of the Palm Beach Red Cross chapter, asserted the known dead at 2,200 on the basis of the survey made for him by O. C. Geiger who went into the Everglades to make an investigation for that purpose. Governor John W. Martin after placing the estimate at 1,500, declared today in Jacksonville that it probably will reach 2,200 persons.

All official reports appeared to indicate that the white death list was around 700 persons but no one knows

CANDIDATE TURNS SUPPORT TO SMITH

Farmer-Labor Vice Presidential Nominee, Dr, Alexander, Withdraws To Aid Democrats.

Charlotte, N. C., September 25.—(AP)—Dr. H. Q. Alexander, of near Charlotte, Carolinian nominee as vice presidential candidate of the farmer-labor party, announced today that he had withdrawn his name to give his unqualified support to the democratic party.

Dr. Alexander, long a prominent figure in North Carolina and president of the Farmers' Union for many years and as a member of the state legislature accepted the nomination of the farmer-labor party on September 10, and a short time afterwards expressed his opposition to certain planks of its platform in announcing his intention to vote for Governor Al Smith.

Message to Party.

His resignation as vice presidential nominee, wired to the farmer-labor party's headquarters at Denver, bore the statement:

"Nominate another man and withdraw my name. Platform not satisfactory."

ACTION OF BOARD TO EXPEDITE WORK

School Body Votes To Add City Council Committee to Contact Groups To Speed Projects.

Plans for speeding up award of school contracts and for early completion of 13 projects for which plans already have been drawn were evolved Tuesday afternoon when the Atlanta board of education voted to add the city council school committee to the contact committees of the board and council.

This, it was held, would satisfy Atlanta contractors and assure real competitive bidding on the remaining projects to be constructed from the 1926 bond funds.

Action of the board followed a lengthy discusion in which Commissioner J. Allen Couch, of the fifth ward, championed a proposal to name Mayor I. N. Ragsdale, Chairman of the Bond Commission Frank H. Neely; City Comptroller B. Graham West; City Attorney James L. Mayson, Architect G. Lloyd Preacher and himself as chairman of the school committee of city council, a committee of seven to receive bids. He held this would have the desired effect and speed up award of actual contracts after bids are in.

Delay is Blamed.

Members of the board declared the reason why the board can not get contractors to bid on the structures is because of delays in naming the award after the bids are tabulated, and recommendations as to the lowest and best bidders have been made. Action of the board Tuesday was to correct this defect.

When the meeting was first opened, City Attorney Mayson made a short statement in which he declared that under existing ordinances, the bond commission and council have a right to pass on award of contracts for schools. He pointed out that the ordinance providing for the bond election which provided the money for the schools set this out.

The announced effort to break with the mayor, general council and the bond commission and to award contracts without the sanction of these bodies, failed to develop when Mr. Mayson explained the law.

Harmony Prevails.

A note of harmony prevailed throughout the meeting, most of the discussion being directed to whether the small committee suggested by Mr. Couch or the larger committee would be the most effective. Several members of the board declared they believed the contact bodies with the new additions to be unwieldly. It will have 13 members.

Will L. Hancock, chairman of the school contact committee of the bond commission; John T. Hancock, school commissioner from the eighth ward; James W. Maddox, comissioner from the fifth; William C. Slate, commissioner from the second; Roy D. Warren, commissioner from the tenth; Councilman Howard C. McCutcheon, of the second; Raymond R. Ritchie, assistant superintendent of schools in charge of business affairs; Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Paul West, commissioner from the eleventh, were among those who spoke during the discussion.

The board also voted to award the contract for erection of additions to the Georgia Avenue and Meador-Goldsmith schools to Fleming and company, low bidders, when bids were asked a second time on the projects. Respective total bids for the two improvements were $24,675 and $35,000.

Uncompleted Projects.

Bids will be asked for the following projects as soon as Mr. Preacher completes the plans, which will be about October 1:

Commercial High	100,000
Ragsdale	40,000
Slaton	47,500
Highland	50,000

Kirkwood	42,500
South Boulevard	20,000
Luckie Street	15,000
D. T. Howard	150,000

Members of the new committee will be George W. Powell, Dr. R. M. Eubanks, W. W. Gaines and William C. Slate, from the board of education; Will L. Hancock, William A. Ver-

'UNDERCOVER' MAN REPORTED IN PEN TO GET EVIDENCE

MAN TRANSFERRED TO LEAVENWORTH

Mrs. Mable Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General, Refuses To Discuss Probe.

Secret investigation of affairs at the Atlanta federal penitentiary, which it is said was begun the first of the year, is expected to break out into the open today when federal agents enter the institution under departmental orders to make a thorough probe.

Unconfirmed reports are to the effect that orders were received from Washington for the probe to proceed, after Thomas C. Wilcox and W. M. Boland, department of justice agents had been in Atlanta for a week investigating "how Roy Gardner and other prisoners obtained weapons with which they attempted a wholesale delivery in July."

Mr. Wilcox at his hotel Tuesday night declined to state just how far the inquiry would extend, holding his orders "as confidential instructions from my superiors."

"Undercover Man" Reported.

He also declined to confirm reports that a Peter Hansen, committed from Detroit the first of this year, was an "undercover" man from the department of justice, but The Detroit Free Press has been unable after a careful check of the records, to find any record of the conviction of the man although he was sent to the Atlanta pen for a year and a day on a commitment which charged violation of the prohibition law.

While a prisoner at the institution, Hansen communicated with an Ed. Sweitzer, who lived at 1549 Clark avenue, the same address at which Wilcox admitted he lived for some time. He added, however, that he had not lived there since November of last year.

Hansen was an admitted informant of Wilcox, who came to Atlanta to interview him the latter part of March of this year, and Hansen was transferred April 10 to Leavenworth. Authorities at Leavenworth declined to say whether Hansen is still a prisoner, citing a rule which forbids publication.

Mrs. Willebrandt Silent.

Mrs. Mable Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general in charge of prisons, in response to wired inquiry, declined to comment on the Atlanta federal prison situation, holding the matter not now "for newspaper discussion."

Warden John W. Snook, of the pris-

Farmers of Mid-West Swing To Smith for His Position On Relief for Agriculture

Section Which Elected Wilson Rallies Around Democrats in Manner of Supporters of Jackson.

BY THOMAS L. STOKES,
United News Staff Correspondent.

Aboard Governor Smith's Special Train En Route to Minneapolis, September 25.—Governor Alfred E. Smith has closed his brown derby campaign in that broad territory whose votes swept the last democratic president, Woodrow Wilson, the professor and scholar, into the white house for a second time in 1916.

The democratic presidential candidate of 1928 was traveling tonight through Montana. All day Wednesday the special train will move across North Dakota. He will resume his campaign again, this time in the north central west, with a speech at St. Paul Thursday night, following a reception in Minneapolis.

He has discarded his brown derby, which made such a decided hit in the western agricultural country, for a becoming grey fedora, which his multi-millionaire friend, William F. Kenny, loaned him when he gave away his brown derby to a woman at Billings, Montana.

The fedora gives the New Yorker a western appearance, the air of a prosperous inhabitant of this country of mountains and broad plains. But he will take out another brown derby again for his sojourn in Minneapolis, St. Paul and Milwaukee, where he speaks Saturday night.

Jacksonian Appeal.

As he left the country which gave Wilson victory, Governor Smith pondered upon his venture into the west, a country strange to him for the most part, but a country whose people responded eagerly to the wave of the brown derby.

He gave them a new sort of political campaign, he spoke to them about the issues which lie close to their hearts, farm relief and water power. He met another issue which has raised its head here, the religious issue. At all times, he has challenged his republican opponent, Herbert Hoover.

Woodrow Wilson based his appeal on the war-time slogan, "He kept us out of war." That one issue seemed to strike a responsive chord in this peaceful farm country. Smith has no one dominant issue. He made an appeal here to a political element similar to that which rallied about Andrew Jackson 100 years ago—discontented farmers and the laboring class as well as the varied city groups which work for a salary but on issues which had not risen in that day.

Smith's campaign program is somewhat similar to that of the late Senator LaFollette in 1924. He has made an open bid for that support. He received optimistic reports in the northwest that much of this vote would come to him.

Farmers Oppose Hoover.

The prize is 71 electoral votes in the group of states which Smith will have covered on his campaign—Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, Kansas, Wyoming, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Wisconsin. The electoral vote of his own state is more than half of this, being 45, but his strategists count much upon carrying some of these states.

He found much opposition among farmers to Hoover, which he sought to capitalize. He also found some defection in his own ranks in Oklahoma, and a lack of as intense organizing activity as had been expected at other places. By personal conferences he sought to bolster up his forces. The campaign now is in their hands. Smith will not return to this country before the election.

All this territory is a battle ground. The situation appears most favorable for Smith in the northwest. Oklahoma and Colorado, it seems, will be very closely fought. Democrats also will make a bid in two normally republican states, Kansas and Wyoming, but with the odds against them apparently at this stage.

The democratic candidate was given a boisterous welcome today in Butte, the home town of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, who came along on the campaign train to act as master of ceremonies. Wheeler will ride as far as St. Paul. Senator Thomas J. Walsh, his colleague, was expected to go to St. Paul but is not making the trip.

The governor and his entire party rode through the streets of Butte, the center of a mining region, to receive a cordial western welcome from crowds along the street. The train stopped there for an hour. It arrived in Butte at 2 p. m., having left Helena at 11 a. m.

The democratic candidate, Mrs. Smith; their daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner; William F. Kenny and Mrs. Caroline O'Day stayed at a hotel in Helena Monday night but the rest of the party stayed on the train because of limited hotel facilities. Smith arose early this morning and took a brisk walk through Helena. He had breakfast on his private car. A small crowd saw him off.

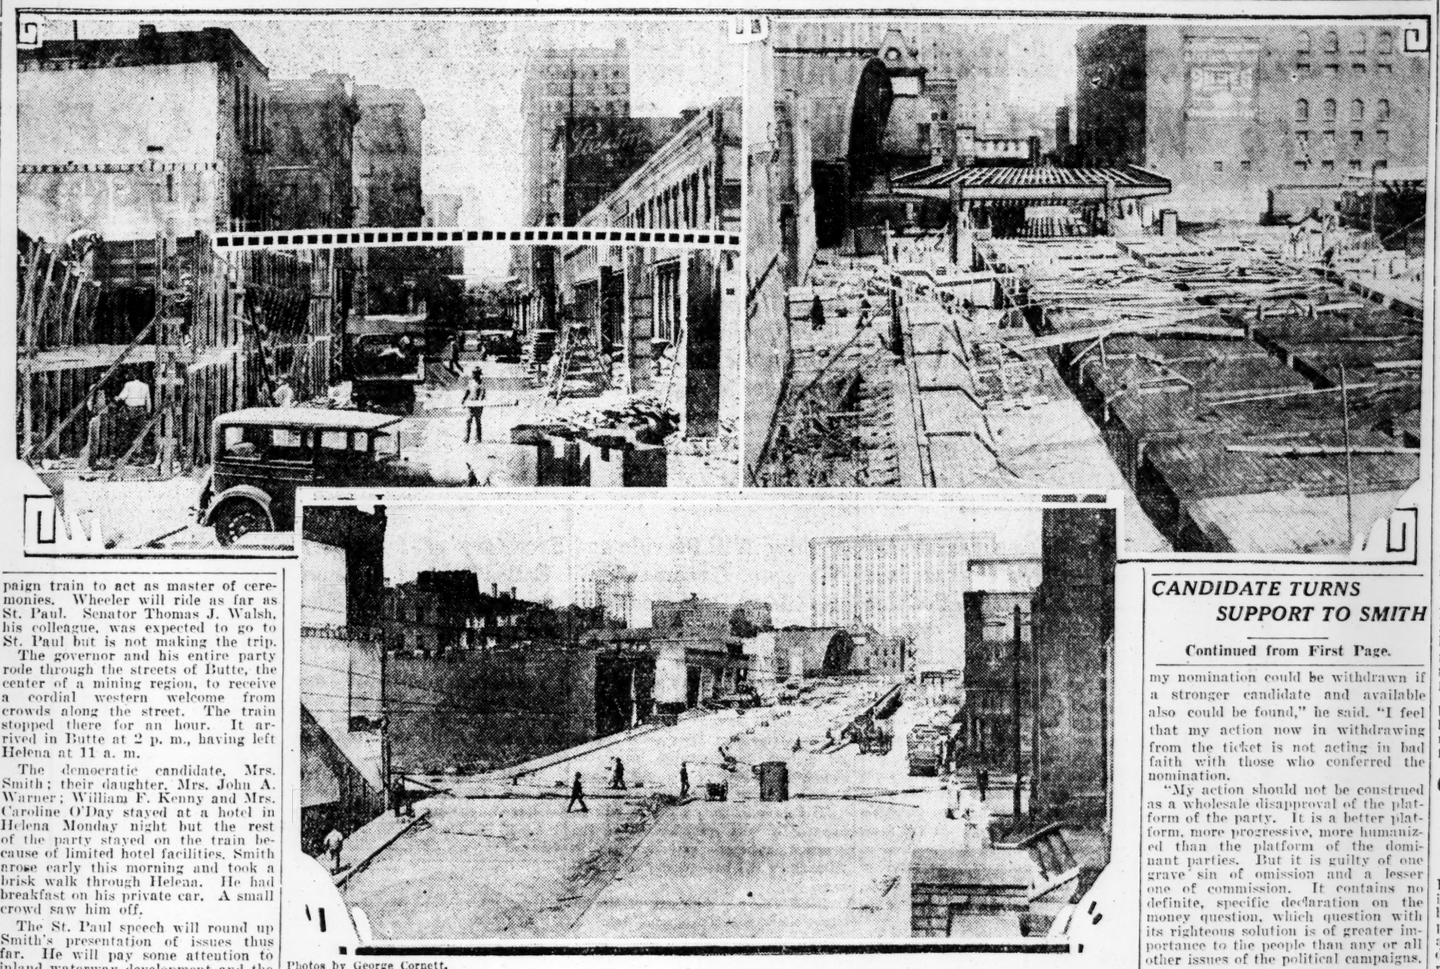

The St. Paul speech will round up Smith's presentation of issues thus far. He will pay some attention to inland waterway development and the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway.

New Central Avenue Viaduct Is Expected To Be Opened To Traffic Before Beginning of New Year, Construction Officials Announce

With a great portion of the concrete slab already poured, contractors working on the new Central avenue viaduct hope to have the structure completed and opened for traffic shortly after December 1. The upper left is a view of Alabama street, looking eastward and showing where the new Central avenue viaduct will cross that intersection. The inserted line reveals the height of the new structure, this being the only section of the southern approach not filled with concrete. The upper left shows a close view of the south Central avenue approach, as it nears Alabama street, the base already set and awaiting only the concrete top. The lower view is of the structure from its base at Central avenue and East Hunter street.

The new Central avenue viaduct probably will be opened for traffic immediately after December 1, officials of the McDougald Contracting company, erecting the structure, announced Tuesday.

The pouring of concrete slabs approaching the railroad tracks from the south already is about three-quarters completed, and unless inclement weather causes delays, the entire approach will be completed within three weeks, leaving only the northern approach and the clearing away of debris remaining before the traffic way may be opened.

The southern approach to the tracks, running from East Hunter street is the only all-concrete section in the structure. Steel and other materials will be used to reinforce the northern approach.

Though the Central avenue span will be completed far in advance of the Pryor street section and other parts of the viaduct system, engineers believe that the early opening of Central avenue will do much to cure the downtown traffic ills, inasmuch as it will provide a through traffic way from the north side to streets leading to the southwest sections of the city.

Traffic can be routed from the north side and downtown sections to the northern approach of the viaduct and cut off much of the travel through Whitehall, Broad, Forsyth streets and the Spring street viaduct.

Completion of the first section of slab work has brought joy to many Central avenue merchants whose business has been under a great handicap for more than a year.

"Now that we are assured of an early opening of the viaduct Central avenue business men are preparing to regain lost trade," John Bell, proprietor of Bell garage, said Tuesday. "We have been suffering a long time but I hope that these extensive improvements will more than make up for the drawback we have been forced to withstand."

AGENTS INVESTIGATE FEDERAL PENITENTIARY

son, declined to comment on the matter, declaring he had not been advised of a sweeping investigation. He admitted that Wilcox, who is head of the Detroit office of the department of justice, is in Atlanta and has been assisting in an attempt to ascertain where Gardner and his colleagues obtained weapons with which they attempted to force their way out of the prison.

Hansen was registered at the Atlanta institution as prisoner No. 26,206, and soon after he was interviewed by Wilcox was transferred, it is said, on order of the attorney general.

"It is not unusual to transfer a prisoner after he has been interviewed," Wilcox said. "We frequently do that."

Wilcox and Boland have been in Atlanta for more than a week, and The Constitution has been checking up on the progress of the probe continuously. When the reports of a "planted agent" were first rumored, this paper began an exhaustive effort to ascertain their truth.

Newspaper men in Detroit also heard the rumors and tried to get information from Atlanta.

No Record Found.

A futile search was made to find the records of the conviction of Peter Hansen in Detroit courts. There was not a sign of them, according to The Free Press.

Excerpts from the story which The Free Press is carrying this morning follow:

"The committment was signed by Elmer W. Voorhees, clerk of court, and named Judge Arthur W. Tuttle as trial judge.

"Search of files in Mr. Voorhees' office today failed to reveal any such committment on the books. A further check at the federal building at Bay City, the only other place in which Judge Tuttle sits, disclosed no such committment on record there.

"Judge Tuttle, when questioned about the matter today, said he did not remember the case. Judge Tuttle was leaving for his farm, he said, and would return the latter part of the week.

"Shortly after 'Peter Hansen' was booked at Atlanta, he is said to have communicated with 'Ed Sweitzler,' whose address was given at 1549 Clark avenue, Detroit. This address happens to be the home of Wilcox."

ACTION OF BOARD TO EXPEDITE WORK

noy, J. P. Wall and Mrs. R. K. Rambo, from the pond commission; J. Allen Couch, Robert E. Gann, Wiley L. Moore, Robert Cobb and Ben T. Huiet, of the school committee. The school committee was added Tuesday by vote of the board.

A total of $1,674,436.58 already has been spent of the $3,000,000 allocation for new buildings contained in the bond issue.

The board also voted to reconstruct the passageway connecting the main building with the annex at Commercial High school. It is estimated that the cost of the project will be about $260. The connection was condemned as unsafe several weeks ago.

Additional funds to complete alterations at Moreland Avenue school also were voted. A fire at the school destroyed certain sections of the building and insurance coverage was inadequate to make the repairs needed.

Buildings Completed.

The school buildings already completed or practically completed from bond funds are:

Hoke Smith Junior High, $67,271.32 for land and $162,856.17 thus far on the building with an unspent balance of $37,951.47.

Ormewood—$3,630.94 for land and $100,351.45 on the building thus far, with an unspent balance of $13,054.55.

Capitol View—$11,062.93 for land and $127,784 on the building, now almost complete, with $19,661.78 unexpended.

Ashby Street—$43,820.88 on the building, which replaces one destroyed by fire, with $1,252.51 left to complete the structure.

Frank L. Stanton—$94,392.51 for the building, now being completed, with $21,815.95 still unspent.

Davis Street—$23,656.03 for the building, now practically complete, with $1,868.41 unexpended.

In Course of Erection.

Ten school building projects are in process of construction, but none of them have yet reached the half-way mark. These include:

Morningside—$25,000 spent for land and $12,783.44 spent on the building, with a balance available of $27,116.56.

Bass Junior High addition—$1,928 spent for land and $103,177.15 for that portion of the building thus far completed, with $107,699.15 still unexpended.

Haygood-State—$42,050 for land and $37,792.77 on the building thus far, with a balance of $96,707.23 unexpended.

Whitefoord—$14,324.26 on the building at this stage of completion, with an unexpended balance of $75,775.74.

Grant Park—$38,851.22 thus far spent on the building, with a balance unexpended of $96,147.78.

Wesley Avenue.

Wesley Avenue—$1,342.84 spent on the building thus far, and $4,957.16 remaining unspent.

Tenth Street—$5,454.03 spent thus far on the building, with an unexpended balance of $19,545.97.

Joe Brown Junior High—$109,705.77 spent on the building thus far, with $131,050.03 remaining to complete the structure.

RASKOB CREDITS PROSPERITY TO WILSON

kets. The federal reserve provided the necessary credits. Natural and inevitable development of this idea has turned the ownership of our great industries over to the public.

"Now, what of the future? We knew these candidates, we know what each party proposes. Especially on economic questions Mr. Hoover's plans are pretty clear, referring to his record as secretary of commerce, he said in part:

G. O. P. Plan Uncounted.

"'One of our first decisions was vigorously to build up our foreign trade. . . . We set out upon a definitely organized campaign to build the export of the products of American labor. . . . We organized the department of commerce for the promotion of American trade abroad on a greater scale than had ever been achieved or ever been attempted by any government anywhere in the world.'"

Mr. Raskob branded what he called Mr. Hoover's plan for America's economic future as unsound at heart, declaring that in relatively few instances are American products offered in foreign markets on a sound basis of competition, due mainly to the protective tariff which raises labor costs on American products.

"I think we should look for the next forward surge of domestic prosperity right here at home," Mr. Raskob said, "but that it will never come on Mr. Hoover's policy toward agriculture and export trade. To my mind it is time to organize our own prosperity at home. I refer to agriculture. With every economic index pointing to a starved and accumulated demand for the barest necessities it seems to me no part of wisdom to refuse to restore this vast potential buying power. . . . .

No Tariff Difference.

"The elements of the problem of increasing rural buying powers are relatively simple. For the immediate present we must give the farmer the benefit of farm tariffs by lifting out of the domestic market the surplus of his principal crops over domestic consumption. There are several ways of doing this. Without more detailed study from the purely business angle, I am not prepared to say which is the best way. But I have gone far enough as a business man to be convinced that the problem can be solved.

"As to the particular provisions of the McNary-Haugen bill and the equalization fee, we think they warrant further study in view of our opinion that there may be a more simple and direct means of accomplishing the same purposes.

Mr. Raskob declared that on the question of the tariff there is absolutely no difference between the parties and warned workers not to permit themselves to be misled by statements that a democratic administration would tamper with the tariff and unemployment result.

In conclusion he said that the United States as a political government must be run by a man skilled in the science of politics in the larger sense, not by a business dictator. Mr. Raskob described Governor Smith as a man skilled in political administration and declared that his republican opponent was a dictator who would be his own cabinet and "turn Washington into an engineering laboratory."

my nomination could be withdrawn if a stronger candidate and available also could be found," he said. "I feel that my action now in withdrawing from the ticket is not acting in bad faith with those who conferred the nomination.

"My action should not be construed as a wholesale disapproval of the platform of the party. It is a better platform, more prozressive, more humanized than the platform of the dominant parties. But it is guilty of one grave sin of omission and a lesser one of commission. It contains no definite, specific declaration on the money question, which question with its righteous solution is of greater importance to the people than any or all other issues of the political campaigns.

Discredits Catholics.

"The sin of commission is a plank which seeks to discredit the Catholic church, and of course, is a thrust at Governor Smith. I do not approve this plank. I was not a Smith supporter before the convention but I am now. If this was a campaign address for Smith a hundred or more facts and logical conclusions could be given to back up my position that Smith is by long odds the better candidate than Hoover.

"Another reason for my withdrawal also is on account of my health. I am not physically able to make a campaign, I don't intend to encumber the ticket under this condition."

FUND FOR POLICE BAND NEAR GOAL OF $6,000

Campaign To Send Musicians to Cuba Only $1,000 Short.

Following renewed efforts on the part of the workers Tuesday and today it is expected that the $6,000 fund, being raised to send the Atlanta police band to the Spanish-American War Veterans' reunion in Havana, will be within a few hundred dollars of completion when the ways and means committee meets at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the city hall.

Tuesday morning saw the fund at $5,000, $1,000 short of the figure which has been deemed absolutely essential for expenses. According to C. F. Dieter, vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and head of the drive for his organization, that deficit should be cut by late today to not more than $500 or even less.

The band has been invited to the gathering by the Cuban government and many civic leaders have indicated their approval of the idea by liberal contributions. The convention is being planned as one of the biggest ever to be held by the "boys of '98" and it has been pointed out that the presence of Atlanta's own police band can not fail to be of great value to the city from an advertising standpoint.

In addition, the band is expected to be of aid in the efforts of the Atlanta veterans to bring the proposed $2,000,000 veterans hospital to Atlanta. To this end the Atlanta delegation, aided by other Georgia delegations, is planning an intensive campaign at the convention.

The drive for the expense fund is being conducted by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and a ways and means committee made up of city officials, policemen and civic leaders.

Coolidge Believes Mediation Board Can Prevent Strike

Washington, September 25.—(AP)—President Coolidge believes that there is still a fair chance that the railroad board of mediation may adjust the dispute in western railroads arising from a request for increased wages by conductors and trainmen on those carriers.

The chief executive understands that the board of mediation is well in touch with the situation and hopeful of a settlement. Should it fail to effect a settlement, Mr. Coolidge will proceed with the terms of the law and appoint an emergency board to investigate and report within 30 days of its appointment on the dispute.

EUGENE C. CALLAWAY BANKRUPTCY SOUGHT

Six Suits Involve $134,252.77; Sibley Names Receivers.

Six suits in involuntary bankruptcy involving the personal effects and holdings of Eugene C. Callaway, prominent Atlanta business man, were filed Tuesday in the federal district court. The amount involved a total of $134,252.77.

Receivers were named by Judge Samuel H. Sibley.

Another bankruptcy suit also was filed against Seely Company, Inc., by H. C. Carson, alleging inability to pay $1,415.40. Will Gunn was named receiver in this case.

Petitions filed against Callaway and the firm which which he was connected follow:

I. C. Stockton, Barclay & Brandon and W. H. Robinson, against Callaway personally. William A. Fuller was named receiver. Amounts listed, respectively, were $900, $265.10 and $50.

Marbut-Williams Lumber company against the Finance, Inc., of which Mr. Callaway is president, $17,500. C. Mortimer Mason was named receiver.

Metropolitan Trust company against the Southeastern Investment company, alleging a debt of $66,979.33. Mr. Callaway is president of the Metropolitan company. William P. Kennedy was named receiver.

The Metropolitan company also filed suit against Woodland Hills for $39,306. No receiver was listed in this case, and service had not been completed Tuesday afternoon. The Metropolitan company also filed a claim against Mayfair, Inc., of which Mr. Callaway is president, for $3,966.48. Jos. A. Jordan is the receiver.

The Fulton County Home Builders filed a suit against the Metropolitan company for $5,285.75, and A. W. Clapp was selected as the receiver.

CAT RUNS AMOK

Ferocious Feline Finally Felled After Almost Wrecking Apartment.

A cat, that may have been inspired by the jungle senses of "Simba" but more likely by some form of distemper, held sway over the apartment of Mr. and Mrs. Rodger F. Allen, at 737 Barnett street, for a brief period it was learned Tuesday. The net result was a nearly wrecked apartment, three hospital patients, including the bulldog and a dead cat.

According to the story told by Mrs. Allen, a stray cat entered the apartment early Monday night, leaped about the floor and upon wall fixtures as high as the ceiling, tearing down mirrors and overturning lamps. Mrs. Allen was bitten three times about the hands and arms, and her husband seven or eight times, when they endeavored to seize the ferocious feline and eject it from the apartment. Both are taking Pasteur treatment as a precautionary measure.

FEW ARE DELINQUENT IN ROTARY FOUNDATION

Only 17 of 296 Students Slow in Repaying Expense Funds.

Only 17 of the 296 students aided by the local Rotary Educational Foundation fund have been delinquent in repaying the $67,675 advanced them for the purpose of obtaining an education in schools and colleges throughout the country, according to the seventh annual report of the foundation presented Tuesday to the Atlanta Rotary club at its regular luncheon meeting in the Capital City club.

Of the total number of students aided thus far, 120 have repaid their obligations in full, 52 are now making installment payments according to schedule and the remainder are either in arrears or have not yet been asked to reimburse the foundation under the rules, it was announced.

The report was read to the meeting by W. R. C. Smith, Willis A. Sutton and Tom C. Law. While most of the beneficiaries of the fund are local boys, who attend colleges in Atlanta, no restriction has been placed on the institutions they can enter, and several have matriculated at eastern and western colleges.

Established in 1922 with $770, the foundation now maintains a rotating principal of $34,484, it was pointed out.

The greater part of the money has been lent to students in their junior and seniors years, although numerous promising high school students have been assisted to matriculate as college freshmen.

"This movement has been the means of bringing to light a number of unusually purposeful and intelligent boys who want and deserve an education, but because of conditions at home would have been unable to obtain it without outside assistance," the report said.

Other similar educational foundations have been sponsored by Rotarians here, affording opportunity for girls and boys from the poorer classes to educate themselves.

SPELLING BEE SLATED FOR THIS AFTERNOON

Winners in County Contest Will Meet City Victors Friday Afternoon.

An elimination spelling contest to determine a contestant for the statewide spelling bee which will take place Monday, October 1, at the Southeastern fair will be held for students in the Fulton county schools at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the county courthouse, it was announced Tuesday by Jere A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton county schools.

Two contestants will be chosen from the county schools today, and those two will compete against four city contestants in order to determine the county's entry in the statewide spelling bee next Monday. The final elimination contest will be held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the courthouse.

In a recent city contest Clarence Huey, of O'Keefe; Hyman King, of Commercial High; W. L. Bradley, of Boys' High, and Miss Juliette Edwards, of Girls' High, were winners in a contest conducted in the Atlanta schools.

A cash prize of $100 and the title of Georgia's champion speller awaits the winner of the state contest next Monday, and ten other cash prizes will be given to the next best spellers.

Eighteen entries have been received through Tuesday afternoon, and of that number twelve were girls and six boys. Girls have outnumbered their opponents in the contest for the past three years.

In practically every contest held thus far the old-fashioned blue-black speller was called into service to determine a county winner, and it is certain to be used in the statewide contest.

Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, is general chairman of the contest. M. L. Duggan, state superintendent of education, and W. A. Sutton, superintendent of Atlanta schools, will give out the words, while Miss Mary Postell, of the Atlanta school system, and Jere A. Wells, superintendent of Fulton schools, will serve as referees.

F. W. WHITE HERE TO FACE CHARGE OF EMBEZZLEMENT

Voluntarily returning from Mexico, Frank W. White, 25, former assistant manager of the Tenth Street theater, has given himself up to the sheriff following his decision to face prosecution under an indictment charging him with embezzlement of $1,200, it was announced Tuesday at Fulton tower.

White disappeared early in September and nothing was heard from him until he appeared at police station and surrendered to Detectives H. W. Armstrong, stating that he had looked for a deputy sheriff without success, it was said. White was lodged in Fulton tower pending making $2,000 bond.

White is charged with having embezzled $1,200 during the four months he was employed by the Lucas-Jenkins Enterprises, operators of the Tenth Street theater. He disappeared early this month, an audit followed, revealed the shortage, and he was indicted on September 11.

HONEYWELL WINS BALLOON RACE CHECK REVEALS

St. Louis, September 25.—(AP)—Captain Harry E. Honeywell, of St. Louis, today was notified he had won the civilian balloon race which started from Altoona, Pa., September 3. He landed at Hampton, N. H. His official distance, as scaled by the United States geological survey, was 423.1 miles.

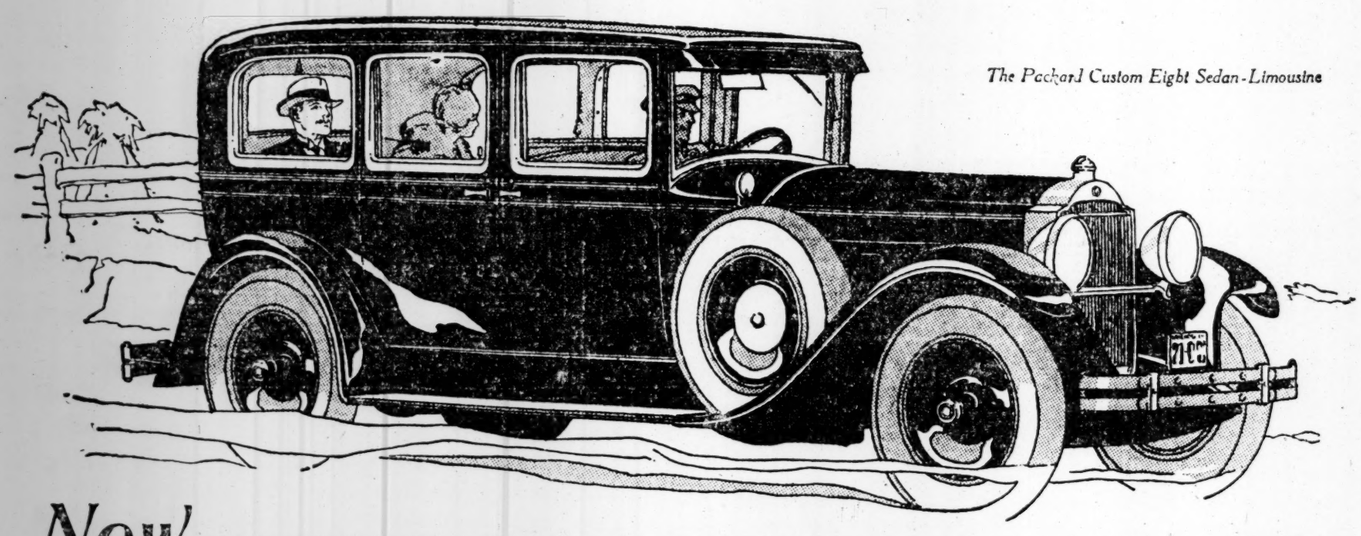

It was believed at first that Edward J. Hill, of Detroit, who landed at Laconia, N. H., had covered the greatest distance.

L. J. STEELE FILES EXPENSE ACCOUNT TOTALING $869.66

One of the first candidates in the September 12 primary to file an itemized account of campaign expenditures with the clerk of superior court was Leslie J. Steele, successful in the race for congress from this district. Mr. Steele's expenses, as filed with the clerk of court, totaled $869.66, divided as follows: Entrance fee, $265; announcements, $42; advertising, $401.06; printing, $82.25; gasoline and oil, $54.35, and stenographer, $25.

All candidates, both successful and unsuccessful, are required to file their campaign expense statements by November 12.

A NEW LUXURY in MOTORING

The Packard Custom Eight Sedan-Limousine

Now

Provided by the Packard Custom Eight

EVEN those long familiar with the finest Packards of the past, are unprepared for the greater riding and driving comfort, the sheer luxury of the new Packard Custom Eight.

The characteristic beauty and distinction of the new Custom Eight were to be expected. Even Packard can but enhance the grace of established Packard lines—and it is no part of the Packard policy needlessly to depreciate the cars in the hands of present owners.

And, of course, no finer powerplant than the simple, rugged, easily accessible Packard Straight Eight motor—with its nine-bearing crankshaft—could be anticipated.

But beyond these expected qualities—and surpassing any recent achievement of the entire industry—Packard now offers a new and unique Shock Absorbing System. This combination of Packard and European inventions provides a riding comfort and safety which you must actually experience to appreciate fully.

Literally and without qualification the new Packard Shock Absorbing System makes the Packard the easiest riding car in the world —and also the safest. Won't you drive it, as our guest, and see for yourself?

We want you also to note the wide range of beautiful colors available in the new Custom Eight line—each with harmonizing upholstery whose deep cushions of new design add the last touch of luxury to these new creations.

Let us fairly appraise your present car. Its value should more than cover the down payment on the Packard Custom Eight. You may purchase from income on convenient payments if you prefer. Phone and we will send a car to your door.

It isn't ego, it's pride!..... that makes us swell-up occasionally

So many incidents occur in our contact with customers to prove that friendship is the most important factor in business that we naturally are proud.

There's a lot of pleasure in having several thousand people come in each season; many of them each month, some of them each week, to trade with us because they believe in our goods, and believe in us.

It isn't ego, it's pride . . . that makes us swell-up when some loyal customer brings a friend to the store and, virtually placing him in our care, says—"you can pin your faith to these folks, Bill, they will always treat you right."

What a splendid compliment it is to have a fellow go out of his way to bring some other chap to the store, and make a little speech like that!

It is things of this sort that keep us constantly on tip-toe trying to find ways and means for this store, to live up to its reputation that has been 60 years in the making.

Just recently we inaugurated a new price range for our suits ($35 to $50) because we are convinced that thirty-five dollars is as little as one can buy a suit for that will give satisfaction, and fifty dollars is as much as anybody need pay.

New-comers to Atlanta are especially invited to drop in and shake hands.

BOBBY JONES ENLISTS TO HELP SMITH DRIVE

World's Champion Golfer Will Head Special Committee of Athletes.

The "golf vote" of the nation now probably will be thrown to Governor Al Smith, democratic nominee for president, with the announcement made Tuesday that Bobby Jones, champion golfer of the world, has enlisted actively in the state democratic campaign in Georgia as an avowed supporter of the Smith and Robinson ticket.

"My services are emphatically at the disposal of the democratic party," Bobby said Tuesday. "It is the party of my father's and it is the party of my own common sense. If I can do anyhing that will aid the Smith and Robinson ticket it's done and that's all there is to it."

Chairman John R. Slater, of the state democratic campaign, who announced the acquisition of Bobby's services, said the golfer would be named as the chairman of a committee of athletes who will work for the national ticket.

Mr. Slater returned Tuesday from Griffin, where he attended a rally of democrats of the sixth district and declared that the sixth district will roll up a greater vote for Smith than the normal democratic majorities usually returned.

"Not in many years," he said, "have the democrats of the sixth district been so militant and determined as they are today. The meeting at Griffin was a real inspiration. Every county in the district was represented by party workers, and a careful canvass of sentiment left no doubt as to the effective activity of party leaders.

"The success of the organization meeting was due in no small part to the helpful cooperation of Congressman Rutherford, who has from the first been actively at work in behalf of the national ticket."

Continuing, Mr. Slater said:

"Rapid progress is being made in the detailed county-by-county organization in the ninth congressional district, following the meeting at Gainesville last Friday, at which county chairmen for each of the 19 counties in the district were selected. This conference at Gainesville, which was called by District Chairman Edgar B. Dunlap, was attended by Congressman Thomas M. Bell, of the ninth district, who was consulted in the perfection of the county organizations. The meeting was addressed by Judge W. C. Adamson, of Carrollton, former congressman from the fourth congressional district.

"Advices coming to headquarters indicate that the chairman in each of the 19 counties is now engaged in selecting leaders in each of the militia districts, with a view not alone combatting the activities of the republican party, but also to get out the full democratic vote on election day."

The county chairman for Hall county, E. R. Barrett, has advised headquarters of a meeting that he has called to be held in Gainesville next Saturday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, which will be addressed by a prominent local speaker and which will extend its organization to every militia district.

The county chairmen for the ninth district as selected at Gainesville follow:

Obe Pruitt, Commerce, Banks; C. M. Ferguson, Winder, Barrow; Paul Jones, Canton, Cherokee; Dr. Homer Palmour, Dawsonville, Dawson; Thomas H. Crawford, Blue Ridge, Fannin; E. A. Bennett, Cumming, Forsyth; James L. Parks, Ellijay, Gilmer; M. J. Erwin, Lawrenceville, Gwinette; L. Y. Irwin, Cornelia, Habersham; E. R. Barrett, Gainesville, Hall; S. J. Smith, Jr., Commerce, Jackson; Frank Christian, Dahlonega; C. M. DeVore, Alpharetta, Milton; G. N. Bell Jasper, Pickens; Luther Rickman, Clayton, Rabun; L. S. Crawford, Toccoa, Stephens; J. G. Perkins, Hiawassee, Towns; Pat Haralson, Blairsville, Union; M. J. Williams, Helen, White.

NAVY STATIONS UNHURT

Florida Storm Does No Damage to Recruiting Offices.

The recent Florida hurricane did no damage to naval recruiting stations in the storm area, it was reported here Tuesday by Lieutenant Stanley A. Jones, local naval recruiting officer, on his return from an inspection tour of stations of the Atlanta district, made up of Georgia and Florida.

LEWIS DEXTER, 13, RISES TO GRADE OF EAGLE SCOUT

Lewis Dexter, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Dexter, 678 Moreland avenue, N. E., and a member of Boy Scout troop No. 19, has been awarded the Eagle Scout honor, the highest obtainable in scout work, it was announced Tuesday by W. A. Dobson, executive of the Atlanta council.

In attaining the rank of Eagle Scout young Dexter distinguished himself by passing the 21 tests for merit badges, designating the Eagle Scout, in a period of seven months. In addition to this, he passed examinations for seven more merit badges before the court of honor and four before the examiner.

Although less than two years above the minimum age required of a Boy Scout, Dexter is one of the outstanding members of his troop. He has been leader of the Panther Patrol for a year and a half and piloted his patrol to victory in a recent troop contest.

The lad also is making a record for himself at school. He is a student of the ninth grade at William A. Bass Junior High school and is in the honor roll group.

COMMUNITY CHEST DIRECTOR SPEAKS AT CIVITAN LUNCH

Operation of the Atlanta Community Chest and its relation to the work of social service and reconstruction was related to members of the Civitan club at their weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday by Frank Miller, executive director of the organization.

"The chest is operated for and by the agencies which perform the community's work of social service, and with their consent," said Mr. Miller. "Long ago these agencies adopted the federal system of centralized administration of funds as the most efficient and economical. More than 350 communities of the United States have adopted the chest system of budgeting its social service needs, and the idea is spreading to foreign lands.

"We can see for the Community Chest plan an analogy in the great power developments of north Georgia—the great dam at Tallulah Falls, for a definite illustration. The water pent in a huge lake behind the dam is the accumulated prosperity and support of the public; the sluice through which its directed stream flows is the Community Chest; the power houses, whose turbines are motivated by this stream are the agencies, radiating service to humanity in every direction.

ATLANTANS HONORED

Three To Get Recognition During Achievement Week.

Members of Eta Omega, local chapter of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, who will be given recognition by the national Greek letter society during its achievement week in November, were named Tuesday.

J. B. Blayton, professor of accounting at Morehouse college and auditor of the Standard Life division of the National Benefit Insurance company, has received his C. P. A. from the state of Georgia. S. M. Narbit, professor of biology at Morehouse, a leave of absence, received an M. S. degree and was elected a member of the honorary scientific society, Sigma Xi, at Brown university. J. C. Thomas, field secretary of the National Urban league and president of the Tuskegee Alumni association, was a delegate to the International Social Workers' conference held in Europe this summer.

GEORGIA ENROLLMENT INCREASE REPORTED

Athens, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Registration of students at the University of Georgia Tuesday had reached 1,548, an increased of 117 over last year's enrollment.

Registrar T. W. Reed stated that the increase of students is to be found in the freshman class, mostly male students. About 300 women students are enrolled, showing practically no increase over last year. However, the registration for the home economics course in the State College of Agriculture, whose enrollment is included in the university totals, shows an increase over last year.

The registration for law students shows a slight decrease over last year. This is due, Mr. Reed said, to the raising of the entrance requirements for law school students. Beginning with the fall term students enrolling in the law school must have had two years' college work. The decrease, however, is slight and not as great as the university had expected, Mr. Reed stated. He declared the law school is beginning the 1928 session splendidly.

STATE VETENARIANS MEET IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., September 25.—(AP) The annual meeting of the Georgia State Veterinary association convened here this morning with Dr. J. L. Ruble, of Quitman, presiding.

Dr. Ruble outlined some needed changes in the present system of the organization and laid particular stress on the need of professional efficiency in rendering service to the public. The afternoon session was devoted principally to a discussion of hog cholera and other hog diseases.

Tomorrow the visitors will make a boat trip to Beaufort. The business session will be held aboard. The election of officers will be held and selection of the next meeting place made at this final session.

STORM RELIEF FUND NOW OVER $30,000

Half of City's Quota for Hurricane-Stricken Florida Section Raised.

Atlanta Red Cross headquarters throbbed with activity Tuesday as volunteer workers, bending every effort toward the relief of Florida storm sufferers, tabulated cash subscriptions and sorted and packed clothing for shipment to the affected areas.

The appeal had brought in over $31,000 in cash Tuesday night, or more than half of the $60,000 quota assessed by national Red Cross headquarters in its drive for a $5,000,000 emergency relief fund.

Great quantities of clothing are being collected by the local chapter's motor corps, while numerous churches, clubs and individuals are delivering their contributions.

School Girls Aid.

A score of comely students at Washington seminary, fashionable young women's finishing school, descended on Red Cross headquarters Tuesday afternoon, laden with clothing contributions from pupils and faculty.

Numerous volunteer workers are assisting the local staff with assorting the clothing, taking calls from various localities of the city and otherwise attending to the multitude of details bearing on the relief work.

Only serviceable clothing suitable for tropical climate is being sent to Florida and the West Indies, although large quantities of heavier attire has been received.

Rummage Sale Planned.

A general rummage sale to dispose of unsuitable clothing is being planned. Large quantities of serviceable attire will be disposed of in this way, with the cash proceeds to be applied to the relief fund. The time and place of the sale will be announced later.

At a late hour Tuesday night 50 packing boxes full of assorted clothing was ready for shipment to relief depots in the stricken areas, while additional shipments will be made as soon as they can be prepared.

One of the largest cash contributions received Tuesday was a check for $910.55 presented by Rabbi David Marks, which represented a collection offered by the Hebrew Benevolent congregation on the occasion of Yom Kippur services Sunday.

Benefit Show Carded.

To further swell the total for relief work, a spectacular vaudeville benefit will be staged Friday at midnight at Loew's Capitol theater, when professional entertainers and allied musicians and stage unions will donate their services, it was announced by Thomas H. James, manager of the theater.

The entire vaudeville talent in Atlanta this week will be represented at the benefit, with fully 25 acts billed for short skits. The theater seats 2,500 persons, and it is predicted that every seat will be filled and standing room space provided for 500 more.

Admission will be $1 for a bill which would otherwise be unobtainable for triple that amount, Mr. James said. Firemen and city police have been authorized by their respective chiefs to sell tickets for the performance.

The show is being made possible by the cooperation of the Federation of Musicians, the International Alliance of Theater Stage Employees, the Motion Picture Machine Operators' union and the National Vaudeville Artists, Inc., with every member donating his services. The entire gate receipts will go to the Red Cross, it was announced.

For the convenience of transients, the local Red Cross has installed contribution boxes in all downtown hotels, and is receiving satisfactory sums daily from this source.

Infants Need Clothing.

It was said by workers Tuesday that some 250 infants in Florida are in need of serviceable clothing, talcum powder, castile soap and safety pins. Persons who can donate such supplies have been asked to get in immediate touch with headquarters of the local chapter at 283 1-2 Peachtree street.

The response from Atlanta churches, almost all of which have made contributions, is especially gratifying, according to George Bland, temporary chairman of the Atlanta chapter of the Red Cross.

The cooperation of Atlanta school children in the request for clothing is being enlisted through the Junior Red Cross and the Boy Scouts, who have been especially helpful in assisting with spreading the appeal and in sorting and packing garments for shipment.

The Salvation Army here staged a benefit concert Tuesday night at St. Paul's Methodist church, with the 50-piece staff band participating. No estimate of the amount raised was obtainable at a late hour Tuesday night, although the concert was well attended, it was announced.

Army workers Tuesday were busy answering calls from clothing contributors. Brigadier William French, supervising the collection of storm-relief supplies in 19 states, said that there is particular need for mattresses, bedding, shoes and lightweight but serviceable clothes.

The Army has established numerous relief depots in the storm area, while one station alone, the headquarters of the Palm Beach corps, contains 350 homeless women and children. Army workers have already distributed wearing apparel to 10,000 persons in Florida, and the need for additional supplies is yet urgent, it was said. The telephone number of local headquarters is Ivy 2224.

Install Tax Plan.

Waycross, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—The Manufacturers' Appraisal company has sent J. Groben and A. E. Fox to Waycross to superintend the remainder of the work of installing a tax equalization plan here. The work up to this point has been in charge of C. D. Knight.

STATE RED CROSS GROUP WILL HEAR NATIONAL CHIEFS

Dr. Thomas E. Green, director of the public speakers bureau, National Red Cross, and Walter Davidson, assistant manager of the eastern area, are scheduled to address the Red Cross conference for this section of Georgia, which meets Thursday morning at the Atlanta Athletic club.

In view of the national drive for a $5,000,000 hurricane relief fund, of which Atlanta has a quota of $60,000, the conference here will be of utmost importance to Red Cross members, it was said.

Both national executives who are to speak Thursday have distinguished themselves in Red Cross work, and both are said to have a wide knowledge of activities of the organization in various quarters of the world.

Persons expecting to attend the meeting, which will be followed at 1 o'clock by a luncheon at the Athletic club, have been asked to make reservations through Mrs. J. E. Sommerfield, in charge of arrangements for the meeting, at Walnut 6890.

MACHINISTS' MEETING MAY CLOSE TONIGHT

Much Unfinished Business Still To Be Disposed of Today.

The convention of the International Association of Machinists, which has been in session at the Biltmore hotel for 10 days, is expected to adjourn tonight, although a large amount of unfinished business relative to association affairs remains to be disposed of at two meetings today, officials of the organization said Tuesday night.

It is considered possible, however, that the meeting may be prolonged through Thursday, or even Friday.

A. O. Wharton, international head of the association, is presiding at the convention, while Emmett Quinn, president of Atlanta chapter No. 1, is chairman of the local committee on arrangements.

During its session here the convention has gone on record as favoring the universal adoption of the five-day work week in American industry, a change advocated before the membership last week by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, for several days a guest of the meeting.

International officers of the association will remain for several days in Atlanta following the adjournment of the convention proper, which has brought together some 400 delegates from all parts of America.

DUBLIN BANK OPENED BY HOLDING COMPANY

Citizens and Southern Officials Behind Private Bank in Laurens County,

Savannah, Ga., September 25.—(AP) Announcement that the private bank which opened in Dublin this morning, following the closing yesterday of the First National bank of Dublin, will be owned by the Citizens and Southern Holding company, was made today by Gordon L. Groover, a director of the holding company. Other directors are Mills B. Lane, chairman of the board of the Citizens and Southern National bank; R. Lane Young, and Samuel B. Adams.

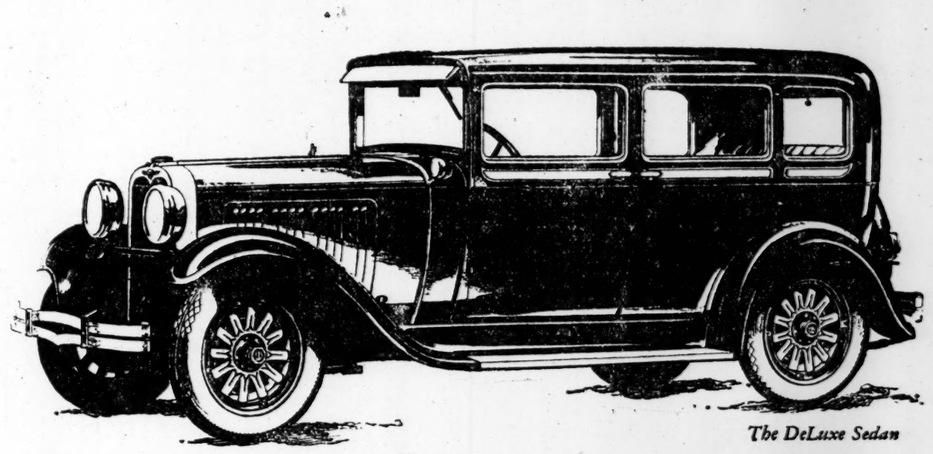

Application for a charter for the private bank, which will be known as the Dublin Bank and Trust company, with a capital stock of $100,000, was forwarded today to the state superintendent of banks.

The First National bank, which was the only bank in Dublin, has been taken in charge by federal agents.

Victor B. Jenkins, vice president of the Citizens and Southern National bank; A. C. Kline, Jr., senior assistant cashier, and Compton H. Usina, an employee, assisted in the organization and initial work and will remain in Dublin for the present.

A NEW VICTORY SIX BY DODGE BROTHERS

The DeLuxe Sedan

SMARTER, ROOMIER, MORE COMFORTABLE

With Famed Victory Performance Made Still More Brilliant

Striking improvements in beauty, comfort and roominess, set Dodge Brothers new Victory Six apart as a distinctive and impressively attractive motor car.

Seat dimensions are more generous; cushions deeper and more luxurious; doors higher and wider; and passenger vision materially increased.

New Victory lines sweep gracefully forward to a radiator that expresses new ruggedness and power; and improved fenders further accentuate the vigorous and arresting charm of Victory Six design.

Moreover, new Victory Six construction insures many unique and vital advantages.

The wide Victory chassis frame, flush with the body lines, provides a foundation for the body—which is directly mounted without sills. This remarkable construction lowers the all-important center of gravity, increases the head room, and eliminates the customary body overhang.

And as a consequence, the new Victory grips the road at the curves, travels rough pavement with incredible smoothness, obeys the four-wheel brakes instantly—yet with no discomfort to passengers. And provides a quality of pick-up, flexibility and fast, flashing action that we urge you most earnestly to investigate.

ALSO DODGE BROTHERS STANDARD SIX $895

Greater beauty, comfort and convenience with speed, get-away, smoothness and dependability more remarkable than ever. Four fashionable body styles, fully equipped.

COBB COUNTY'S ANNUAL FAIR DRAWS CROWDS

More and Better Exhibits Than Ever Seen at Marietta Event.

Marietta, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Cobb county's "biggest and best fair" opened its gates Monday afternoon and there has been a steady stream passing the turnstiles since. The midway filled with interested spectators from miles around.

Nine huge tents, filled with agricultural, educational and commercial exhibits, as well as live stock and poultry exhibits, give a circus-like appearance to the scene, not to mention the many smaller tents housing various concessions.

According to R. L. Vansant, manager of the fair, the number of exhibits this year far exceeds any previous showing and in point of quality will compare favorably with any county fair in the country. A special effort will be made to win first honors at the Southeastern fair next week, and a representative collection of exhibits now being shown here will be carried to Atlanta, it was stated.

Several communities in Cobb county have prepared exhibits for the fair and these have attracted unusual attention, due to the attractive manner in which the display was made and the many kinds of products shown. Cattle and poultry exhibits are said to be the best ever brought together here.

Tuesday a parachute leap from an airplane brought a thrill to youngsters as well as grownups. The Austell school gave an amusing and entertaining play in the evening. Other stunts in store include boxing bouts, Kimo Kalohi, steel guitar artist; athletic events, singing by the Big Bethel choir, of Atlanta, and other amusements.

Judging will be completed Wednesday morning, it was stated, and the fair will come to a close Friday night. M. D. Norton, president of the Cobb County Fair association, is being congratulated for the successful manner in which the fair is being held.

MERCER CLASSES FOR FALL TERM OPEN THURSDAY

BY GEORGE CLARK, JR.

Macon, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Classes at Mercer university for the fall term are scheduled to begin Thursday morning, it was announced this afternoon.

Originally it was planned to have classes start Wednesday, but new men at the university, scheduled to register Monday, had not completed registration, and it was decided to delay the opening.

The first issue of the "Mercer Cluster," weekly publication, is to make its fall bow Friday morning. Courtland Gilbert, of Brunswick, was elected at the close of the past year to be its editor in chief, but has not returned to the campus, and until he does, or until a new editor is elected, the publication will be in charge of Howard Leonard, of Macon; Buford Boone, of Newnan, and George Clark, Jr., of Hartwell.

With the completion of registration Wednesday it is expected that enrollment at Mercer will far exceed that of other years.

Schools Crowded.

Bainbridge, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Bainbridge city schools have begun the 1928-29 term with quite an increase of pupils over that of last year. While the rooms are full the children are being comfortably handled through team work and organization.

GREEN HEADS CLARKE DEMOCRAT CAMPAIGN

Much Enthusiasm Aroused at Organization Meeting in Athens.

Athens, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Thomas F. Green, Jr., young Athens attorney, was named chairman of the democratic campaign organization in Clarke county at a meeting of members of the party Tuesday morning. He succeeds Tate Wright, who has been acting as temporary chairman. Mr. Wright stated that he would be unable to devote sufficient time to the place. He is secretary of the board of county commissioners.

Walter C. Pitner was named secretary and treasurer and an advisory board was created. A number of vice chairmen were named and Mr. Green was authorized to add to both committees as he saw fit.

The members of the advisory board are Robert O. Arnold, Dr. S. V. Sanford, Judge H. C. Tuck, T. S. Mell, Mrs. George Dudley Thomas, T. J. Shackelford, Percy S. Johnson, H. H. Gordon, Jr., Mrs. J. A. Pitner, Claud Guess, Henry T. Culp, K. A. Hill, Bob Seagraves, J. T. Pittard.

Vice chairmen named were J. H. Lumpkin, H. L. Cofer, Mrs. E. S. Kirk, Ed D. Wier, Gwynn Nixon, Miss Annie Mae Bell, Robert Hodges, J. Barber Wier, Mrs. Robert L. McWhorter, Wallace Bell, H. H. Wynn, Dorsey Davis, Robert Callaway.

Although the meeting was purely an organization meeting several stirring speeches were delivered by Abit Nix, Dorsey Davis, John B. Gamble, Henry C. Tuck, Tate Wright, J. H. Hodgson, John Barber Wier and Judge Green.

Permanent headquarters are to be opened here and plans for an intensive campaign are to be launched at once by the organization personnel under Mr. Green. Chairmen in all rural precincts will be named later, but the following were named Tuesday: Winter district, Harry Dawson and Thomas I. Todd; Puryers, T. W. Morton and Henry Thaxton.

PECANS HARD HIT BY GALE, GROWERS TOLD AT MACON

Macon, Ga., September 25.—(AP)—Recent storms have destroyed from 50 to 90 per cent of the pecan crop in Florida and along the eastern coast of Georgia, delegates to the national convention of the Pecan Growers' association reported here today at the opening session of a three-day convention.

Representatives of the various states in attendance estimated that the crop deterioration in the last sixty days has extended beyond Florida and Georgia, due to excessive rains. The money loss, while impossible to estimate, will run into thousands of dollars, it was stated.

Present indications, it was brought out, are that in only a few sections of limited area will the crop compare with the 1926 crop. In the pecan producing territory generally, it was brought out, a crop from thirty to sixty per cent of that of 1926 is expected. The size and quality of the nuts will be good, delegates reported.

This came out in a discussion of crop conditions during the afternoon session. The West Indian hurricane completely stripped some orchards of nuts, it was claimed by delegates from Georgia and Florida.

There are 125 delegates from the southeastern states in attendance. Every phase of pecan culture is being discussed at the convention.

Election of officers tomorrow morning will feature the second day's session. Clifton Kilpatrick, president, of Selma, Ala., presided at today's session.

NEW APARTMENTS IN ATHENS FAST NEAR COMPLETION

Athens, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Athens' third large apartment building, owned by Abe Joel, is nearing completion on Lumpkin street. This is the third apartment built by Mr. Joel and contains 15 apartments. Two other large apartments have been constructed by Mr. Joel in the vicinity of the new building.

While work on the new building is progressing during the present fine weather, B. P. Joel, who will manage it for his father, states that definite date for the opening cannot now be determined, but it will probably be some time in November.

Miss Nan Ivey, now assistant manager of the Agricultural College cafeteria, will open a tea room in the new apartment building. Miss Ivey holds a degree in home economics from the college of agriculture and has had several years' experience at the cafeteria.

TEXAN TO SPEAK FOR DEMOCRATIC CAUSE IN GEORGIA

Waycross, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—United States Senator-elect Thomas Connally, from Texas, will deliver an address in Waycross, October 15, in the interest of the democratic campaign, it was announced today by Dr. W. F. Reavis, campaign chairman for Ware county.

This will be the first presidential campaign address in Waycross and it is expected that a large crowd from neighboring counties will be here for the address.

The vice presidential candidate, Senator Joe Robinson, was scheduled to speak here but his address was cancelled because of his relief work for the sufferers in the Florida hurricane.

Rains Hurt Crops.

Bainbridge, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Continuous rains are seriously interfering with cotton picking, gathering of peanuts and sawmill operations throughout this county.

Forecaster Sees Fair, Warmer Weather Today

Fair weather and bright skies will prevail in Atlanta today but only a slight variation in the temperature range is predicted, according to C. F. von Herrmann, meteorologist of the United States weather station.

With cool breezes fanning the thermometer to levels a little below normal for this time of the year, an all-day sun will be prevented from penetrating the crispness that has dominated the atmosphere since Sunday, the weatherman stated. A slight rise of the mercury column will be visible during the early morning, but the maximum temperature for the day is not expected to differ from that of Tuesday, Mr. von Herrmann predicted.

Fluctuating between the levels of 48 and 76 degrees Tuesday, the weather indicator explained the appearance of light wraps on the streets of Atlanta early this week. According to the forecast for today the minimum and maximum temperatures will be 50 and 70 degrees.

No sign of a rapid return to warmer days has been revealed to the weather observer. While warm weather will undoubtedly make a reappearance before winter descends upon this section in earnest, several days will elapse before the mercury will mount as high as the 80-degree mark, Mr. von Herrmann said.

BIG AD AGENCIES ANNOUNCE MERGER

New York, September 25.—(Special.)—Announcement has been made here of the consolidation of George Batten Company, Inc., and Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Inc., two of the largest and best known national advertising agencies with headquarters in New York city.

Bruce Barton, president of the latter, is to be chairman of the board of the new company. William H. Johns, president of George Batten Company, Inc., will be president of the consolidated agency, and Roy S. Durstine, secretary and treasurer of Barton, Durstine & Osborne, Inc., will be vice president and general manager. The new firm will be Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborne, Inc. Branch offices will also be consolidated giving the new company enlarged facilities in Chicago, Buffalo and Boston.

Directors of the consolidated company will be Charles J. Babcock, Bruce Barton, Roy S. Durstine, N. W. Emerson, F. R. Feland, George F. Gouge, R. J. Hayward, William H. Johns, Alex F. Osborn, Russel Osborn. Other officers, besides those already mentioned, are F. R. Feland, vice president; Alex F. Osborn, vice president; Charles J. Babcock, vice president; Paul M. Hollister, vice president; N. W. Emerson, vice president; C. L. Davis, vice president; S. H. Busser, vice president; F. G. Hubbard, vice president; A. D. Chiquoine, Jr., vice president; F. M. Lawrence, secretary; Chester E. Haring, assistant secretary; R. J. Hayward, treasurer, T. Rrnold Rau, assistant treasurer.

The Chicago business of the present George Batton Corporation of Illinois, the George Batten Company, Inc., and Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Inc., will be combined under the name of Batten, Barton, Durstine & Osborn Corporation of Illinois, of which Bruce Barton is chairman of the board, R. L. Hurst, president; William H. Johns, vice president; Roy S. Durstine, vice president; Charles D. Mitchell, vice president; F. R. Feland, secretary, and R. J. Hayward, treasurer.

The consolidation brings together in an expanding business association some of the foremost leaders in the advertising field. Both Mr. Johns and Mr. Durstine are former presidents of the American Association of Advertising Agencies. The two firms are among the largest in the country and for several years have maintained headquarters in the same building at 383 Madison avenue, New York city. George Batten Company, Inc., was founded in 1892 and Barton, Durstine & Osborn, Inc., in 1919. The consolidated company will have a personnel of more than 600 executives and employees.

List of Eligibles For Dry Service Duly Certified

Washington, September 25.—(AP)—A list of persons eligible for appointment as dry agents, investigators and attorneys was sent today to the administrators of all districts except New York by Prohibition Commissioner Doran. The list was certified to the prohibition bureau by the civil service commission.

"The lists are not very satisfactory," Doran said, "and will not fill 50 per cent of the places permanently."

Commissioner Doran said that a new civil service examination for prohibition bureau employees had been prepared and will be held soon in every section of the country to fill vacancies and compile a waiting list from which future appointments will be made. Doran favors the new examination which, he said, stresses experience of an officer as a qualifying factor, over the technical character of the first prohibition examination which resulted in a large percentage of failures.

SOCIETY BOOTLEGGER ENTERS GUILTY PLEA

G. O. P. Ward Leader Makes Bail on Charge of Receiving Graft.

Philadelphia, September 25.—(AP)—Joel D. Kerper, bootlegger, whose account books showed names which also appeared in the social register and membership lists of exclusive clubs, today pleaded guilty to selling liquor. Sentence was deferred until next Friday by Judge William H. Kirkpatrick.

Kerper's plea came suddenly after he was on the witness stand for more than an hour testifying in his own defense. He told the jury in United States district court, where the trial began yesterday, that he acted for a "Mr. White," who was never clearly identified.

Liquor Sales Admitted.

Kerper's lawyer, Michael J. McEnery, questioned him in detail today regarding the testimony given yesterday by 11 prominent men, all of whom told of buying champagne, whisky and gin from Kerper.

Always came Kerper's denial that he had sold any liquor, and an assertion that he had obtained what was seized when his place was raided through "Mr. White." After McEnery held a brief conference with Charles Denby, Jr., assistant United States attorney and Edwin G. Davis, special assistant United States attorney general, prosecuting the case, Kerper was called from the witness stand and McEnery announced to the court that his client wished to change his plea from not guilty to guilty. Judge Kirkpatrick in accepting it announced he would release Kerper in $10,000 bail pending sentence Friday.

John Brill, 65, who worked as a clerk for Kerper at $20 a week, and who was a co-defendant, was sentenced at once to serve 60 days in Mercer county jail at Trenton when he followed Kerper's lead and changed his plea to guilty.

A witness today was David G. Friedman, special investigator of the United States prohibition department, who said Kerper admitted selling liquor to him on the night of July 30.

Kerper, according to Friedman, declared he made $30,000 a year through selling supposedly rar liquors to prominent residents of Philadelphia and New York. At the same time Friedman testified Kerper had showed him how he doctored alcohol so that he fooled his wealthy customers.

Matthew Patterson, republican organization ward leader and a member of the state house of rephesenatives, today surrendered to Distict Attorney John Monaghan who had issued a warrant charging him with complicity in the collection of $12,100 protection money from bootleggers.

In accordance with an arrangement which had been made with his lawyer, Patterson, upon his surrender was taken before Judge Edwin O. Lewis and entered $15,000 bail for a hearing. No testimony was taken.

SCHULTE AND BRIDE START HONEYMOON

New York, September 25.—(AP)—David A. Schulte, head of the United-Schulte stores, and his bride of four days, the former Mrs. E. H. Koehler, were on a wedding cruise aboard his yacht today.

They were married in Stamford, Conn., Saturday but the fact was not generally known until an announcement by his business associates here last night. They had not known of the marriage, it was said, until inquiries caused them to get in touch with the chain store magnate, who confirmed the rumors.

Schulte and his first wife were separated in 1926, but that there had been a divorce was not generally known until the announcement of the wedding. The first Mrs. Schulte has been given custody of their three children. The present Mrs. Schulte is the widow of E. H. Koehler, business associate of Schulte's and former treasurer of Park & Tilford, one of the Schulte enterprises. Mr. Koehler died three years ago.

Mr. Schulte, who is 55 years old, rose from an $18-a-week store clerk to one of the largest chain store operators in the country. Although his wealth runs into millions he has retained his simple tastes. When in New York he goes to work on the subway from his Park avenue apartment.

WELCOME TO ROOSEVELT.

Atlanta extends a cordial welcome to Franklin D. Roosevelt. He is almost as much a Georgian as a New Yorker, and we regard him as one of our own.

He is one of the outstanding democratic leaders of America, and speaks the language of the "regular." In his vocabulary there are no such words as "bolter," or "straddler."

He is one of the country's most forceful orators. His nomination of the "Happy Warrior" at Houston is not outranked by any nominating speech in this county, not even by the masterful address of the late Burke Cochran in placing Grover Cleveland in nomination.

He knows his country and loves it. He was assistant secretary of the navy during the Wilson administration, and was candidate for vice president in 1920. He has spoken in more than half of the states of he union.

His fairness, fearlessness, integdity, patriotism, are proverbial.

The city auditorium will be filled to its capacity tonight as it should be. It will be one of the most demonstrative political meetings ever held in Georgia, and representatives from various sections of the state will be present.

The speaking will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock and in order that there may be no confusion every person who expects to attend should be prompt and in their seats before that hour.

Franklin Roosevelt, a Protestant and a "dry," knows Governor Smith, his worth, character and ability. He is militantly for him because he knows he will make one of the best and most constructive presidents in the history of the country.

TRAVESTY UPON CONSISTENCY.

There are many inconsistencies in our national life, and the farce of prohibition enforcement has provided some of the most glaring.

To illustrate, on Saturday Mabel Walker Willebrandt, assistant attorney general of the United States, very properly and humanely "released" several truck loads of "seized" illicit liquor from storage in Tampa and other Florida cities to be sent to the flood-stricken area for the benefit of the ill and suffering.

She authorized heavy guards to accompany the liquors to prevent further seizure by hi-jacking bootleggers—an indirect confession of enforcement collapse that is significant.

Mrs. Willebrandt is in charge of the prohibition wing of the department of justice.

On Sunday evening, 24 hours later, this same assistant attorney general—a republican, of course—was in Lorain, Ohio, exhorting from a pulpit the Methodist ministers to "defeat Al Smith because of his prohibition view," whereas Governor Smith stands first of all for the rigid enforcement of all laws.

What a travesty upon consistency!

And by the same token, while it is fortunate that Florida official sources were amply supplied with "seized liquors" that could be diverted to the service of alleviating disease and human suffering, since when was the Volstead law changed to make it legal to hold "seized liquor," except enough of the contents for introduction as evidence, which "sample" must also by law be destroyed after the trial of the offender?

Does not the law specifically provide for the destruction—pouring out on the ground and not consuming — all seized contraband liquor? Of course it does!

It merely illustrates the outrageous status of the whole miserable mess. Everybody knows that a large if not a major portion of "seized" liquor goes back into contraband traffic—back into keeping the jails filled, the asylums filled, the homes broken, the young in wild revelry, the grave diggers busy.

The cloak of deception and of corruption and of slander and of bigotry should be pulled from off the rattling bones of this ghostly skeleton! And let the American nation be returned to temperance, in the home, in the club, everywhere! Let the hip-pocket flask go the way of the saloon!

SMITH ON CORRUPTION.

Perhaps the most forceful address made by Governor Smith in his western campaign was that at Helena, Montana, in which he denounced corruption during the republican administration.

It is not charged that members of the Harding and Coolidge cabinets, with the exception of Fall and Denby, had guilty knowledge of the bribery associated with the Teapot Dome oil leases—and probably Denby did not know of the culpable acts of Fall in the connection.

It is charged, and correctly, that the administrative officials knew later of the scandal and tried to hide the facts from the public. Of all of the officials, from the president down, Mr. Hoover stands in the most unenviable light. He received a vigorous protest regarding it, and personally referred the same to the then secretary of interior, Fall, and requested that Fall should make "such a reply as he saw fit," which was done and in turn it was transmitted by Mr. Hoover, over his signature, to the complainant.

This cannot be denied. The records are official. And it admits of only one explanation—not that the then secretary of commerce had in any way participated in the spoils of the bribery but that he was willing and anxious to cover up the facts in Fall's own words.

After all is said and done, and the mist of hysteria induced by religious bigotry clears, the restoration of this government to honest, trustworthy and dependable administration is the one great issue of the campaign, and it is the one issue upon which the American electorate must vote in November.

There is no escape, for in the history of this republic there has never been such an orgy of public corruption as since March 4, 1921.

ADVOCATES ROAD BONDS.

The special committee of the County Commissioners' association of Georgia, appointed to survey the highway situation in the state, and to make recommendations, has agreed to recommend a state bond issue of $75,000,000 to repay counties and to connect the present paved highway system.

It is understood, of course, that the counties are to be reimbursed only when the entire state system has been completed, as now provided by law.

It is not probable that the amount specified will be sufficient, although the state will have a large annual construction fund over and above that required for carrying charges, and for a sinking or retirement fund. But it is a move in the right direction. It will abrogate the present county assessment plan, admit of through-state construction, and assure a completion of the state system, which can never be completed under the present plan of operation. These bonds can be carried without one penny of taxes other than the present gasoline and license taxes, and in the very fact that counties will be saved the necessity of imposing ad valorem taxes for county quotas, it will be a tremendous saving to the people, besides assuring connected hard-surfaced roads.

Governor Hardman will advocate such a referendum, provided the highway department is constructively reorganized.

The League of Nations is again assembled at Geneva but the little old United States is more concerned over the leagues of the Nation.

Observers.

Nearly all European writers who have made so-called voyages of observation to the United States the last few years have come back with descriptions that gave their readers to understand that America was a sort of paradise. They have told about factory workers who travel to work in their own motor cars, workers' houses with bathrooms, radios, gramaphones and player pianos, women dressing in silks and finery so that it is difficult to distinguish between a millionaire's wife and the spouse of the janitor. The trouble with some of the observers, like M. Andre Maurois, for instance, is that they are recording their flattering impressions mainly for the very Americans they wish to describe. They travel to America on a luxurious steamer in the company of judges, wealthy business men and are invited to these people's homes. Seated in high-powered motor cars they roar through industrial centers. Workers' homes are not inspected any closer than a mildly bragging host might indicate with a sweep of the hand. At nights there are parties and, do doubt, brilliant conversations, with the observer asking such questions as: "What really is the secret of your success?" But of the hordes of workers in the foundries, mines and steel cities of Ohio and Pennsylvania where the skies are ruddy with flame-belching smokestacks at nights and shower of rain of thick soot all day, of the army of unemployed, of the 75,000 flop-houses of Chicago, the incredible slums of manufacturing cities, of these things European observers do not speak.

Exterminating War.

Twenty thousand Prussians signed the pledge of the Nie Wieder Krieg (Never War Again) movement. They approved the Kellogg pact as a step in the right direction but in addition swore the following oath: War is crime against humanity. For this reason, I resolve not to aid or participate in any war of any description and to fight for the abolishment of all "its causes." There are now representatives of the "No more war movement" in 21 countries. In France the movement is gaining strong headway, and may one of these days strike a snag as its activities come under the heading of anti-militaristic propaganda. Many of the young men who join the movement are scheduled to go into garrison next spring. Instead of saying outright that they will refuse to bear arms or train, they say to the minister of war: "Our government has outlawed war, here we are to help in that great humanitarian movement. We also have outlawed war and outlawed it absolutely, and we cannot even entertain the idea of preparing for it by joining the army." But whether the government of France or any other government will accept such reasoning is extremely doubtful. Outlawing war does not yet mean the scrapping of armies and navies.

Venezuelan. Prisons.

A hair-raising and terrifying account of conditions in Venezuelan prisons is given in Henri Barbusse's review "Monde" this week. If a hundredth part of what is printed there about tortures of political prisoners is true, the most heartless penal methods of the middle ages have been surpassed. Details of torture could not with decency be printed in an American journal, their nature being too revolting and inhuman. The worst slavery was nothing compared to the fate of men in the chaingangs. Two thousand dead in one month's work in the malaria swamps is about the regular rate. Reading the story by Salvador de la Plaza, a distinguished Venezuelan man of letters, one's thoughts are saddened by the many injustices that are still perpetrated right under the nose of civilization. Prisons in Rumania, Italy and Catalonia, and other countries where the fascist idea of dictatorship prevails, are full with political prisoners, who undergo the most cruel of hardships and no power on earth seems capable of bringing the slightest relief to all these wretched human beings. And yet their only crime as a rule is a desire for freedom. To whom falls the responsibility for these atrocities? Next to the perpetrators, every liberal who remains indifferent shares in the guilt.

John C. Hallman Is Eighty-Five Years Old, This Being Birthday

Hale, hearty and active at 85 years of age, John C. Hallman, one of Atlanta's most honored citizens, will receive congratulations today of hosts of friends.

This good citizen, a native Georgian, was born on September 26, 1843.

He served with distinction in the Confederate army, and after the war established a mercantile business in Atlanta. Through the genius of management, progressive ideas and an unimpeachable character, he succeeded, and branched out into banking, utility and other interests, always maintaining a deep concern for the progress of the city and the welfare of the people.

He is today actively identified with a number of large interests, among which is a directorate in the Georgia Power company.

The Constitution extends congratulations, and wishes for him many happy anniversaries in the future.

Sermons to Live By

Text: "Let no man despise thy youth."—I Timothy 4:12.

Writing in the Western Christian Advocate, on "Youth's Place in Life," Bishop Leete says some helpful things.

Both old and young will read them with profit:

"Over 80 per cent of all Christian people took their stand for the Christian life before they were 18 years of age.

"As a youth you stand at the beginning of things. Yours is the great privilege of choice. Only choose well.

"At 19 Dr. C. H. Spurgeon was called to New York Street chapel, Southwark, and was in a very short time the most popular preacher in his day.

"Make much of the privileges of youth. The tomorrow has vistas of supreme delight or crags and rocks of dark and dismal despair.

"The happy future is dependent on the keeping of God's laws, in close fellowship with godly people, and in living an open-hearted, devoted Christian life."

Views of Smith and Hoover On Finances, Taxation and Tariff As Revealed by an Investigator

Basil Manly, one of the foremost investigators and writers of the country, who is on the staff of The Constitution and several other leading papers, herewith presents his fourth article in which the records of Governor Smith and Herbert Hoover are compared on the subject of finances, taxation and tariff.

Record Discloses Hoover Is Friend Of 'Big Business'

BY BASIL MANLY.

(Copyright, 1928, by Basil Manly.)

Washington, September 25.—Herbert Hoover, judged by his public utterances, is as staunch a supporter of a high protective tariff as Calvin Coolidge, Reed Smoot or Alexander Hamilton, father of the protective system. "Infant industries" like the Steel trust, the Aluminum trust and the Lumber trust need have no fears that he will tear down the wall behind which they have grown and prospered.

Nor is there reason to believe that if he is elected president Hoover will make any substantial changes in the tax policies which the Coolidge administration has fostered under the guiding hand of Andrew W. Mellon.

It may, however, shock some American business men to recall that Hoover played a large part in the imposition during the world war of the excess profits tax—that tax which was later denounced by every chamber of commerce and every manufacturers' association in the country. This course was recommended by Hoover, however, not as in any sense an attack on business but as a substitute for the drastic regulation of prices and profits which was then being urged by the federal trade commission and other influential agencies.

Hoover's Plan.

Hoover's view in a nutshell was that without high prices industry would not produce the maximum output needed for war purposes. He advocated, therefore, permitting manufacturers and distributors to make big money and then taking it away from them with a stiff excess profits tax. This view prevailed and while it is true that captains of industry saw red when they had to pay the tax, it is certain that they would have rebelled still more at the rigid restrictions on prices and profits which were being considered as the alternative.

On other aspects of the tax problem Hoover's republican regularity cannot be challenged so far at least as his public utterances are concerned. If he has differed with Mellon in his efforts to scale down the tax rates on large incomes and abolish the federal inheritance tax, such differences have been settled behind the closed doors of the cabinet.

He denounced the provision of the 1924 revenue act providing for publicity of income tax returns in as vigorous terms as the secretary of the treasury used. Predicting that such publicity would injure small rather than big business and lead to the filing of fraudulent returns in order to boost credit ratings, he declared that publication of tax returns at the end of the civil war had contributed to "the industrial and financial chaos of the time."

Profits on Foreign Trade.

Secretary Hoover also joined with Secretary Mellon in repeated advocacy of exemption from taxation of profits earned by American corporations in foreign trade. This he urged on the ground that such profits are already taxed by foreign governments and that England and other countries grant such exemptions to their business men and corporations operating abroad.

The debate in the senate which resulted in the defeat of this proposed exemption was very bitter. Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock, of Nebraska, ranking democratic member of the foreign relations committee, denouncing such exemption as an unfair discrimination against those engaged in domestic trade, declared: "We have not arrived at the point where we can afford to make American capital more profitable if invested in foreign countries than if invested at home."

Senator F. M. Simmons, former chairman of the committee on finance, was even more caustic in his attack on the proposal: "That provision," he said, "came from 'higher up,' that proposition came from some source profoundly interested in advancing the interests of consolidated, combined and predatory wealth. If that provision had been agreed to by the conference committee as it came to us from the house, it would have been nothing more or less than a present out of the treasury of the United States to the great corporations who control our foreign commerce, sell our exports abroad and buy our imports abroad, to say nothing about the great international bankers, of something near $300,000,000 a year."

Project Not Abandoned.

In spite of the defeat of this proposal in 1921, it was not abandoned by Secretaries Mellon and Hoover, who continued to urge it upon congress in succeeding years.

Hoover's view of the protective tariff differs somewhat from that of Calvin Coolidge and other orthodox republicans. He sees it not as a panacea for the evils of industry, labor and agriculture, but rather as part of the American system which should be maintained to give American business men an untrammelled opportunity to develop mass production, work out economies and eliminate waste, free from foreign competition. Hoover recognizes that in some industries, such as automobiles, American producers can undersell the world. He believes that European competition with American industry will grow less keen when her labor becomes better paid and when the advantage of depreciated currencies experienced after the war is completely eliminated.

Nevertheless he stands four-square for the maintenance of the protective system in all its vigor. "I believe," he testified before the house ways and means committee in May, 1921, "in both a broad protective tariff and the levying of import duties on the American valuation basis." That is the limit of high tariff doctrine. Further than that no man can go without declaring for an embargo on imports.

As Governor, Smith Has Handled Well Important Problems

BY BASIL MANLY.

(Copyright, 1928, by Basil Manly.)

Washington, September 25.—If Al Smith should reach the white house he would find there no problems of finance and taxation, except the tariff, with which he has not had long practical experience.

Income tax, inheritance tax, executive budget, bond issues, sinking funds and the score of other problems involved in federal finance are all an old story to Smith, who has dealt with them not only as governor but also is a legislator.

It is generally admitted among economists and financiers that there are few men in the United States who have a better understanding of the intracacies of government revenues and expenditures than Alfred E. Smith and none who can present them so clearly to legislative bodies or the general public. His annual financial statements of the state's business, so clear and concise that they are "understandable to the man in the street," have become features of his administration.

No other governor, so far as history records, has ever been able so to dramatize a $100,000,000 bond issue that the citizens flooded the reluctant legislators with telegrams and letters demanding its immediate submission for their approval. His debates on that issue with Governor Miller, Congressman Mills and Judge Crane are among the classics of public finance.

Unique Campaign.

That campaign, conducted in the off-year of 1825 when only assemblymen were being elected, was unique. It was a campaign devoid of personalities, mud slinging and cheap politics. The central question was: Shall the people of New York approve a constitutional amendment providing for a bond issue of $100,000,000 to carry out a comprehensive program of public improvements.

Smith urged its approval with all his eloquence and force, pointing out that the progress of the whole state was being held back by lack of these improvements, which could not reasonably be paid for out of taxes withing a generation. His opponents, led by Miller and Mills, conservatively argued for the "pay as you go" policy, contending that improvements should be made only as the ordinary revenues permit.

Smith won by making it a human question. He showed the deplorable conditions in the state hospitals, prisons and charitable institutions and the inadequate equipment of the schools, particularly in the rural districts. He translated dollars into hospital beds, school desks and crowded prison cells and showed that a progressive state like New York could not afford to wait until it had the money in hand. He aroused state pride and human sympathy. He won overwhelmingly. And that victory, coming the year after the Madison Square Garden fiasco, had much to do with Smith's subsequent strength.

Reduction in Taxes.

As governor, Smith has fought for and secured the reduction of taxes as rapidly as the state finances would permit. "I believe," he said in his 1924 message to the legislature, "that it is a very great mistake to take from the taxpayers in any one year more than is needed for the actual conduct of the government, always having a safe reserve in the bank in case of trouble."

He demanded, therefore, a tax cut of 25 per cent and insisted that it should be made not only in the income tax, which rests primarily upon the rich and well-to-do, but also in the direct property tax, which affects the farmers and home owners. The legislature, republican in both houses and personally interested in the use of this money for local "pork barrel" projects, at first refused. But Smith hammered it through with a threat to veto all local "improvement" bills, if the tax reduction was defeated. And in each subsequent year he has secured a similar reduction.

Smith is a strong advocate of graduated income and inheritance taxes on "the indisputable principle that he who benefits the most should pay accordingly." He is for the maintenance of the federal income tax, but believes that as soon as practicable the federal government should abandon the taxation of estates and inheritances and leave that field to the separate states. The bequest of property, he holds, is provided for by the laws of the states and the taxes from this source should be available to them.

Not for Low Tariff.

Like every other loyal democrat, Smith has made many speeches attacking the iniquities of republican tariffs, but there is no reason to believe that he is a low-tariff crusader. During the campaign of 1924 he invaded Calvin Coolidge's own state denouncing the Fordney-McCumber tariff act in general and President Coolidge's boost of the sugar tariff in particular.

"The farmer has been cheated," he declared, "by the promise that high duties on agricultural products, which are not imported, would offset for him high duties on the articles he must buy. The laborer has been deluded by an inflation which gives him an apparent high wage, the real purchasing power of which is destroyed by the provisions of the Fordney-McCumber tariff act. The business man has been misled by artificial interference with the course of commerce that enriches the favored monopoly at the expense of the average man. We must restore a tariff of honesty."

So far as the record discloses, however, Smith has never made a tariff speech or proclaimed his zeal for tariff reduction except during presidential campaign years. It is easy to believe, therefore, that while he would willingly, even enthusiastically, go along with his party if it should decide upon tariff revision, it is not one of the issues which lies nearest his heart and upon which he would assume the initiative.

Benefit for Taxpayer.

The actual taxpayer, Governor Smith has insisted, should receive the benefit of all economics of administration. Last year in his annual message he denounced the county governments for failing to pass on to the taxpayers the 25 per cent reduction in the levy on real estate.

"I appreciate that this suggestion is not very popular with political machines," the governor said, "because the control of county patronage forms the groundwork for a fighting organization. The people are gradually awakening to a better understanding of the processes of government and have about arrived at the point where they desire to see political machines survive because of the character of the service they render rather than because of their ability to find additional patronage at the expense of the tax and rent payers."

This message hitting democratic as well as republican county organizations, created consternation among the leaders of both machines. It is, however, fairly characteristic of the non-partisan attitude which he has maintained during recent years toward the state's finances. "The man who can perform the greatest service for this or any other state," he declared to the Merchants' association, "is the man who will invent some patented process whereby financial figures will be taken out of the realm of political discussion."

That was the spirit in which he fought for the executive budget system, shoulder to shoulder, with such staunch republicans as Charles Evans Hughes, Elihu Root and George W. Wickersham. It explains in some measure the steady increase in the number of republicans and independents who have voted for him in recent campaigns.

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

HERPETOLOGY FOR PLAIN PEOPLE.

A reader writes from the Smithsonian institution, at Washington:

"Needless to say, I enjoy your daily articles. Who wouldn't?. I myself have the desire to popularize and instruct properly an unpopular subject, herpetology, which people think is even 'nastier' than your subject, physiology. I am making some headway, for the nature teachers in the public schools of Washington now give a few lessons each spring on lizards, frogs, snakes and turtles, while a whole horde of Boy and Girl Scouts are getting reptile badges now."

My correspondent kindly sends a reprint from the bulletin of the Antivenin Institute of America, Notes on Nearctic Poisonous Snakes and Treatment of the Bites, by Dr. Afranio Do Amaral, noted for his work in this field in the Brazilian institute as well as the American institute at Glenolden, Pa. In this article Dr. Amaral advises that when there is no antivenin at hand, it is well to apply a torniquet above the bite, tightly at first, but partially released for a few seconds at five or 10 minute intervals so as to maintain the necessary circulation in the limb. He says there is no particular advantage in making an incision nor in applying permanganate of potassium solution or crystals, or any of the other chemical agents commonly recommended for snake bite. In fact it is advisable to avoid any further mutilation or injury of the tissues, this authority assures us, because of the increased danger of tetanus or other secondary infection.

Dr. Amaral says that it has been shown that potassium permanganate must be used in such concentration, to have any effect on the venom, that it injures the tissues.

Dr. Amaral says that alcohol or any other stimulant may help the distribution of the venom through the body, by exciting the circulation, and he favors the use of caffein or strychnin if symptoms of giddiness or weakness develop.

In a previous article about snake bite I advised the torniquet, then incision of the wound or fang punctures to favor bleeding, then permanganate, and I said this is good first aid treatment whether one has antivenin in the emergency kit or not. I note that Dr. Amaral advises that no torniquet be applied if one has the anti-snake bite serum at hand to administer immediately, for the torniquet would prevent the antidote from reaching the area where the venom is presumably concentrated—about the site of the bite.

This antivenin is now prepared here in the American institute and distributed widely through the regular drug trade channels. It is effective against bites by any of three or four venomous snakes of North America, (rattler, coral, moccasin, copperhead), comes in a syringe package ready to inject, and keeps well enough anywhere. Persons camping or traveling in snake country should carry this antidote in the emergency kit. Anyone may inject the dose under the skin of the back, or one may inject oneself under the skin of the thigh. Dr. Amaral advises that a portion of the dose be injected around the bite when the serum is at hand for immediate use. It is effective against bites by the North American snakes if given within 12 to 24 hours, of course the earlier the better. If a torniquet has been applied it should be taken off as soon as the serum is injected.

Paramount Points of the Campaign That Stick Up Like Pot-Legs

Washington, September 25.—(Special.)—The republican party chiefs have awakened to the fact that their greatest loss of votes this year will be caused by the prohibition issue. It defies all efforts to minimize or suppress it. From all quarters they get news of defections of wet republicans to Smith. In fairly every case the reason given for the shift is Smith's promise that, if elected, he will lead a movement for the amendment of the prohibition amendment and the modification meantime of the Volstead law.

In the grand army of common boozethirsty citizens the delusion prevails that if Smith is elected beer and wine will, immediately after his inauguration, begin to flow from the rock of prohibition as the refreshing waters did from the rock that Moses punched with his miracle rod.

But the big, rich republicans who are backing Smith have no such delusion. They know that he can do no more than he promises, which is to recommend to congress and the country a more liberal interpretation of the amendment and the laws to enforce it.

Meanwhile they want those issues made with the prestige of presidential recommendation, starting their agitation in and out of congress, and making them of paramount importance in the elections for federal senators and representatives in the future and in every state.

The "modificationists" know that their way ahead will be a long and difficult one, but they say they have the leadership to see the struggle through to a final decision. They point out that 20 years ago the prohibition program was generally regarded as fantastic and impossible, but persistent political pushing put it over and plunged the nation into the lawless liquor orgies of the present day. So they hope, in like manner and with more speed, to win public sentiment to favor a saner and safer temperance policy.

Smith Intends to Stand Pat.

All counsels to Governor Smith to soft-pedal his views on the liquor question have been in vain. He will stand pat on them, come what may. He banks his hopes to carry the eastern states from Massachusetts to Maryland on them. They canstitute practically his whole appeal to the thirsty voters of those states. If he were to backslide from his demands for modified prohibition he wouldn't have a chance to carry one of those commonwealths and no one knows it better than he.

Smith doesn't fear that his liquor views will work disaster to his ticket in the solid south. He has the assurances of the potential southern leaders that the "dry south" will be found loyally in the democratic round-up in November.

The elements of the fight that he considers dangerous are the farm voters in the west and the high protective tariff voters in the east. He fears most the effect of the republican strategy of setting up high wages against high-power beer among the millions of industrial workers in the eastern area.

* * * *

A Change of Political Ideals.

There is a vague, inchoate feeling among the people that the country needs a change of political ideals. Government, they feel, is no longer "of the people, by the people, and for the people." It has been converted into a mechanism of property promotion, of service to special interests, groups, classes, and financial profiteering at the expense of the common citizen.

The change that the masses want is to return the government of this great nation to the finer purposes for which it was founded—the defense of the natural rights of men, the equal distribution of the burdens and benefits of the public service, the enlargement of the living conditions and happiness of all the people, and the preservation of domestic order and justice, together with peace with all nations and entanglements with none.

Experience has demonstrated that the rule of the republican party does not produce those effects. The Harding and Coolidge administrations are glaring examples of class favoritism and oligarchic rule. They supply the strongest of arguments why the democratic party should be given the power to restore popular government.

* * * *

The Religious Issue Blazes.

The daring speech of Governor Smith at Oklahoma City has blown the religious issue into an open and furious blaze. From now on the bigotry campaign will be no longer a "whispering" one. It will fill the air of the whole country with the poison gas of intolerance and religious fanaticism.

Every Christian patriot must deplore that, but it is hard to conceive how a big, red-blooded American such as Governor Smith could restrain himself from taking that bull, as Ursus did his, and wringing its neck with candor and courage. If there is anything among men calculated to call out the strongest indignation of an honest heart it is a malignant and unjust assault upon one's religious faith and loyalty.

For one, I don't blame Governor Smith for his open and flaming counter-assault upon his persecutors, but with millions of good men and women I deplore that it was forced upon him.

The bigot cannot be reasoned with and converted to Christian charity and justice, and now they will be all the bolder and more savage in their mean campaign.

* * * *

Give Them Silent Treatment.

Governor Smith intimates that henceforth in the campaign he will ignore the religious fanatics. That will be wise. His strongest policy will be to center his attacks upon the republican party and riddle its pretensions to having conducted the government honestly and for the common welfare. That party, and no other party in our history, has ever had more sins to be punished. No people have ever been betrayed and plundered as we were by the "Ohio gang" and the oil conspirators. The veteran soldiers were robbed in heartless fashion and helpless aliens had their impounded properties looted without limit.

Are the honest voters of the union to condone all those public crimes and keep those truculent party leaders in power who permitted and never protested the gigantic wrongs?

Let Smith and Robinson keep that vital question inescapably before the minds of the people, for that way lies victory!

CALLING ATTENTION.

Permit me to call your attention to the fact that New Orleans will soon be connected with Havana by a seagoing railroad ferry that will carry 95 loaded freight cars at a time. This ferry boat is so big and powerful that it will make its way, under its own power, from the shipyard at Glasgow to Havana, before it enters regular service. Just imagine what a few such connections with West Indian, Central American and South American ports will do for New Orleans and the Mississippi valley.

And while I'm calling attention, notice an obscure news item. The Santa Fe railway has bought the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient railway. This is a road that, when completed, will run from Wichita on the Santa Fe, to Topolobampo, on the Pacific coast of Mexico. It will permit the Santa Fe to tap a rich part of Mexico, and, most important, will give an American railway outlet on the Mexican Pacific coast, whence commerce with Japan and China and the East Indies will stem.

Attorney Reiterates Charge That Curtis Carried Flask Of Liquor to Race Track

Declares Three Men Joined Republican Nominee in Drink at Pimlico in Fall of 1927

Baltimore, Septe ber 25.—(AP)—Senator William Cabell Bruce tonight issued a statement in which he reiterated his charge that Senator Charles Curtis, republican vice presidential candidate, had whisky in his pocket at the Pimlico race track here last year, and furnished a written statement from a local attorney to corroborate his charge. The attorney's statement said that he had had a drink from a bottle which the senator produced from his pocket.

The attorney, James A. McGarth, of a Baltimore law firm, declared in his statement that he, in company with Robert B. Ennis, another local attorney, and John Gray, of Brooklyn, N. Y., had met the senator at the track on the closing day of the meeting in November, 1927. It said that Senator Curtis asked the three of them to join him in a drink, and that they went into the bar at the track. There, he said, after procuring four glasses, from the bartender, Senator Curtis produced the bottle of O. F. C. whisky from his pocket and furnished the drinks.

Afterward, he said, the senator returned the bottle to his pocket.

Senator Bruce, in his statement, said that the charge he made in his address at Westminster, Md., Saturday night, had originated with McGrath. He said that he had met the attorney on the street about the time of the republican national convention in Kansas City and that he had been told the story of the race track meeting.

Today, he said, following Senator Curtis' denial of the alleged "bottle of whisky in his pocket," Mr. McGrath had reduced the story to writing and presented it to him.

Senator Bruce's statement made no further reference to the part in his address in which he repeated the story that Herbert Hoover had a drink with Clarence Darrow, Chicago criminal attorney.

CURTIS GIES LIE TO WHISKY STORY.

Omaha, Neb., September 25.—(AP)—Senator Curtis, the republican vice presidential nominee, denied in blunt language the statement issued by Senator Bruce, democrat, of Maryland, quoting a statement from James A. McGrath, of Baltimore, that he (McGrath) had been offered a drink of whisky by Curtis.

"I dislike to say anything harsh about a man," Senator Curtis declared, "but if this Mr. McGrath issued that statement about me he is a willful, malicious and deliberate liar.

"I never offered this Mr. McGrath or any other person any whisky at Pimlico race track or at any other place.

MEXICANS ELECT EMILIO PORTES GIL

titude taken toward the religious controversy.

The session of congress was tranquil and orderly throughout. Portes Gil will be one of the few presidents Mexico has ever had of exclusively civilian career, being devoid of any active military experience. Most of the rulers of Mexico at one time or other were fighting men, either in the regular army or some revolutionary force. Portes Gil's only connection with the army has been as an attorney in the legal section of the war department.

Until selected by President Calles for his cabinet he had been governor of Tamaulipas, where he had established partial prohibition, suppressed open gambling, and established the first state-supported industrial school in Mexico for indigent children. He is known as a friend of the United States.

Works Through Election.

His election has been a foregone conclusion as the result of agreements by the majority groups of each chamber. The galleries were only partly filled during the brief business-like session. A few members of the diplomatic corps were present, but United States ambassador Morrow was not among them.

Portes Gil was working at his desk in the department of the interior while congress was selecting him to head the republic. Within a few days he will be formally notified of his election by a congressional committee.

The voting began at 7:15 p. m. Two large silver vases were placed on the speaker's rostrum and the reputies and senators walked up one by one and deposited their secret ballots in them.

The official ballots were slips of paper in the Mexican colors with only one name—Portes Gil—printed on them. Any member who desired to vote against him might scratch the name and write another. No one did. Most members voted without looking to see whether there was any other name than Portes Gil.

Although Portes Gil and Ambassador Morrow have not met the former has expressed the desire to maintain the same friendly relations with the American ambassador as has President Calles. He has told friends that he admires Mr. Morrow very greatly.

The present plan is that Portes Gil will hold his cabinet portfolio until shortly before his inauguration as president. He has indicated that he will ask his fellow cabinet members to continue in office during his term.

BY UNITED NEWS.

The records show Portes Gil to be the 68th president of Mexico since 1821, including provisional executives.

The voting for provisional president was secret and required only 25 minutes after congress met in joint session in the senate chamber. Each deputy and senator walked to the front of the chamber and deposited the ballot which had been handed him.

Portes Gil is regarded as a staunch supporter of President Calles in all policies. As secretary of the interior and governor of Tamaulipas he has indicated his Callista tendencies repeatedly and within the last ten days the president and his followers in congress have held a series of conferences which clearly showed their support for Portes Gil.

Enforces Religious Laws.

He has strictly enforced religious laws in Tamaulipas and although he has made no public announcement in regard to his attitude on the religious question it is understood he holds much the same views as Calles.

Catholics, therefore, find little hope for a settlement of the religious issues in Mexico during the term of the provisional president. In the eyes of Catholics, Portes Gil represents that type of politician who generally is opposed to the present demands of the church for less governmental interference in religious educational institutions.

Political observers find it difficult to estimate the extent of influence which President Calles will enjoy under the provisional president. It is believed, however, that he will retain a guiding hand in the affairs of the new administration.

Is 37 Years Old.

Some dissatisfaction over the election of Portes Gil has been reported among the Obregonists and for this reason it is possible that Calles will continue to act as arbitrator between the contending groups. Portes Gil is expected to continue the foreign policies inaugurated by President Calles, including the settlement of the oil problems with the United States which all factions regard as satisfactory and to the best interests of all concerned.

Portes Gil was born in 1891, and was educated at his home city, Ciudad Victoria, Tamaulipas, where later he was to rise to political fame. Since early manhood, when he came to the capital to study law, he has been involved in politics.

Besides serving as deputy from Tamaulipas several terms, he has been a counsellor in the ministry of war under the late General Obregon, a counsellor for the national railways, and a magistrate of the supreme court in Sonora in 1915, when General Calles was governor of that state.

Gave Press Liberty.

After serving a term as provisional governor of Tamaulipas, he was elected for the constitutional term in 1924.

His numerous reforms, including those affecting labor and the Agrarians, made him one of the outstanding governors of the country. One of his first important projects was the "ley imprenta"—a law giving complete liberty to the press. He also made significant changes in the state and civil code, particularly in sections respecting the property rights and inheritances.

He founded the first school of agriculture in Tamaulipas and the only school for Indian children in the country.

Further illustrative of Portes Gil's reform tendencies is the fact that during his administration as governor a dry law was put into effect which practically wiped out the saloons in the smaller towns. The governor regards this as one of the outstanding accomplishments of his term. He is proud of the fact that music and sports have taken the place of drinking in the Indian towns of his state.

He neither drinks nor smokes and is fond of swimming and horseback riding. He assumed the post of secretary of interior and head of the cabinet upon the request of the president in August.

Omaha Is Seeking To Pipe Natural Gas From Texas Panhandle

Omaha, Neb., September 25.—(AP)—Omaha voted today on a proposition to pipe natural gas from the Texas panhandle for marketing here.

The question was before the electorate as a $1,500,000 bond issue, which if approved today, would serve as a binding agreement with the pipe line companies, to insure a market. The companies propose to pipe the fuel 500 miles from Texas at an estimated cost of $30,000,000.

had been preferred against him, Commissioner Talmadge gave the following reasons for the removal:

show that we decided to remove Mr. Worsham because he has not made his reports to the chairman of the board in compliance with the law; that he has told members of his staff not to be seen talking to the commissioner of agriculture and that an investigation of his office conducted for more than a month showed that his stenographers were getting out an average of only three and one-half letters a day."

Commissioner Talmadge said he would have the minutes written up as soon as possible and that they would be available for publication.

The move of the majority members of the state board Tuesday is a new development in a fight that has been waged for more than a year in the department of entomology. For a time the bank account of the department was tied up because of the refusal of Commissioner Talmadge to sign certain warrants, but later the account was released when the various contestants entered an agreement concerning the disposition of these funds.

until Tuesday by Governor Hardman. As constituted prior to the appointment of Mr. Hollis, the board by a vote of two to one supported Mr. Worsham. With appointment of Mr. Hollis the situation was changed Tuesday, as he voted with Commissioner Talmadge, who hitherto has voted as the minority member of the board.

Mr. Youmans goes in as head of the department without any animosity on the part of Mr. Worsham, according to Mr. Worsham's statement. He declared that he had a high opinion of Mr. Youman's ability and possessed no ill-will against him.

Mr. Youmans is a graduate of the University of Georgia of the class of 1924. He is a member of the American Association of Economic Entomologists, a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity and of other organizations. He has been connected with the department of entomology for four years, first as an inspector and recently doing experimental work at Cornelia, Ga. He is a son of M. J. Youmans, of Dawson, former chairman of the state democratic executive committee, and well known in state political circles.

ROOSEVELT, PARTY LEADER, COMES TODAY

Reuben R. Arnold, one of the ablest orators in the south.

Mr. Roosevelt as a speaker ranks high throughout the nation. He long has been identified with the democratic party in national races and was the party's candidate for vice president in 1920. He served as assistant secretary of the navy under President Woodrow Wilson and was a close personal friend of the president.

In his address Mr. Roosevelt will discuss at length the public career and the democracy of Al Smith, democratic nominee for president. He is expected to refute many erroneous statements circulated about the nominee and to nail several deliberate canards which have been reported in Georgia from time to time. He has served in close touch with Governor Smith in New York state and was one of the leaders of the preconvention campaign in behalf of the nominee. He is a Protestant in religious faith and is a warm and enthusiastic admirer of the democratic nominee.

One interesting feature of the meeting will be the presence of a group of former classmates of Mr. Roosevelt at Columbia university. They will be headed by Cam Dorsey and Charles Shelton, who were at Columbia with Mr. Roosevelt.

Inasmuch as Senator Joe T. Robinson was unable to reach Atlanta recently to fill his scheduled speaking engagement here the Roosevelt meeting will be the first big rally of statewide importance held in Atlanta.

FLORIDA DEATH TOLL TO EXCEED 2,300

how many negroes were in the area when the storm came, as many laborers had just come to the section seeking employment.

Meanwhile with gradual evacuation of the national guard units ordered by Adjutant General Vivien Collins, Governor Martin today heard the plea of a group of citizens of Lake Worth that conditions demanded additional troopers be assigned there. The governor messaged the adjutant general to investigate and comply.

Church Asks Funds.

The mission board of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, for Florida met here today and decided to ask the south-wide church to donate funds for rebuilding ten churches or parsonages, damaged or destroyed by the hurricane.

As the relief forces swung deeply into the thick of the fight to rehabilitate the lake region, Belle Glade, where one of the heaviest casualty lists was recorded, was designated as the key position for transportation service to South Bay and Miami Locks, both razed towns.

The highway, however, was greatly in need of repair due both to the constant caravans of trucks and the water which has covered it. Boats still plied the fields back and forth on grim or happy missions, and Commander R. L. Jack, of the coast guard who has been on duty in the region virtually since the storm struck, said the highway soon will be impassable unless repaired.

Boat communication was resorted to from Twenty-Mile Bend, on the highway from this city, to Canal Point, another of the wrecked towns, where the trucks pick up the load for the journey into Belle Glade.

WOMAN TELLS DESOLATION STORY.

Jacksonville, Fla., September 25.—(AP)—Governor John W. Martin said here today he had ordered additional state national guard troops into the storm stricken town of Lake Worth.

The governor said citizens of the town had appealed for additional guardsmen and that he had advised Adjutant General Vivien Collins, who now is at West Palm Beach, to make an investigation of the Lake Worth situation and to send there such men as are necessary.

Mrs. Lucille Smith, editor of the Lake Worth Herald, a member of the delegation of citizens which called on the governor today asking help, wept as she told of conditions in the town.

She said the Palm Beach county town, with a population of 10,000, suffered damage to 98 per cent of its buildings, and that many homes were flattened out by the hurricane which struck there September 16.

Sanitary condition in the town were described by the woman editor as "terrible." She said that thirty members of a company of national guardsmen from Hollywood had come to the town voluntarily to give aid, but that 14 of the men had received orders last night to leave. She said even with thirty men doing patrol duty, that all of the town could not be adequately policed.

After the conference with the governor, Mrs. Smith said the chief executive had promised to do everything in his power to relieve the situation.

She said the governor informed her that state board of health authorities would be asked to send crews to the town in an effort to get it cleaned up.

Mrs. Smith said the streets were littered with debris, that windows and doors were blown out of homes and business houses, and that police officials were checking incoming and outgoing automobiles with a view to prevent possibility of looting.

Flood conditions in the Everglades, Mrs. Smith said, had driven millions of mosquitoes into Lake Worth. She said the mosquitoes were adding to the discomfort of citizens because the high winds had blown out screens.

"We are in sore need of help, especially laborers to help us clean up the town, screen wire to improve sanitary conditions, and roofing material to repair the homes that were not blown down," Mrs. Smith related.

"It rains there nearly every day now, and this has made it worse. There were about 200 babies in a freight house, but they were forced to take them out because the mosquitoes were so bad.

"There are but four telephones in the town working, and while the electric power plant is in repair, there are so many lines down and so few folk to put them up that they are afraid to turn on the power.

"There are dead animals in the area that should be covered with lime, and while there is a small supply of lime in town, there are none to do the work.

"Everybody in the town is working, but we need help from the outside. We need organized relief crews, we need sanitary units and we need supplies and tools and laborers," Mrs. Smith said.

The woman editor took a newspaper reporter's handkerchief to wipe away her tears. Her arms and ankles bore bruises and scratches. But she would not talk about her own hurts.

ONE OF NATION'S GREATEST DISASTERS.

Miami, Fla., September 25.—(AP)—With the hurricane death toll in Florida alone now estimated by Red Cross officials as more than 2,300, the loss of life Tuesday had mounted to a point exceeded by only one national disaster in the history of the United States. The Galveston tornado and flood of September 8, 1900, claimed 6,000 lives.

The nearest approach to the recent hurricane in death toll, except at Galveston, was at Johnstown, Pa., where 2,209 were killed in a flood May 31, 1889. No marine disaster approaches this figure, 1,517 having sunk with the Titanic and 1,198 with the Lusitania. The San Francisco earthquake and fire took more than 500 lives while the recent Mississippi flood caused but 289 deaths.

BARNESVILLE GIVES FREELY TO RED CROSS.

Barnesville, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Dr. J. A. Corry, president of the local Red Cross, is carrying on an extensive campaign for the storm sufferers in Florida. Committees were at work this morning in a house-to-house canvass of the entire town.

A telegram was received from J. B. Barton, vice chairman of the National Red Cross asking that Barnesville's minimum quota be $250, but insisted that much more than this should be raised. Dr. Corry stated that he was gratified with the results received from the short canvass today and stated that Barnesville would raise considerably more than its quota.

HEAVY DAMAGE DONE BY FLOODS IN SOUTH CAROLINA

Beaufort, S. C., September 25.—(AP) Beaufort and its neighboring coastal country was returning to normal today as effects of the high water of last week diminished.

Damage from the wind and rain of last week's tropical storm was centered on bridges and roads, many of the latter being under water for a time. Heavy damage was also done to crops, though buildings did not suffer so extremely.

No cases of persons being driven from their homes by water were reported from this section, though full reports of storm damage had not been received from the islands off the coast.

Portrait of Mrs. Goodrum To Hang in High Museum

:: EXQUISITE PICTURE FOR MEMORIAL ROOM ::

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Visitors to the High Museum of Art, on Peachtree street— and the Atlantan who has not visited the civic art center at least once is a rarity— will readily grant that the heart of the institution is the exquisite memorial room, on the second floor. This room is a perpetual memorial to the late Mrs. Elizabeth High Goodrum, daughter of Mrs. J. M. High, who generously gave the museum to the city.

This room, containing the bed, antique furniture, cradle, tapestries and other relics of the childhood of the lovely woman who has passed on but whose memory still works its fragrant charm in the hearts of all who know her, is one of the most delightful spots in the south. It is redolent with the spirit of the old south and captures, better than any other shrine of the kind, the beautiful sentiment which brought it into being.

Only one thing has been lacking to make the room perfect. That is a worthy portrait of Mrs. Goodrum herself. Now, that lack is to be remedied.

For a portrait has been painted especially to be hung in the memorial room. It is the work of no less an artist than Charles Frederick Naegele. In his studio at his home in Cobb county, "Artcrest," he has taken photographs of Mrs. Goodrum and from them has created a work of art that breathes all the loveliness of the spirit of the living woman. A reproduction of the picture is carried in the rotogravure section of this edition of The Constitution.

It is, in every sense of the word, a marvelous painting. Privileged to view it last week it worked its magic effect to such extent that its beauty has haunted the mind and heart ever since. The work was unfinished, it is true, but it had progressed far enough to bear upon its strokes the impalpable touch of genius, to speak from the canvas with a lesson of true beauty commensurate with the life of love and sweetness which it will commemorate.

When the finished portrait is hung in the memorial room at the High Museum it will add one more to Atlanta's growing store of artistic gems which, some day, will be recognized as the most precious possessions of a rich and proud city.

ESSEX SUPER-SIX COACH WORTH $919

Notice the cartoon printed below. This contest consists of 30 such cartoons and each of the 30 represents the title of a motion picture. Your job is to correctly identify the title of the motion picture represented by each of the 30 cartoons. The Constitution prints one cartoon each day. Today's cartoon is the ninth of the 30. HOWEVER, YOU CAN SEE ALL 30 CARTOONS BEFORE YOU START. You can get them either by calling for same at the office of The Constitution, or by requesting same by mail.

There are three lists of prizes. See the lower left-hand corner of this page. The biggest prizes will be won by those who send in three new six months subscriptions with the answers. Other prizes are awarded for answers qualified by two new subscriptions, and you can win an automobile by qualifying your answers with merely one subscription.

No words to build. No number problems to solve. No letter to write. Neatness doesn't count.

TENTH STREET—"The Gay Retreat."
WEST END—"Not for Publication."

Erlanger.

With "Simba" at the Erlanger theater, patrons hear for the first time a marvelous sound picture device named the "Dulcetone." The synchronization and the talks by Martin Johnson are remarkable. The sound pictures have taken the country by storm and "Simba" is the first traveling roadshow to use it.

Of added interest is the personal appearance at each performance of Douglas Oliver, Atlanta Boy Scout, just returned from a trip to Africa with Mr. and Mrs. Johnson.

Loew's Capitol.

The ever-popular team of Dooley and Sales in "Dooley's the Name," is the headline attraction on the best vaudeville bill seen at Loew's Capitol theater this fall. Another unusually pleasing act is "White Way Gaieties", and a third is Goss and Barrows in a song and dance skit. Bill Day, popular recording star and the Worden Brothers, foot jugglers extraordinary, complete the bill. Buster Keaton is the star in "The Cameraman," and it is by far the best picture this comedian has produced in years.

Loew's Grand.

The beautiful romance, "Glorious Betsy," with Conrad Nagel and Dolores Costello, is the feature picture attraction at Loew's Grand theater being brought back to Atlanta for the first time at the new Loew's Grand scale of popular prices. This is the picture which recently appeared here in a record-breaking run. It is a romance based on the marriage of Betsy Patterson, Baltimore belle, and Jerome Bonaparte, brother of the great Napoleon.

Howard.

This week's entertainment at the Howard theater is shrouded in mystery, for they are presenting their second big "Taka Chance" show. The question arises—what is a "Taka Chance" show? The answer is this, patrons are asked to come down to the theater and "Taka Chance" on what they are going to see. The whole show is a secret and every unit is a surprise, but it is a safe bet that the Howard would not take any chances by presenting anything less than the best.

Metropolitan.

Joe Brown, former musical comedy star, is seen and heard this week at the Metropolitan in both the feature attraction and a Vitaphone comedy. The feature is the Photophone production "Hit of the Show," in which Gertrude Olmstead appears. "Dixie Days," another Vitaphone presentation, is also featured on the Met's program.

Rialto.

"Fazil," a passionate and stirring story of the romance of a handsome, daredevil prince of the desert for a beautiful, erotic Parisienne, is playing to large audiences this week at the Rialto theater. Greta Nissen, blonde and gorgeous, plays the leading feminine role, and Charles Farrell, of "Seventh Heaven" fame, plays the leading masculine part. A bill of Vitaphone vaudeville and Movietone talking news completes the current bill.

Alamo No. 2.

In Lou Tellegen's production "No Other Woman" the Fox Films production featuring Dolores Del Rio, Ben Bard and Don Alvarado, appearing at Alamo theater No. 2 today, only Dolores Del Rio is wearing modern fashionable gowns for the first time in pictures. Her wardrobe is estimated as having cost the producers $20,000.

Cameo.

Edward Connelly, famous portrayer of character roles, has one of his most interesting as the prime minister of a modern European kingdom in "Forbidden Hours," Ramon Novarro's new picture at the Cameo today and Thursday. Novarro plays a young king in a modern story of court intrigue.

Ponce de Leon.

Managers Davis and Swint, of the popular neighborhood house, the Ponce de Leon, offer today a big double bill. That is to say, two big separate feature photoplays. One, James Cruze's "On to Reno," starring Marie Prevost, a rip-roaring comedy of the divorce court at Reno—it's a comedy every married man and woman will relish. Also beautiful Joan Crawford and Ramon Novarro in "Rose Marie," a film filled with love, jealousy, hate and fun. It is one of the most lavishly produced out-of-doors pictures filmed in many years.

Tudor.

Jumping a horse from a standing start through plate-glass window, is a feat of horsemanship accomplished by Fred Thomson in his latest Paramount production, "The Sunset Legion," now showing at the Tudor theater. Fred rode Silver King, his famous horse, in this performance.

Empire.

"In Old Kentucky," a thrilling and romantic story of love, war and race horses, will be today's screen feature at the new Empire theater, corner of Georgia avenue and Crew street, with the leading roles played by charming Helene Costello and James Murray.

Miss Louise Smith Holding Spotlight At Ritz Night Club

Making her debut at the Ritz night club last Saturday night, Miss Louise Smith continues to afford a versatile series of entertainments for the patrons of this popular rendezvous.

In her performances thus far, the talented little dancer and singer has made a tremendous hit, and bids fair to establish a new high mark of popularity at the Ritz. Her song and dance numbers have been greeted with much applause.

Manager Miller's new headliner is a clever manipulator of the ukelele, playing her own accompaniments while dancing. Miss Smith is a most personable girl, and her appearances at the Ritz should continue to attract the customary large crowds.

Bob Robinson has been serving in capacity of master of ceremonies for the past three weeks and continues to put over the introductions in a most humorous and entertaining manner. The Ritz Harmany boys have a few additions to their excellent orchestra and continue to produce peppy dance music for entertainment of the guests. Other attractions have been arranged for this week's program and with the approach of cool weather it is expected that capacity crowds will visit the club.

Second 'Child Prodigy' Enters Freshman Class at Emory

:: WELDON B. ARCHER ONLY 14 YEARS OF AGE ::

BY C. M. McMILLAN.

Emory university boasts a second student "prodigy" enrolled in the freshman class of this year in Weldon B. Archer, of Chipley. Several weeks ago Harvey Hamff, son of Dr. C. F. Hamff, professor of German at Emory, was enrolled at the age of 14 years. This week, young Archer, son of Dr. M. S. Archer, of Chipley, entered the freshman class at Emory and boasts of years even tenderer than young Hamff's. He is eight days younger.

Freshman Archer, at the age when boys are usually just through with the first year of high school, enters Emory with a diploma from a grade "A" high school, his report card showing nothing but "A's" for his entire high school career. He finished last year as first honor graduate, defeating two girls in his class by a few points for the honor, his score being slightly better than 95 on all his work.

In addition to being the youngest boy at Emory, he is the smallest boy on the campus, standing five feet two inches tall, and weighing only 82 pounds. He says he has never been sick in his life and he likes all the sports that larger boys go out for. He is especially fond of tennis, which he has learned to play skillfully.

As further evidence of his fearless attitude toward books, Young Archer has entered the hardest course in the university curricultum—premedical work. He expects to spend three years getting his foundation for an M. D. degree, then he will study medicine proper for four years. He will thus become a full-fledged doctor at 21.

The young Emory freshman was a member of the senior class that won the state spelling championship last year, with a score five points higher than any other school in the state. Archer himself made a score of 99, missing only one word. That was "infringement," which he spelled with an "e" instead of with an "i." One of the girls in his class scored 100 for the first place.

Archer started to school like any other young boy, at the age of 6. His mother, formerly Miss Cora Brown, of Decatur, Ga., had begun teaching him early, however, and he was enabled to start his school career in the second. This early preparation permitted him to make both the second and third grades during his first year and he entered the fourth grade at the age of seven. The rest of his school life was a grade a year, thus terminating with the eleventh at the age of 14.

The young fellow says that he has never studied at night, though he expects to at Emory. He never studied hard, spending his after-school hours at his books, and then getting up at 6 o'clock in the morning to put in some final concentrated effort. He believes that is why it has been easy for him.

Benefit for Flood Victims To Offer Best Stage Talent

The proverbial "oddles of talent" will be available for the big midnight benefit show to be staged Friday night at Loew's Capitol theater for the benefit of flood sufferers for stricken Florida, it developed Tuesday when the local committee of theatrical managers began to discuss the elaborate program that is to be offered.

All the musicians of Atlanta who are members of the Atlanta Federation of Musicians have offered their services to the managers free of any compensation. This means that an unusually pretentious arry of musicians will be on hand to provide all kinds of music for the event. The stage employees and the motion picture operators have volunteered their services, and this means that the stage and scenic work and the motion picture operation will be in first-class hands.

As to performers they will be there in legions. From the Loew's Capitol bill will be available such stars as J. Francis Dooley and Corinne Sales, headliners, whose work is well and favorably known in Atlanta; the White Way Gaieties, a big dancing revue; Goss and Barrows, singers and dancers; Bill Day, popular radio recording star, and the Worden Brothers, foot jugglers extraordinary.

From Keith's Georgia will be available Marion Sunshine, gifted comedienne, and that popular fun-maker, Walter Brower, in his latest act; Lee Gail and company, dancers and gymnasts; Doran Duo, equilibrists, and Ossman and Schepp, banjoists.

An added attraction will be the singing program of Keller Sisters and Lynch, who are "laying off" in Atlanta this week due to a change in routings, and who scored heavily on the program at Loew's Capitol theater last week.

Numerous other attractions will be offered on the program which will last for something like two hours, which will cost only one dollar, and which will provide five or six dollars worth of entertainment.

Chief W. B. Cody, of the fire department, and Acting Chief A. Lamar Poole, of the police department, have consented for firemen and policemen to sell tickets for the benefit. Tickets also will be placed on sale in many downtown department stores and hotels. Every cent of the proceeds will be turned over to the flood sufferers.

EXCLUSIVE SOUND PICTURES PLANNED AT LOEW'S CAPITOL

Beginning next week Loew's Capitol theater will adopt a policy of presenting exclusive sound pictures under latest releases of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, it was announced Tuesday.

The first of these pictures will be "Dancing Daughters," which will be followed by "While the City Sleeps" with Lon Chaney and this will be followed by "Excess Baggage."

Installation of the Movietone and other apparatus needed to handle the sound pictures was completed Tuesday and the proper tests have shown that it is ideally adapted to Loew's Capitol theater.

The new policy means that Loew's Capitol will give each week a sound picture with all the sound features accompanying it; will offer a complete vaudeville bill with full orchestra accompaniment by Loew's Capitol concert orchestra under direction of Joseph Fulco, and also will offer musicial selections on the organ by G. L. Hamrick, popular organist.

BUYERS PAID DEARLY FOR COLORED ALCOHOL

Philadelphia, September 25.—(AP)—Prices prominent Philadelphians paid for liquor they believed imported but which the government says was merely colored alcohol were on record today in the federal court in the trial of Joel D. Kerper, so-called society bootlegger.

A chemist who tested some of the assortment seized when Kerper's place was raided last July said the whisky was colored alcohol and the gin distilled spirits with a gin flavor.

The government attorney said the liquor "was artificially colored so-called whisky, not pre-war stuff, but drinkable."

Gardner Cassatt, a banker, testified that he paid Kerper $70 or $75 a case for gin and $92 for champagne.

Charles Wheeler, banker and former polo player, said he paid about $70 a case for Scotch and Bacardi rum.

Cassatt and Wheeler were among those subpoenaed after prohibition agents had found a list of patrons when they raided Kerper's place of business.

Both bankers were accompanied to court by attorneys.

Harold V. Smith, a broker, testified he had been directed to obtain liquor for medicinal purposes for his mother, and that he asked Kerper to get some good champagne and French brandy. Two cases of this were delivered, he testified, and he paid $400.

ARKANSAS SOLONS IN SPECIAL SESSION AT GOVERNOR'S CALL

Little Rock, Ark., September 25.—(AP)—The Arkansas legislature met in extraordinary session today to consider a request for a $5,000,000 appropriation under the Martineau road law for new road work in 1928. Governor Harvey Parnell in issuing the call said there would be a halt in the construction program unless the additional funds were appropriated.

Other measures drafted for introduction included:

An optional toll bridge bill enabling the highway commission to issue bonds to build toll bridges in the state highway system, which would be made free when paid for. No bridge could be built which would require charging of tolls for more than 25 years to defray the expense of building and maintaining.

A bill which would prohibit granting of any private franchises for toll bridges on state highways.

Indications were that the special session would not last longer than ten days. The regular biennial session opens in January.

SEVEN MEN HURT WHEN ARKANSAS BRIDGE COLLAPSES

Black Rock, Ark., September 25. (AP)—Seven men were suffering from injuries today as a result of the collapse of a bridge over the Spring river near here late yesterday, less than a week before its completion was to have been celebrated.

As workmen were laying the last few planks of flooring one of the steel columns supporting the suspension cable suddenly crashed, hurtling ten workmen and a mass of the bridge work into the stream.

Engineers said none of the bridge could be salvaged. It was being built by Randolph and Lawrence counties and by private subscriptions and cost approximately $6,000. A celebration for its completion was to have been held next Saturday.

TAFT RETURNS

Chief Justice Studies Legislation Before Court for Early Docket.

Washington, September 25.—(AP)—Chief Justice Taft returned to Washington late today from his summer vacation to participate in a review of the condition of litigation in the federal courts throughout the country in advance of next Monday's meeting of the supreme court.

Tomorrow he will confer with federal judges from the nine circuits who will bring with the detailed reports on the condition on the dockets in their own circuits and full information concerning the business in the district courts in their circuits.

FLORIDA YOUNG MEN ORGANIZE FOR SMITH

Faded Scarecrow of Religion Has No Place in Politics, Says Head.

Jacksonville, Fla., September 25.—(AP)—Organization of a young men's democratic club of Florida, with units planned for various cities in the state, was announced here tonight by George Whitfield McRory, secretary of the state democratic executive committee.

William M. Pepper, Jr., of the Gainesville Sun, heads the organization as president, with Joe Sears, Jr., Kissimmee, vice president, and Frank H. Elmore, Jr., of this city, as secretary.

City clubs will be formed under the direction of regional chairmen, the state having been divided into nine divisions for the plan. Regional chairmen for all zones except those of Jacksonville, Orlando, Tampa and Lakeland have been named.

"The faded scarecrow of religious hatred and intolerance finds no place today in the young man's political creed," declared Pepper, in a statement tonight.

"Southern young men are aware of the rich heritage of the party of their fathers," he said. "They know its principles are as sound today as they were in the days of Jefferson and Jackson. They are proud of the honor which has been bestowed upon the section in the nomination of Senator Joseph T. Robinson on the ticket with Governor Smith. Fence straddling, red tape and pussy-footing must go. Smith has brought us a new and frank form of politics."

LEAGUE MOTION URGES DISARMAMENT

Geneva, September 25.—(AP)—Further steps toward disarmament must be accomplished with a minimum delay, said a resolution adopted by the assembly of the League of Nations today. The solemn pronouncement urged the great naval powers to find solutions, in spirit of conciliation and international solidarity, for the difficulties encountered.

The resolution, which was framed by the disarmament commission of the league, called for convocation of the preparatory disarmament commission by the beginning of 1929.

Joseph Paul-Boncour, French delegate, warned the assembly that if this commission failed to draw up an acceptable draft convention at that time, the result would be a catastrophe to league prestige and hopes.

"The league would be as a goddess despoiled of her crown," was the way he phrased it.

A "general act" designed to give force to the Kellogg pact for renunciation of war, was submitted by Nicholas Politis, noted Greek jurist. It would provide pacific settlement of all disputes by pledging its signatories to use conciliation, judicial procedure or arbitration in accordance with the needs of each case. All states would be invited to subscribe to this instrument.

M. Politis told the assembly that the Kellogg pact was an incomplete instrument in that it failed to provide for arbitration or mutual assistance among its signatories.

His "general act" was accompanied by model treaties of conciliation, arbitration, non-aggression and mutual assistance. All states were urged to negotiate and sign agreements of this nature.

Discussion on the measure probably will be resumed tomorrow. It is expected that the assembly will adjourn after that session.

SPEECH BY SMITH TO BE BROADCAST BY 31 STATIONS

New York, September 25.—(AP)—The radio bureau of the democratic national committee announced tonight that 31 stations would broadcast Governor Smith's St. Paul address on September 27 from 9 to 10 p. m., central standard time, including WEAF, New York; WRC, Washington; WCAE, Pittsburgh; WTAM, Cleveland; WWJ, Detroit; WSAI, Cincinnati; WGN, Chicago; WLIB, Chicago; KWK, St. Louis; WOC, Davenport; WHO, Des Moines; KOA, Denver; KSL, Salt Lake City; WOW, Omaha; WDAF, Kansas City; WCCO, Minneapolis-St. Paul; WTNJ, Milwaukee; KPO, San Francisco; KFI, Los Angeles; KGW, Portland, Ore.; KOMO, Seattle; KHQ, Spokane.

SEPTEMBER RAINS DAMAGE COTTON IN NORTH CAROLINA

Raleigh, N. C., September 25.—(AP) The cotton crop of North Carolina has been damaged 150,000 bales by September rains causing rottening of seed cotton in partially opened bolls, declared Dean I. O. Schaub, of State college, tonight after tabulating results of a survey made by county agents in the principal cotton countries of the state.

The amount of damage runs all the way from above five per cent in some counties to as high as 25 and 32 per cent in others with a general average of about 15 per cent for the state, the dean said. His information was secured by the agents counting 500 bolls on 10 different farms in different sections of each county.

LIFE TERM FOR BOOZE

Michigan Legger Sentenced to Life Under State's Baumes Law.

Ionia, Mich., September 25.—(AP)—The habitual criminal section of the state's new criminal code was invoked here today to send Alfred Noyes, 54, to prison under a life sentence when he pleaded guilty to a liquor law violation.

It was the second time since adoption of the new code that a man has been given a life sentence in Michigan for violating the liquor law. Noyes had been convicted three times previously on larceny charges. A fourth felony is punishable by life imprisonment under the code.

RADIO-ING THE AIR WAVES

BY THE DIAL TWISTER.

"Princess Pat," a comic opera by Victor Herbert, will be presented as the Philco hour feature, starring Jessica Dragonette and Colin O'More, through WSB and the NBC system, at 7 o'clock tonight.

The book and lyrics of the operetta were written by Henry Blossom, and it was first produced in New York in 1915.

In Act I, in the garden of General Holbrook's home on Long Island, luncheon guests are awaited. General

Jessica and Colin.

Holbrook is in financial difficulties, and his daughter, Grace Holbrook, to restore the family fortunes, will marry the multi-millionaire, Anthony Schmalz, Sr.

Act II, in the living room in General Holbrook's house, finds Prince Toto and Schmalz, Sr., admiring the paintings. Princess Pat sings the "Neapolitan Love Song." Darrow enters as Schmalz asks for his son, Tony. Schmalz sings "I Wish I Were an Island in an Ocean of Girls." Prince Toto has a short, jealous scene with his wife, and Princess Pat sings "I Need Affection." Tony returns and plays the piano a little. Grace, mistaking him for the valet, gives him a gold piece. He plays a dazzling fox-trot to earn this fee, when the sheriff again arrives to arrest the owner of the car, old Schmalz.

In Act III, the smoking room of the Westmoreland Country club, Prince Toto is restrained from a quarrel with Schmalz. Grace informs Schmalz that she is unhappy, to remedy which, the old man offers her an unlimited wardrobe. Tony, after the departure of his father, tries to console Grace with the information that his father has been tricked into a romance with the Princess Pat to leave the way clear for Grace and himself, Tony, to escape. She can still become Mrs. Schmalz, but Mrs. Schmalz, Jr. "A Little World for Two" is sung.

The radio political campaign of the presidential candidates will wax interesting today. Foremost on the air over WSB will be Franklin D. Roosevelt, who placed Governor Smith in nomination at Houston. His address in Atlanta tonight will go on the air starting at 8:30 o'clock.

Other political broadcasts will be: 9:30 to 10 o'clock this morning, democratic campaign talk.

10 to 10:15 o'clock this morning, republican campaign talk.

For the second time since their return from abroad, the Palmolive Revelers will be heard in selections which they sang in the Paris Folies Bergere during the Palmolive hour to be broadcast over WSB and the NBC system at 7:30 o'clock tonight. These two songs will be "Hot" from "Ups-a-Daisy" and the negro melody "Comin' Home."

Olive Palmer's solos will be "Come Unto These Yellow Sands" and Pierre's "Le Moulin," while she will be heard with Paul Oliver in "The Boy I Love." Alone, the tenor will sing "Tonight You Belong to Me."

Director Gustave Haenschen's orchester numbers are Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Excerpts from Caucasian Sketches" and "Golliwogg's Cakewalk," and the Palmolive Ensemble will sing "Chalita," "I Loved You Then as I Love You Now" and "Swanee Echoes."

There will be the customary guitar and saxophone specialties, a woodwind novelty and a bass solo, "Dusky Stevedore," accompanied by the orchestra and ensemble.

The program follows:

The first of the new winter series of Home Companion hours will be broadcast thorugh WSAI and the NBC system at 6 o'clock tonight.

This regular series brings back to the air former favorites of the radio audience, including the popular Postscript Man and the Home Companion players. The latter will present in each event a radio dramatization of stories appearing in the current issues of the Woman's Home Companion. The vocal and orchestral music during the period will be carefully chosen as an appropriate setting for the whole presentation.

Lucien Kirsch, noted 'cellist, will be guest artist with the Sylvania Foresters during the program to be broadcast through KDKA and the NBC system at 8:30 tonight.

Mr. Kirsch will contribute Glazounow's "Melodie Arabe," reminiscent of the mystic east; and "Serenade Espagnole," showing the same composer in a different mood, in which he writes romantic themes of Spanish chivalry.

After their customary opening, "In the Gloaming and Sylvania Song," the Sylvania Foresters, a male quartet, will sing Barnby's "Sweet and Low," which remains one of the best and most popular part-songs of all time. "The Rosary" by Ethelbert Nevin, will be presented as a quartet number, in addition to "Deep River," the negro spiritual arranged by Harry T. Burleigh; "Think of Me Thinking of You," by Weinbrow; and Schertzinger's "Chalita."

Bach, Handel, Haydn, Giordani, Lully and Mozart are the composers whose works will be heard in the next in the series of programs known to the radio audience as "Long, Long Ago." The program is to be broadcast at 7 o'clock through the Columbia system tonight.

Featured in this program are soprano, tenor and baritone soloists, assisted by a large symphony orchestra.

The orchestra will open the concert with Bach's "Brandenburg Concerto No. 2, in F major," and conclude it with the finale from Mozart's Jupiter symphony in C major. "Sound an Alarm" from Handel's "Judas Maccabeus," is to be sung by the tenor; Giordani's "Caro Mio Ben," by the soprano; and Lully's "Bois Epais" by the baritone.

Something novel in the way of a musical combination will be offered for the approval of the radio audience in the United Military band program to be heard through the Columbia system at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

It is a combination of the wind instruments of the band, and even the selection which is to be played is about a woodwind, the flute. Mozart wrote an opera entitled "The Magic Flute," and it is the overture to this opera which has been chosen by the United Military band's woodwind octet for this program.

The United Military band will open the broadcast with Arthur Pryor's "Spirit of the Purple," and bring the concert to a close with Meacham's "American Patrol."

The complete program:

March: "Spirit of the Purple".....Pryor
Overture: Pique Dame .....Suppe
Simple Aveu .....Thome
Waltz: Lure of the Night .....Braham
Canzonetta .....Herbert
March: Twenty-Second Regiment ..Herbert
United Military Band.
Overture to the Magic Flute.....Mozart
American Patrol .....Meacham
United Military Band.

Eddie Cantor and Robert Benchley will be the prominent stars of the "Will Rogers for President" rally to be broadcast through the courtesy of the Kolster Radio corporation, and sponsored by Life magazine, at 8 o'clock tonight through the Columbia system.

At this time a congressional minstrel show will occupy the time devoted to the furtherance of Will Rogers' campaign for president.

Eddie Cantor and Robert Benchley as end men will end all doubt in the mind of the radio audience about fun in government, and Will Rogers for president. Bert Kalmar and Harry Ruby, noted Broadway song writers, are collaborating in special musical compositions to be heard at this time.

The Cap'n and his Buccaneers will be on the air again tonight at 8:30 o'clock through the Columbia system.

If the Cap'n's men are successful in capturing the talent which the "terrible old cuss" has ordered that they bring before the microphone, a very novel and interesting program will be presented for the entertainment of the radio audience.

Cards Battle 15 Innings To Defeat Robins; Giants Win

1-Run Rally Wins, 4 to 3, For Leaders

Brooklyn Battles St. Louis Stubbornly But Is Unable To Bring Birds Down.

Brooklyn, N. Y., September 25.—(AP) The Cardinals carried a stubborn fight through to a successful conclusion in 15 tense innings here today, defeating Brooklyn by 4 to 3 for their third straight trump.

By their victory the Red Birds escaped falling into a tie for the lead with the Giants, who nosed out Cincinnati by 4 to 3.

Wee Willie Shedel went the route for McKechnie's men and kept Brooklyn's 11 hits so scattered that he seldom was in danger. The Cardinals got only ten safeties off Douglas McWeeny and Watson Clark, but Del Bissonette started Clark to his downfall in the 15th by fumbling Rabbit Maranville's grounder with one gone. Sherdel then sacrificed and Douthit delivered the winning hit, a Texas league double which feel at Max Carey's feet just a few inches from his outstretched glove.

Sherdel would have won in the regulation distance but for Hafey's error in the eighth. This permitted Carey to take an extra base on a single and put him in a position to score the tieing run on Bissonette's one-bagger.

The Cardinals got all of their runs except the winning markers by bunching hits on McWeeney in the third. The Robins launched a sudden attack for a pair in the fifth, moved into a tie in the eighth as related, and then plunged into a long extra-inning fight with the leaders.

TIGERS TRIM FORT BENNING BY 23-0 COUNT

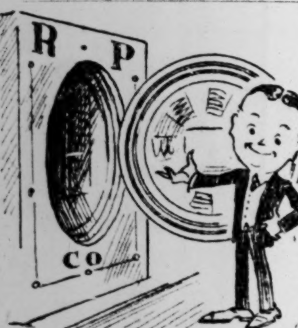

Auburn, Ala., September 25.—The Auburn Tigers completely out-blocked and out-tackled the strong Fort Benning team from Columbus, Ga., today to send them back scoreless while the Tigers stored away 23 points to win by a safe margin.

Never has there been so many good backfield men in the Tiger camp since the days of Shirling and Shiver.

These backs did everything that a team should do in the line of passing. The game was one long thrill, first a series of passes and then a beautiful 30-yard run by Tuxworth for the first touchdown. Then Sellers, the Tigers' hard-hitting fullback, later on in the game ploughed through the center of the line, cut back to the side line, put on full speed ahead and sidestepped the last man on the field for the second touchdown. The last few minutes of play saw Coach Bohler getting Snider warmed up. Then he sent him in and on the second play that he was in the students rose barely in time on the bleachers to see this speed demon sprint 60 yards for the final touchdown of the day.

On an exchange of kicks the Tigers were unable to gain any yardage so they called on Ingram, alternate captain and end, to place kick from the 20-yard line. His boot carried it beautifully through the bars to finish up the scoring for the day.

The soldier boys were only able to put over three first downs while the Tigers netted 14. Callahan, Sellers and Snider were easily the outstanding backs for the Plainsmen, while the entire line made a creditable showing. This will be the last scrimmage for the Tigers until they meet the Birmingham Southern boys in Montgomery Friday night, where they will open up their schedule for the 1928 season.

East Lake Tourney To Start Friday

Play in the championship tournament at East Lake will begin on Friday of this week with qualifying rounds scheduled for that day and Saturday.

Following qualifying match play will begin Monday. Two rounds will be played each week. The finals match in the championship flight will be for 36 holes.

A large number of the club's golfers are expected to enter the tournament in pursuit of the crown won last year by Watts Gunn.

Sig Haugdahl Takes Crack At Collins

Canadian Racer Got Lucky Break in His Victory, Says Track Champ.

Sig Haugdahl, five-time champion of the world and idol of southern speed fans, stopped in Atlanta last night long enough to let loose a few Nordic lashes directed towards the broadcasting of his defeat Monday at Springfield by Emory "Spunk" Collins, Canadian champion.

"Collins had a lucky break getting away from the flag," the little Norwegian contended, "and there is no disputing the fact that he has a fast automobile. He had luck with him at the start and nobody could head him off. However, I don't think he is entitled to a lot of publicity for his feat, because he could never do it again. With an even break at the flag, I can beat him seven days a week."

Says He Is Afraid.

He added that he does not believe Collins will come to Atlanta for the auto races which will be run at the Southeastern fair next week, and that the little Irish-Canadian will be satisfied to stay up in Canada or along the border where he can "cash in" on a reputation of having beaten Haugdahl.

Haugdahl's contention seemed to be borne out in a wire from Collins to race officials, in which he said that he is entered for a meet next week at Cleveland, but added that he will cancel his entry there if possible and come to Atlanta. While some of the officials took this as meaning that Collins does not again want to face Haugdahl, they sent him a wire and another to the Cleveland officials, asking that Collins' entry be cancelled so that he may start here.

Collins, a youngster but with four years' driving experience, is a dashing, daring type of driver, according to all reports, and if he shows any of the speed he has shown to win important northern events, would be a favorite with Atlanta fans if he starts here.

Leading Pilots Here.

Haugdahl, en route to his Daytona Beach home for a few days with his family before he comes to Atlanta, was elated over prospects for the six-day speed meet at the fair—the first six-day meet ever held at a fair in America. Many of the foremost pilots are planning to come to Atlanta, he said, and the meet should have the greatest field ever started in the south.

Officials in the meantime are working on other assured entries and on the programs for the week, in which they expect to give the fans the greatest series of thrillers ever flagged on an American track.

JACKETS GET ANOTHER DOSE OF NEW PLAYS

BY HERBERT CLARE.

Coach Alexander continued his policy of bringing his team to a gradual peak by sending the boys through a session slightly stiffer than Monday's schedule but still somewhat short of a hard workout on Grant field Tuesday afternoon. The climax toward which he is working is a scrimmage to take place in the latter part of the week in which the rat team will take over the post occupied at present by the Gray Devils on the receiving end of whatever punishment is to be meted out.

The squad still has a tired look, slightly lacking in real fight. The fumbling habit has somewhat lost its hold on the ball toters, and passes were connecting with more frequency than in the last two workouts, but the Techsters have a long and hard road to travel before they are eligible to be called another Golden Tornado. The defensive department of the grid game was brought to the attention of the lads who are sporting the gold jerseys, with the Gray Devils running most of the plays which got under way during the practice, and the three ranking teams splitting the time and doing the stopping job. All the lines showed real strength on several occasions, but brought forth the wrath of the master minds several times when they opened wide to let the backfield understudies through for long runs.

Several more new plays were presented to the squad in the preliminary signal drill, and these were sent against the Devils once or twice by each of the first-string lineups. None of the teams were able to gain much ground on these new maneuvers, but this may usually be expected until the newness wears off.

Kid Clay's freshmen are working hard in preparation for their initial appearance on the varsity lot, and went through a scrimmage of their own on the upper field in the closing moments of their session.

Contos Looks For Big Year In Wrestling

Matchmaker Is Busy Seeking Behemoths for Show Here on October 9.

Hoping to start off his fourth fall season with a bang, John Contos, promoter of wrestling events, Tuesday was busying himself dispatching wires to the various and sundry wrestlers over the country in an effort to arrange for three big matches for the night of October 9.

As in the past, the city auditorium will be the scene of most of this winter's bouts.

Among those eagerly sought by Contos for his first show is George Kotsonaros, the Greek actor-wrestler, who has appeared in innumerable films and on the mat is regarded as a coming champion. During his tour of the country recently completed in which he visited a number of grapplers, Contos got the promise of Kotsonaros to return to Atlanta this winter in a match or perhaps two against worthy opponents. He won his only appearance here, which was a couple of years ago.

Contos has been in touch lately with Dick Daviscourt, Paul Jones, Toots Mondt, Strangler Lewis and other well known grapplers, attempting to interest them in the October 9 card. He expects to have an attractive program of one two-hour match and two one-hour affairs.

"I confidently believe that this season will be the best yet," said John. "Atlanta likes wrestling of a high order and will turn out for it. I intend to bring in none but the very best, including the champion, Lewis, and the ex-champion, Stecher, as well as all the brightest stars. For the first time Atlanta fans will have a chance to see such men as Rudy Dusew, John Pesek and Bull Montana."

Contos revealed that Jimmy Londos, the Greek challenger, is now in Europe but will return shortly to begin another campaign that he hopes will land him at the top of the heavyweight heap.

SAM MANDELL BADLY BEATEN BY GOODRICH

Flint, Mich., September 25.—(AP)—Jimmy Goodrich, of Buffalo, scored a technical knockout over Sammy Mandell, lightweight champion, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round non-titular boxing contest here tonight. Mandell suffered a broken collar bone in the initial session and was unable to continue.

Articles of agreement for the fight provided that Goodrich must weigh in over the lightweight limit of 135 pounds and as a result Mandell's title was not involved. Goodrich weighed in at 140 pounds.

Mandell finished the round, pecking away feebly with his right but was unable to respond to the bell for the second.

Dr. F. L. Tupper, physician of the state boxing commission, was called into the ring and after an examination ordered the referee to stop the contest.

Referee Elmer McClelland, after ordering the bout halted, left the ring without rendering a verdict but was recalled when the crowd of close to 20,000 fans roared its displeasure.

McClelland then declared Goodrich winner on a technical knockout.

Goodrich succeeded Benny Leonard to the lightweight throne and lost the title to Rocky Kansas. The latter was in turn defeated by Mandell.

The Buffalo veteran and Mandell fought once before. In this encounter Mandell lost on a foul, the only contest he has ever forfeited in that manner.

Medical Tourney Starts Here Today

Qualifying rounds for the annual golf championship of the Fulton Medical society will get under way today with a large field seeking the title. The qualifying round was first planned for Brookhaven but the committee decided to let the entrants use any course they choose. Matches also can be played on any course selected by the contestants but the finals in all flights will be played over the Brookhaven links. October 11 is the day set for the final matches.

Army Eleven Looks Strong For '28 Season

BY F. G. VOSBURGH,
Associated Press Sports Writer.

West Point, N. Y., September 24. (AP)—Although it has yet to strike a blow the 1928 Army football team shapes up on paper and on the practice field as one of the most powerful elevens that ever tackled a heavyweight schedule.

Of the 11 men who started the winning battle against the Navy last fall in what apparently was the last service game for some time to come, seven remain to carry on against the great array of six major and four comparatively minor opponents which have been scheduled for this campaign.

The four first-string vacancies left by graduation have been effectually filled by members of last year's plebe team of former substitutes and Head Coach "Biff" Jones is quite ready to admit that his main job is that of developing reserves.

Three Teams.

"When you tackle a schedule like ours," said Jones, "you can't rely upon just one team. I have to have three distinct teams. It takes a squad of about 35 men, all of them in good condition and of varsity calibre, to satisfy me."

Although Jones, as always, will lay great stress upon his second and third lines of defense, he makes no secret of the fact that his seven veterans will form the spear-head against such formidable opponents as Southern Methodist, Harvard, Yale, Notre Dame, Nebraska and Stanford. The Army season opens here Saturday against Boston university.

"Biff" Jones was an Army lineman in his day. His nickname is descriptive of the way he used to charge. So it is only natural that this year, as in other years, a great deal of the strength of his team will be found in that forward wall.

Its foundation stones are at the tackles where Captain Mort Sprague, the 216-pound Texan who has been all-American for the last two years, and George Perry, his 207-pound running mate from Pennsylvania, again hold forth.

Strong Guard.

A third line veteran is Louis Hammack, a guard with the strength of a gorilla. The big Virginian, captain of the Cadet wrestling team, carries his 186 pounds with the speed of a lightweight.

Except for the loss of "Lighthorse" Harry Wilson, whose place will be filled by Charley Allan, of Tampa, Fla., a former Virginia Military Institute athlete, the first string backfield will be unchanged from last year. "Spike" Nave, the scrappy little quarterback, will be running the team with John Murrel, burly Iowan, again at fullback.

The shining light of the regular quartet is "Red" Cagle, the curley-headed streak from Louisiana, who will pair with Allan at halfback. Cagle will do most of the passing and kicking and any other little chore, such as playing will o' the wisp through a broken field with the ball tucked under his arm.

The Scourge of the City Room Blasts All Hopes for the Barons in the Series

—BY BEN COTHRAN—

The office boy bustled in suffering from the delusion that he was singing.

Straight at us he headed and stopping at our desk yelped, "Say."

Reaching for our pocket-book, cigarettes, matches and finding them intact we breathed easily and returned with, "Well, what do you want?"

"Birmingham and Houston," he said, "are beginning their series tomorrow." (This being a morning newspaper, we were attacked on Tuesday night.)

"You're right for once, but what of it?"

"Well, I'm gonna hand you the right dope. You got all flustered here about a week ago and said the Chicks would take the Barons for a ride in the country while these Barons was chokin' to death. Well, tell the boys and girls this. In hitting and everything but pitching the Barons have got it all over Houston like a dollar over a dime but they're way behind in pitching and that's what'll win this series. Gimme a cigarette."

Having raided a new pack and getting enough to supply several brothers, this font of wisdom continued to flow.

"Houston," he remarked, "has got four pitchers that've won 20 games or more. How many you got like that in the Southern. Or to be more specificate, how many lik that has Birmingham got? They got one. Eddie Wells. He's won 25, which is a lot of ball games. But still them Buffaloes has Hallahan—and he's just as good or better than this Wells guy—Lindsey, Penner and Barnes, all of 'em over 20 games won. And they ain't but three pitchers in the whole Southern league that've done that—Wells, of Birmingham; Glazner, of Mobile, and Kelly, of Memphis. Let's see you throw that on the floor.

About Mr. Hallahan.

"And when this Wild William Hallahan gets through with the Barons tomorrow, they'll maybe know something. Houston has got the boys what can throw that rock, and that's what it takes."

All that had come forth with the force of a Florida storm. We gulped and managed to inquire: "But what about this club batting average of .333 for Birmingham against one of .289 for Houston? Doesn't that seem indicative of something approaching batting power?"

"Oh, yeah, but what good's a .333 battin' average do you when a guy throws the ball so's you can't hit it. This Hallahan has pitched 276 innings and they've made just exactly 194 hits, which ain't many. About seven hits a game, it is. Wells has pitched 290 innings and these boys in the Southern banged 294 hits off him. Think o' that for a while. Oh, I know my statistics, I do. Anyhow, you look at that table you got in the paper."

"But, still you haven't gotten around the fact that the Barons have compiled this terrible batting average," we ventured. That mass of figures had almost sent us under.

The Rabbit Ball.

"Oh, fury. You make me so tired. Just look at the ball they've used in the Southern this year. That Carr ball's got a nest of little rabbits in it, and ever time somebody hits it, them rabbits get goin' and carry the ball just that much farther. And when the Barons get to Texas they ain't goin' to have that kind of ball. And they play three games out there. It's the pitching that's going to win this series and them Buffaloes got it."

Well, there's nothing we can do about it. Patriotic to a fault, this correspondent had vainly endeavored to find some hope for Birmingham, but the shining light quashed all of our hopes. So it seems that all left for the Barons to do is go through the motions for four games and come back defeated.

But you never can tell. We'll always believe there's something in a batting average. This pitching staff of Houston's looks imposing, no doubt about it. It should be an interesting series.

Ninth-Inning Spurt Beats Tourists, 4-3

Lions Rally at Last Minute To Win and Take Lead in Title Series.

Montgomery, Ala., September 25.—(AP)—Strategy that failed to click Monday panned out successfully today and the Montgomery Lions worked themselves to within one game of the class "B" championship after putting on a spirited ninth-inning rally and defeating the Asheville Tourists, Sally league champions, 5 to 3.

It was a magnificent comeback for Ed Lauzon, Lion infielder who Monday was sent in to pinch hit in the ninth and stepped into a double play with two runners on. Faced with the same situation today he sent out a triple that scored two runners, tying the score and a moment later scored the winning run on a sacrifice.

The Tourists hopped on Ralph Stewart's curve ball in the fourth and scored two runs. Lennox, first up, singled and went to third when Watson duplicated. Ben Chapman singled, scoring Lennox and Watson advanced to third. Keyes hit to Holt but was safe when Bates dropped the ball on an attempted double play, Watson scoring. The next Tourist tally came in the eighth when Seremba threw Lennox's grounder low to first, allowing the runner to make second. He scored on Cooke's single. Seremba was hurt on the play and was replaced by Lauzon.

The Lions scored one run in the fourth with a double by Johnny Bates, second sacker, and Rodrigues' single. The tying runs were scored in the ninth with one man down when Holt and Palm singled and Lauzon tripled. Lauzon scored on a squeeze play when Harris bunted toward first base.

PIRATES WIN EASILY.

Boston, September 25.—Pittsburgh defeated Boston, 13 to 8, in a loosely played game here today. The visitors scored eight runs in the first three innings off Greenfield and off Edwards, who relieved him.

Hemsley and Brame, the Pirates' battery, made seven of the 17 hits which rained off the visitors bats.

PHILS TRIM CUBS.

Philadelphia, September 25.—The Philadelphia Nationals' latest losing streak, which had reached 12 in a row, was broken today when the Chicago Cubs fell before the tail-enders, 5 to 2.

Home runs over the right field wall by Chuck Klein in the second and by Williams in the seventh assured victory.

Williams' came with Hurst on first.

Both Sheriff Blake and Claude Willoughby were hit hard but the Phillies' pitcher was stronger in the pinches and did not issue a pass.

Klein, Williams and Riggs Stephenson all got three hits, while Pinkey Whitney flagged four.

It's kinda tough eggs when a lad has all the makin's of a great football player from his feet clear to the bridge of his nose and then has to wear a thing like the mask pictured below in order that he may see as big a thing as a football.

That's what Harold Faisst, youthful star at Georgia Tech will be forced to do this year when he romps in the backfield of the Golden Tornado. Harold is as fine a ball-carrier as Tech has seen in many a day, but he is suffering under a handicap more serious than most of the fans who watch him in practice can imagine.

Many a man with Harold's handicap would not even attempt to play football and a lot of them would fail if they did try. But the little fellow is a fighter and makes up to some extent for his defective vision by his super-abundance of fighting spirit and natural ability to play football. He senses a lot of things he fails to see.

Two years ago as a freshman, Faisst made a name for himself and last year his few chances at play with the varsity last season proved him to be a valuable man. When the light is good on bright days Harold has no need for his goggled headgear, but when it is dark he can't see the ball. Tests show both eyes to be faulty. One shows 40 per cent vision and the other 10 per cent, according to Coach Don Miller, who trains the backfield at Tech.

Just how much Harold will use the strange headgear depends largely upon the weather and how much the coaches see fit to use him. The trick gear cost the authorities of Tech a tidy sum. The glasses in the two sockets are fitted to Harold's eyes just as his reading glasses are and they are of unshatterable glass to guard against eye injuries. The efficiency of the headgear is questionable when worn by a backfield man because it shuts out all side vision. For a lineman it would be very efficient.

Harold Faisst in his especially constructed headgear.

SENATORS WIN AGAIN.

Chicago, September 25.—The Washington Senators took a firmer hold on fourth place in the American league when they defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3 to 0, today in the final game of the season between the two clubs. The Senators' victory gave them two of the three games of the current series.

Extra base hits proved the undoing of "Red" Faber, who started for the Sox and his successor, Young Ed Walsh. In the third Goslin hit a home run and Judge followed with a single, scoring on Bluege's double. Cronin and Rice put together two triples in the ninth to score the third run.

Only Mostil and Shires were successful against Jones, the two Sox lead off men getting six of the seven hits.

Cincinnati Gets Lead on Giants But Cannot Stave Off Ninth Inning Rally.

New York, September 25.—(AP)—A spirited rally for two runs in the ninth marked by a Cincinnati protest that fans interfered with Joe Stripp's fielding of a batted ball, enabled the Giants to nose out the Reds by a score of 4 to 3 in the final game of the series here today, and so keep pace one game behind the leading Cardinals, who defeated Brooklyn by 4 to 3 in 15 innings.

Going into the ninth trailing by 2 to 3, John McGraw sent O'Farrell to bat in Scott's place, and Bob responded by coaxing out the only pass Eppa Rixey gave the home forces. O'Doul replaced Farrell as a runner, only to be forced by Welsh, but the former Boston Brave dashed home with the tieing run on Andy Reese's triple to right.

Stripp did not immediately field the drive but tried instead to direct attention of the umpires to spectators in the right-field sector. He contended that a fan deflected the ball preventing him from catching it, but the protest, joined in by several other Cincinnati players, availed nothing.

The Red infield then moved in on the grass to try to cut off Reese at the plate but Mann drove a single past Dressen, scoring Reese with the winning run.

It was Andy Cohen day at the Polo grounds, and the giant infielder received a check for $1,500 from the Knights of Pythias. Mayor Walker was to have made the presentation, but failed to arrive at the park until the second inning.

Houston and Birmingham Open Series in Slagtown Today

Defending Champion Eliminated in Woman's Golf Tourney

Eddie Wells And Hallahan To Go On Hill

Texas and Southern Flag Winners To Play First Two Games in Birmingham.

Birmingham, Ala., September 25.—(AP)—Manager Johnny Dobbs, of the Birmingham Barons, administered a dose of "old south" hospitality to prevent a slight attack of peevishness among members of the Houston Buffaloes today, and the cure was pronounced complete as the teams completed last-minute preparations for opening the Dixie series tomorrow to decide the unofficial baseball championship of the south.

The Texans experienced their first attack of the ailment when they found the Barons working out in their own bailiwick, and were denied admission. In the ensuing huddle between representatives of the contending forces, the way to a practice diamond in Ensley, a suburb, was pointed out. But no sooner than the visitors' state of mind was learned by Dobbs than his invitation was extended and accepted.

All Wrinkles Ironed Out.

The Barons, their spokesmen said, were under the impression they were to be accorded similar treatment when they reach Houston for the third and fourth games of the seven-game series. This impression, however, was dissipated by spokesmen for the Texans, and all ruffled feelings were clamed.

The Buffaloes, winners of three out of four games over the Wichita Falls Spuds, to cop the Texas league pennant, were a classy assortment of ball players as they disported themselves on the Baronial front in the course of limbering up exercises. Not a man is missing from the line-up, and "Wild Bill" Hallahan, who won two of the games chalked up against Wichita Falls in the Texas league championship series, is primed for duty tomorrow.

On the other hand the Barons are contending they are no bargain and the fans in singing their praises point to three straight wins over the Memphis Chicks for the Southern pennant after the Tennesseans had won 18 straight games to emerge at the top of the heap in the second half. With the exception of Bill Morrell, the pitcher who is out with an injured hand, the Barons themselves are presented a united front and are determined to bring the Dixie bunting to a Southern loop park and incidentally Alabama for the first time since the Mobile Bears licked Fort Worth, half a dozen years ago. To say that the Barons are hopeful if not downright confident, would be putting it mildly.

Wells vs. Hallahan.

Twenty-four hours in advance of the opening of the game, it appeared as though Eddie Wells, hero of the Birmingham-Memphis series, would get the nod from Manager Dobbs, to oppose Hallahan. Wells, like Hallahan, is a southpaw. He has won 25 of the 32 contests he engaged in during the season to Hallahan's 23 out of 34.

The weather man's prediction of more baseball weather for tomorrow sent box office anticipations up to the 14,000 attendance mark. The park will accommodate that many persons with the extra bleachers erected.

VIN RICHARDS AND KOZELUH IN 2ND ROUND

Forest Hills, N. Y., September 25.—(AP)—The two favorites, Vincent Richards, of New York, and Karel Kozeluh, of Czecho-Slovakia, champions of the United States and Europe, had an easy time on the opening day of the first championship staged by the newly organized Professional Lawn Tennis Association of the United States. Richards, winner of last year's informal tournament, reached the second round today by default when his opponent, Vladimir Terentieff, of Russia, failed to appear, while Kozeluh lost only one game in his first round match with John Collom, of Baltimore.

Only a handful of spectators braved the cold weather to watch the opening day's matches. When the tournament got under way only about 50 persons were in the stadium.

The European star played the same perfect defensive game that defeated Richards last Sunday in the final match of their series for the world's championship, defeating Collom, 6-1, 6-0, 6-0.

Seeded Stars Advance.

All of the six seeded players who saw action today reached the second round and only one was carried beyond three sets. James Kenney, of Newport, battled to the limit to defeat Valeria Yavorsky, of Russia, 2-6, 10-8, 11-9, 4-6, 6-3. Charles Wood, of White Plains, N. Y., eliminated the English entry, William G. Standing, 6-4, 6-2, 6-0. George Agutter, of the West Side club, defeated James Reid, of New York, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, and Paul Heston, of New York, defeated Otto Gloeckler, of Germany, 6-1, 6-1, 6-4. Howard Kinsey and Harvey Snodgrass, seeded stars from California, drew first round byes.

Yankees, A's Keep in Step By Winning

Hugmen Batter Cleveland, 10-1, as Athletics Beat Browns by 9 to 5.

Cleveland, September 25.—(AP)—The Yankees marched another long mile toward the 1928 pennant by routing the Cleveland Indians by 10 to 1 in the rubber game of the series here today. Even though the Athletics defeated the Browns by 9 to 5 in St. Louis the Yankees held their lead of two games and moved into a position where they can clinch the flag with three more victories.

Old Tom Zachary, the Washington orphan, won his third victory for the champions, holding the Redskins at bay all afternoon. He gave up only eight hits and was in small danger of being scored upon at any time, until Joe Sewell and Hodapp bunched doubles in the eighth after Tom had a lead of ten runs.

The Yankees pounded George Grant from the mound under a 6-run barrage in the first inning and scored from time to time on Billy Bayne, who succeeded him.

Babe Ruth was forced to retire from the game in the sixth when his injured left knee began to bother him again. Durst took Ruth's place in right field. Tony Lazzeri also gave way to his understudy, Leo Durocher, a little later. The third Yankee cripple, Mark Koenig, played through the game.

The Indians added three double plays to their record, which again is rivaling that of the Cincinnati Reds, dual league leaders.

The Yankees scoring was closed out in the eighth with a three-run assault capped by Lou Gehrig's 25th home run of the season with one man on base.

ATHLETICS TRIM KID BROWNS, 9-5.

St. Louis, September 25.—(AP)—The Athletics kept pace with the Yankees today when they defeated the Browns, 9 to 5. Ogden started for the Browns, but was replaced by Coffman, who was hit freely. Blaeholder finished on the mound for St. Louis. Earnshaw started for the Macks, but was replaced by Walberg.

Golf Course Experts Will Attend Meet Here

Three of America's outstanding figures in the construction of golf courses will be in Atlanta Friday and will attend a meeting at the Ansley Park Golf club to confer with those interested in the building of Atlanta's new course, the Colonial club on Peachtree road near the Seaboard railroad.

The men are A. Tillinghast, specialist in golf course design; Arthur D. Peterson, specialist in seeding and construction of greens and who is given credit for the bringing to America of Harry Vardon and Ted Ray, famous British golfers, and Bob Hayes, noted for his work in the actual building of course. The three have built some of the outstanding courses in America, notably Baltursol, Olympic Fields and Winged Foot.

The eeting will be held under the direction of Harris Ansley, one of the backers of the new course, at Ansley Park Golf club Friday night at 7 o'clock.

The Sportlight

by Grantland Rice

WANTED—A FEW THRILLERS.

Sport may have developed more all around efficiency of late than it knew around 1924 or 1925—but where are its thrill makers? In that former period football had a Red Grange—the ring had Jack Dempsey—tennis had Bill Tilden and Lenglen—baseball had Ruth and Ty Cobb.

Of these, only Ruth remains in action. Golf still has Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen. There are certain personalities that catch and hold. Lacoste is one of the greatest of all tennis players—but no particular magnet. Polo has missed Milburn a lot—but it still has Hitchcock and Lacey.

The thrill makers are always scarce. They must, first of all, have ability. They must also carry a distinct personality to the field. And they must be stars on the offensive side—not the defensive. Defensive skill is highly important—but it is rarely spectacular. Nothing could be drearier than the meeting of two fine defensive machines—individuals or teams.

Grange carried the ball—and he carried it. Cobb was always storming for the home plate. Dempsey's sole idea was to close in and plant a knockout. Tilden went into action with dash and power—always operating as a point maker—not a point saver.

There's a young man at Dartmouth named Marsters who may be well worth watching along this line—provided his line can give him his chance.

Weight Balance.

One great fault in most games for the majority of players is hitting off balance. The body is too far forward. This applies to boxing, golf, tennis or baseball.

Three of the best examples of proper weight balance in hitting are Bobby Jones, Bill Tilden and Babe Ruth. They don't lunge forward ahead of the blow. Tilden gives you the impression of hitting with his weight pretty well back on his right leg. It is hard to get much power when the weight is thrown to the left leg too soon, for that leaves no body support.

Any over-anxious ballplayer is almost sure to throw his weight forward too soon and either pop one up or hit a weak infield grounder.

Hornsby and Paul Waner are others who seem to have the weight well back on the right side just as they start the swing. From this balance the body weight can travel forward with the hands and arms.

Dempsey, Tunney, Zelinski?

My dear Grant: The opinion seems to be rather prevalent that the next heavyweight champion du monde will not be any of the big boys at present cavorting more or less merrily in the fistic spotlight, but some youngster as yet unknown, who will sweep into favor almost overnight and wade right through the rest of the contending field in much the same manner as Will Harrison Dempsey did some ten or eleven years ago.

I'd like to suggest, Grant, that you tab this name for future reference—Joe Zelinski, of Binghamton, N. Y.

Here's a nineteen-year-old kid who's been fighting only a year and a half and who, at the current moment, is but a middleweight. However, he has been growing in amazingly rapid fashing and in another two years or less he will be scaling in the general vicinity of 185 pounds. By that time, with the experience and polish he will have acquired, he'll just wreck the heavyweight division.

Zelinski (until now, Binghamton Joe Zink) is the nearest approach to Dempsey that I've seen. He is a vicious, aggressive, two-fisted slugger and a terrific puncher with either hand. Color? He fairly oozes it.

You may recollect, Grant, that I nominated Dempsey to succeed Jess Willard a year before the Massacre of Maumee bay was staged. And I picked James Joseph Tunney to whip Dempsey more than a year before the Battle of the Soaked-squi-Centennial.

Now I'm stringing along with a kid who is fully two years away from the title, but a kid, who, like Dempsey was, is a natural-born fighter, and needs only about twenty pounds more of beef and brawn and the necessary experience to make him the best heavyweight in this wide world.

"JERSEY" JONES.

New Record Set.

Liverpool, September 25.—(United News.)—Dr. Paul Samson, of Chicago, lowered the British amateur swimming record for 150 yards, by three and two-fifths seconds, here this afternoon. Samson's time was 89 seconds, the former record being 92.5 seconds.

LAUTZENHISER BACK AT POST AT GEORGIA

BY BOB SHERROD.

Athens, Ga., September 25.—Glenn Lautzenhiser, joint captain of the Georgia Bulldogs, returned to the line-up in Tuesday's practice after an absence of several days, due to an infected foot. Lautzenhiser reports that he is in as good shape as ever now and is eager to start the season. The big tackle, who was one of the outstanding linemen of the south last year, is due for a good season and will be one of the greatest cogs in Bulldog machine this call.

Coach Mehre's eleven is well fortified at the tackle position, probably better than at any other point. Lautzenhiser, as well as Stelling and Frisbie, has had much experience at the same position. All three are letter men from the near championship team of last year. These three men, all of whom weigh in the neighborhood of 200 pounds, will carry the brunt of the position this year. They will be assisted by Bryant, Ringel, Buchanan and Thornton, among others.

Scrimmage Postponed.

Tuesday's workout was not a scrimmage, as was scheduled, but a careful instruction for each group of players. The ends were given over to Coach Shiver, who spent quite a bit of time coaching them on various points. Mehre looked over the tackels, guards and centers, subdividing each of the three groups, while the popular Jimmy Crowley undertook to tell the "thousand halfbacks" a few things both by word and by illustration.

The Tuesday scrimmage was postponed until Wednesday and a big affair in the way of rough work was announced for Saturday, which, by the way, is just one week previous to the opening of the season with Mercer in Athens.

The punters of Coach Crowley's backfield are daily putting a great deal of time in booting the pigskin about Sanford field. To date Harvey Hill, of the pony backfield and a former Boys' High scintillate, has obtained greater distance on his punts but as he probably won't play regularly the burden will be shifted to H. F. Johnson and Bobby Hooks, both of whom are members of the Four Horsemen. Thus far, however, no one has been found to compare with Estes and Shiver when it comes to punting. The absence of Roy Estes is felt more keenly each day as a triple threat man and it is not likely that his peer will be found for some time to come.

Epworth Union To Hold Meeting

Plans for the coming basketball season will be discussed at the regular monthly meeting of the Atlanta Epworth Union Athletic association next Wednesday night, 6 o'clock, at 1101 Georgia Savings Bank building. The Wesley court has been opened and several teams have already begun practice. Indications are pointing to the largest season in the history of the association and all chapters planning on having either a girls' or boys' basketball team this year should have a representative at this meeting to make reservations for places on the schedule.

Mrs. Tyson Loses 2 and 1 In 1st Round

Associated Press Sports Writer.

Hot Springs, Va., September 25.—(AP)—The women's annual golf championship will have to worry along the rest of the week without the champion. Mrs. Miriam Burns Tyson, Kansas City, defending titleholder, ran into Miss Helen Paget, a slim and sober Canadian girl playing in her first United States championship, in the first round and was eliminated two up and one to play. Mrs. Tyson, who was Miriam Burns Horn when she won the championship at Cherry Valley, Long Island, a year ago, was unsteady, her usually fine short game having deserted her for the moment and the Canadian girl outlasted her. Miss Paget was not brilliant but she stuck close to her knitting about the greens where the champion wasted many strokes.

With Mrs. Tyson, another former champion, Miss Edith Cummings, Chicago, faded from the picture under unusual circumstances. Miss Cummings had finished the regulation 18 holes all square with Mrs. Harley G. Higbie, Detroit, and the players went to the 19th. Just before Miss Cummings putted for the five that would give her a half and necessitate another extra hole, she waved her hand in front of her ball. The referee, Robert M. Cutting, president of the Western Golf association, ruled that this was pressing on the line of the putt and although the hole was halved, awarded hole and match to Mrs. Higbie. She did not want to accept victory on a technicality and protested against the ruling, as did Miss Cummings, who said she was merely brushing away a fly between her ball and the hole. The referee had the last word, however, and the disqualification stood.

Miss Orcutt Wins.

Miss Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J., girl, favored by many to continue to the finals, showed that at least for one day there is no jinx on winning the medal in the qualifying score. Miss Orcutt played better golf today, to defeat Mrs. Austin Pardue, Chicago, 7 and 6, than she flashed yesterday when she led the qualifying field with a score of 80. She went out in 37, four under women's par, to assume a lead of six holes over her western opponent, and she was but one stroke over par for the three holes needed on the second nine.

The Jersey girl started her round with an eagle three at the first hole, picked up two birdies as she went along and played the other six holes in par.

If there are such things as upsets in women's golf there were some today. Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, north and south champion, played par golf on her first nine holes against Miss Edith Quier, Reading, Pa., playing in her third championship, and did not win a hole. Miss Quier went out against Mrs. Hill in 38, playing six holes in par and getting three birdies to start home, three-up. Mrs. Hill then staged a great rally, winning three holes in a row to square the match. Miss Quier was not dismayed by this sudden turn of events for she then won the next three holes to go three-up again. Mrs. Hill made a last bid by winning the sixteenth but Miss Quier was dormie two and she won the seventeenth to end the match.

Four former champions have a chance to reascend the throne they have occupied. Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, Philadelphia, who has held the title three times, in additional to the British and Canadian crowns, defeated Miss Helen Payson, Portland, Maine, although she had to come to the home hole after she was five-up at the turn. Her great tee shot to the final green decided the issue.

Miss Marion Hollins, New York, had little trouble in defeating the youthful Miss Betty Guthrie, New York, winnig seven and six, and Miss Glenna Collett, Providence, after a shaky start, settled down to take Miss Beatrice Gottlieb, New York, into camp, five and three. Miss Collett's last drive of the day was the best. She slapped her tee shot 237 yards to the fifteenth green.

Mrs. G. H. Stetson, Philadelphia, champion of 1926, eliminated the smiling Marion Turpie, New Orleans, southern champion, 3 ano 2. The girl from Dixie three-putted herself out of the picture after a three-year struggle to get in.

Other sectional champions were more fortunate. Mrs. Harry Pressler, the western queen, won her match from Mrs. E. H. Baker, Jr., Boston, and Miss G. H. Lifur, California titleholder, will play in the second round. Miss Virginia Wilson, the Canadian champion, had to go 20 holes before she could definitely stop Miss Dorothy Page, the brilliant young University of Wisconsin student. Miss Wilson saved her match by jumping a stymie for a half on the fifteenth hole when she went one-up. Miss Page won the next hole to square the match and from then until the twentieth everything was even.

The defeat of Mrs. Lee W. Mida, clever Chicago golfer, by Miss Rosalie Knapp, New York, brought a struggle in which there was little to choose until all the returns were in.

"Hard Hitting Helen," as the caddies call the 17-year-old Miss Hicks, a New York girl who can slug with any one in the competition, came from behind to win from Miss Kathleen Wright, Pasadena, Cal., whose 82 in the qualifying round was second only to the medalist. The Long Island representative's ability to get great distances from the tee won for her. She came to the home hole, a nightmare unless a drive is long and straight, all even. The youngest player in the field sent her ball far over a deep lake in front of the green hole high, a distance of 200 yards and took a birdie three to end the match.

The defeat of the reigning champion can be blamed on bad putting and a mowing machine. One up at the end of nine holes, Mrs. Tyson hit the mowing machine on her way to the tenth, took five to reach the green and wound up with a seven for the hole. After driving the 196-yard 11th she took three putts and could only get a half and at the 13th again took three putts, missing one from three feet. She was on the edge of the 14th in two when her opponent had missed a second shot, but her short game failed her. She was weak with her chip and weak with her approach putt, finally taking six. Miss Paget recovered to score five and win. From then on the holes were halved until they ran out.

In the second round tomorrow Miss Orcutt will play Mrs. Higbie in the against Miss Dora Virtue, one of two remaining entries from Canada, Miss Paget, the other Canadian opposing Mrs. Stetson, Miss Collett against Mrs. J. S. Disston, Jr., Philadelphia, and Mrs. Lifur against Miss Wilson.

At the end of the first round Pennsylvania leads in representation among the surviving 16 with four. New York has three, California two, Illinois two, Canada two, and New Jersey, Michigan and Rhode Island one each.

CLARK UNIV. OPENS SEASON ON SATURDAY

Clark university will usher in the 1928 football season Saturday, on the Clark athletic field, when it meets the army eleven, of the Twenty-fourth infantry from Fort Benning. The game will be a non-conference affair, but will form a good test for the Panthers, who have one of the hardest schedules in the conference.

Coach Taylor has been sending his charges through a hard training grind and all indications point to a team that will equal the strength of last year's.

Last year Clark lost one game and was tied in two. Tuskegee beat the Panthers in the early stages of the season. The two games tied were against Atlanta university and Alabama State Normal. Clark ended the season in second place. The Clark mentor last year developed one of the greatest backfields ever to be presented on a colored gridiron, building his attack around such a combination as Chambers, all-American; Duke Williams, all-Southern; Ric Roberts, all-Southern; Elmer Baker, all-Southern; Dupree, Dukes and "Squat" Johnson, backfield men that will be seen in action Saturday.

The army eleven coached by Captain Craig, is a well balanced aggregation and a well coached team. It is true that they were defeated last year by the Clark outfit, but the score was very close.

All teams in the colored Southeastern conference will swing into action October 6, with Morehouse and Morris Brown holding the center of attraction in Atlanta. This year will be a banner one in colored football as several teams will be almost equal in strength. Clark university and Atlanta university, who battled to a 0-0 tie on Spiller field last year, will again have strong aggregations. Morehouse and Morris Brown will be the dark horses and may upset the dope by making strong bids for conference honors.

'LITTLE WORLD' SERIES TODAY AT ROCHESTER

Rochester, N. Y., September 25—(United News.)—Rochester is excited about its first post-championship event, "the little world series," which starts at 2:30 o'clock here Wednesday, with Indianapolis, representing the American association.

The series title will go to the team that wins five games. The first four games will be played here and then the two teams will swing west to play the required number to decide the championship in Indianapolis.

The "little world's series" is new to Rochester. It is new to both managers, Billy Southworth, of the Rochester team, and Brun Betzel, pilot of the Indianapolis club.

Half a train load of Indianapolis fans arrived in town today for the first game of the series.

GOOSE HANGS ON TO SMALL BATTING LEAD

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Heinie Manush got two out of four against the Athletics yesterday, while Goose Goslin, of Washington, was able to get only that same number in five attempts in Chicago. Goslin's average remained stationary at .376, but Manush crept up a point to .375 to challenge the Senator star again for the American league batting lead. Lou Gehrig had his first good day in some time, getting his twenty-fifth home run and two other hits in five tries against Cleveland pitching. He gained three points to .369.

The standing:

Goslin, Sen.	131	441	74	166	.376
Manush, Brns.	150	622	99	233	.375
Gehrig, Yanks	149	545	133	201	.369

Rogers Hornsby and Paul Waner, playing against each other at Boston, each got one out of three. Hornsby's average remained .391, but the Pirate star fell off one point to .375, giving Hornsby a margin of 16 points and apparently a safe grip on the National league championship.

Capital City Country Club Dance Assembles Fashionable Throng

Inaugurating the smart fall social season and marking an epoch in the annals of the Capital City club will be the opening of the handsome new country clubhouse at Brookhaven Saturday evening, October 6. Social brilliance and gaiety will mark this, the first dinner-dance to be given in the recently completed clubhouse, the replica of a fine old French chateau, built in a setting above the lake, which cannot be matched either in beauty of perspective or of plan and design.

The club will be open for inspection from 11 until 2 o'clock Friday, October 5, to the club members and their friends, with a special invitation extended to the membership of the Piedmont Driving club, the Druid Hills Golf club and the Atlanta Athletic club.

The opening dinner-dance will assemble several hundred members of fashionable Atlanta society, the affair to be an outstanding event of the fall and winter social calendar. Among those who will be hosts to groups of friends on this occasion are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Kline, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Porter, Thomas J. Lyon, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Nevin, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. William Akers, Dr. J. G. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Black, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kitchings, Dr. and Mrs. Newdigate M. Owensby, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus C. Darby, William A. Dennie, F. G. Williams, S. D. Miller, E. M. Brown, Preston S. Stevens, Thomas Pitts and Dr. H. M. Bowcock.

Mrs. Howard McCutcheon Honors Teachers.

Mrs. Howard C. McCutcheon was hostess at tea Tuesday at her home on Crew street complimenting the teachers of James L. Key school. Assisting the hostess were the officers of James L. Key P.-T. A. and Miss Lula Johnson, principal. Seven hundred guests called during the afternoon.

Joseph Habersham, D. A. R., Will Continue Restaurant.

Children and Doctors Agree on this Candy!

For the first time, mothers harassed by the candy problem are offered a candy that is ideal, quickly digested, and actually a valuable element of youthful diet.

Dextrons, the new, scientific candy lollypops, are deliciously fruit-flavored. The children will love them.

Eminent Atlanta physicians are prescribing Dextrons because they are made of Dextrose, a virtually predigested food which puts no strain on the most delicate digestion. DEXTRON COMPANY, ATLANTA.

157 shaves in the big tube

Men told us that they would pay almost any price if only they could get a cream which really made shaving pleasant instead of painful. Now we offer such a lather-maker, compounded of costly ingredients. Luxurious and amazingly different, it is the perfected result of 26 months of research and study.

Yet the savings of great production permit a price approved by even the most thrifty shavers. The big white tube contains 118 inches of rich cream, more than enough for 157 shaves. That makes it a five-months' supply for 50¢; or the utmost in shaving comfort for only 10¢ a month. Men who appreciate quality are in greater numbers daily asking for the 50¢ Listerine Shaving Cream at good drug and department stores.

A Shaving Surprise!

Velvety film of glycerine ends all razor pain

YOUR contented face after shaving will prove how much this brilliant new idea in shaving creams means to men with tough beards and tender skins.

That tiny film of cosmetic lubricant at the cutting line of each hair protects the skin and relieves the friction. With the grain or against it, up or down, there is no rawness or burning, no tightness or drawn feeling. And the healing ingredients of Listerine defeat the chance of infection.

It is the cream that men have long awaited. It settles your shaving problem for life. A pinch of it, three-quarters of an inch or less, brushes up into a cooling cloud of soothing, moisture-laden lather. Just try it once, and you will thank Listerine chemists for having taken the torture out of shaving in such a scientific way. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo.

BURGESS CHILDREN'S STORIES

CUBBY BEAR IS LAUGHED AT.

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Who at himself can laugh will find
He's doing much for peace of mind.
—Old Mother Nature.

Cubby Bear was a very puzzled bear. He was so. He had had a new experience in life. He had met a stranger, chased him up a tree, shaken him out of the tree and the stranger had apparently been killed by the fall. Anyway, Cubby thought he had, for the stranger had to every appearance been dead.

"I don't understand it," Cubby kept saying over and over to himself. "I don't understand it. A fall like that wouldn't hurt anybody. I don't understand it." He was talking out loud.

"What is it you don't understand?" said Bobby Coon, whom Cubby chanced to meet just then.

Cubby sat down and told Bobby all about it. Bobby's eyes began to twinkle. Then Bobby began to chuckle.

"What are you laughing at?" declared Cubby rather crossly.

Bobby instantly became sober. "Where did you say you left this stranger?" inquired Bobby.

"Back here a little way," replied Cubby.

"Perhaps if I should see him I could tell you who he was," said Bobby, his eyes still twinkling.

"Come on!" said Cubby promptly, turning around. "You follow me and I'll show him to you."

So Cubby led the way back, with Bobby Coon following him. Bobby was having hard work not to chuckle out loud. Pretty soon they reached the place where Cubby had left the dead stranger. Such a funny look as there was on Cubby's face when he discovered that there was no one there!

"Are you sure you have the right place?" inquired Bobby quietly.

"Certainly!" growled Cubby. "Here's the little tree I shook him out of. He fell right down here. Somebody must have come along and carried him off."

"If that's the case you should be able to find their scent," said Bobby.

Cubby began to sniff around, but all the scent he could find was the scent of the mysterious stranger. Curiously enough, that scent led away from that spot. He looked around at Bobby Coon. Bobby was on a broad grin. Sammy Jay came along just then. "What are you grinning at?" demanded Sammy.

Bobby told him what Cubby had told him and Sammy began to laugh. Then along came Blacky Crow, and when he heard the story he began to laugh. Cubby didn't know what they were laughing at, but he was sure they were laughing at him, and he began to grow angry. Most people are likely to grow angry when they are laughed at. Bobby saw this and he took pity on Cubby.

"Cubby Bear," said he, "you have a lot to learn yet. The joke is on you. But don't feel bad about it, because most of the rest of us have been fooled in just the same way. The stranger you met and thought you killed is not dead at all. That was Unc' Billy Possum, and playing dead is one of his favorite tricks. He has fooled a lot of people that way. I guess if we look around a little we'll find him, Sammy or Blacky ought to find him."

Sammy Jay took the hint at once. He began to fly about here and there over the treetops. Presently they heard him call. Then Bobby and Cubby and Blacky went over where Sammy was. There, poking his head out of a hole halfway up a tree, was Unc' Billy Possum himself. He looked down at Cubby and grinned. Cubby looked up at him, and in spite of himself he had to grin too.

"Brer Bear," said Unc' Billy Possum, "things are not always what they seem. Ah cert'nly am obliged to yo' for not trying to eat me when yo' thought Ah was daid."

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK

Hollywood, Cal., September 25.—There will be a return to first principles by some of Hollywood's elect. A few notables will abandon the type of thing they have been giving the public of late, and return to the style of work which made them famous.

Prominent among these are Cecil B. De Mille and Gloria Swanson. In his forthcoming picture the director will give the public not the Biblical tales and reform epics of his recent endeavors, but the kind of picture known as "a typical De Mille film"—the thing he does to perfection. The thing which won him one of the largest audiences in the world.

And Gloria Swanson, whom Cecil De Mille made famous for her extravagantly beautiful gowns and the extravagant way in which she wore them, will, in the picture following the one on which she is at present working with von Stroheim, star in a film where clothes are the paramount idea.

The 1928-29 issue of "Who's Who in America," just out in Hollywood, has caused a great fluttering and surreptitious hunting for names. Glows of pride. Pangs of envy.

For not all the famous of Hollywood are included in America's list of the great. The same book which gives Norma and Constance Talmadge a send-off fails to mention Colleen Moore and Marion Davies. Jacqueline Logan is there among the famous. Of course, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks. Gloria Swanson with her paradoxical history: daughter of Joseph Koliansky and married to the elaborately-titled Marquise De La Falaise. Eleanor Boardman is there, and Corinne Griffith. John Gilbert and Ronald Colman.

But while Antonio Moreno and his wife, the former Daisy Canfield, are virtually the only members of the colony to appear in the Los Angeles blue book—the Cecil De Milles are also included—Moreno did not get into Who's Who.

Mary Miles Minter, a forgotten entity already among the younger generation of moviegoers, has a place among the famous. This star, back in movieland, is a victim of excess fat. A gland condition is said to make the burden difficult to cure.

Adolphe Menjou, Tully Marshall, Hugo Ballin, Jackie Coogan, Jim Cruze, Bebe Daniels, Vera Gordon, Bill Hart, Doris Kenyon, Harold Lloyd, Tom Mix—these are some of the gelatine idols who made the grade. As one leading lady said, with a superior sniff: "Who picked them out, anyway?"

We were joking about a group of tourists standing at a studio gate in Culver City, gazing pathetically through its iron meshes and hoping to see some famous one cross the studio lot.

"Easier for a camel to enter the eye of a needle," paraphrased a wisecrack standing near. "If everyone who came to Hollywood to see movies in the making actually succeeded, we'd have to stop making movies."

Upon which Assistant Director Stewart contributed this tale of early days in the movies.

"Out at old University City," said Stewart, "we ate in a dining room, one wall of which was of iron mesh. There was a runaway beyond, where tourists could pay 25 cents to watch us movies at luncheon. When we felt especially gay and festive we would roar like lions, or bark like dogs, howl like hyenas—the usual menagerie noises.

"No wonder these good people thought we were an ungodly crew. But we were not without a sense of humor. For a still higher price the curious were piloted about the lot by ballyhoo men. We would be making a tragic scene.

"'Your mother is dying'—the director would say. 'Register grief.'

"At which the voice of the ballyhood would break in—'and her, ladies and gennamen is one of the most magnifisunt akters in moving pitchers.'"

A good many of the producers who were at the helm of these haphazard early attempts recall the humor of these situations aboard their steam yachts. Or between drinks at the Lido or Deauville. Those movies that were just made up as they went along brought in the money. Since then Hollywood has discovered scenarists and supervisors. And the "talkie" has come into vogue.

Beauty Fashions.

A DISTINCTIVE DESIGN.

6243. This model is pictured in figured and plain silk. It is also pleasing in Canton crepe, or in crepe satin, with the reverse side of the material used for facings. In wool georgette or wool crepe it is nice with facings of satin. A camisole underbody holds the waist with slight blousing. The skirt is made with a narrow front panel and flare side and back portions to which a fitted yoke is joined. Shaped revers embellish the waist front. The sleeve is a favorite style gathered to a narrow cuff at the wrist.

The pattern for this attractive style is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 1 yard of 32-inch lining for the underbody, 4 1-4 yards of 35-inch material together with 1 1-4 yard of contrasting material for facings on revers, cuffs and belt, and for underfacing on the flare portions of the skirt. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is 2 1-4 yards.

BILIOUS HEADACHE, SLUGGISH FEELING

Constipation Suffering Relieved By the Help of Black-Draught in a Family Where Three Generations Take It.

Pulaski, Tenn.—"We first found out about Black-Draught over twenty years ago, and have been using it in our family ever since," says Mrs. Taylor C. Click, of 610 Childers Street, this city.

"I take Black-Draught for constipation and bilious headache. Whenever I get to feeling dull and sluggish, I take a few doses of Black-Draught, and I immediately feel better.

"I used to have spells of indigestion, and gas would form after eating. This made me very uncomfortable. I read about how Black-Draught had helped others, and I thought it would be a good medicine to try. I got my first box of it over twenty years ago, and we have rarely been without it in our home since then.

"I make a tea out of it and give the children for constipation. I give it also to my grandchildren.

"I like a vegetable medicine, and prefer Black-Draught to any I have ever used."

Thousands of others would not want to be without Black-Draught, since they have learned how valuable its use is, in cases of indigestion, constipation and ills due to those common troubles. Easily obtainable from neighborhood druggists, in 25c packages.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

STYES COME FROM INFECTION AROUND THE EYELASH ROOTS.

Styes.

"Every two weeks, sometimes every month, I have styes on my eyes. My mother said this was from reading too much. I do read books frequently. Dr. Peters, do you think that is the cause of styes? Are they healthy for the eyes, or are they harmful? Some people say after you have had nine styes you do not get any more. Certainly this cannot be true as I have had more than nine.

"Recently I weighed myself and I weighed 143 pounds, I am only 13 years old. Do you think this is too much for me? I am very tall. In the summer I do a lot of swimming. Does this develop the bust? I will be watching your column for a reply.

Styes are due to infection of the oil glands around the eyelash roots, Dorothy. The reason they come in crops is that some of the germs from a previous stye are still hanging around. There may be something which lowers the resisting power of the tissues, and straining the eyes by too much reading in a bad light may be the cause, especially if the vision is not normal. Usually one with normal eyesight can do a great deal of reading without affecting them.

No, styes, boils, etc., are not healthful—use "healthful" not "healthy" here, Dorothy—except that they indicate that something may be wrong with the general hygiene as well as the local. You say you weigh 143 and are only 13 years old, but you are tall. You would have to be almost six feet tall to weight so much. Are you? The tallest height that is given for a girl of your age in the standard tables is 5 feet 8 inches, and the average weight at that height is only 131. If you are 5 feet 5 inches tall, which is tall for a girl of 13, the average weight is 120. By this standard, you would be 23 pounds overweight for the average: if you were five or ten pounds over the average that would be all right, but so much over looks as though you eat too much bread and butter, pies and candy. Do you?

Quite often those who do this will have boils, styes and other skin eruptions. Suppose you cut out very much of these foods for awhile? You had better have your eyes examined to see if your vision is normal and is not being strained. Meanwhile, get a tube of 1 per cent yellow oxide of mercury at the drug store and rub a little of it on the lids every night, and keep it up for a long time after the last stye goes, so as to be sure to discourage any of the germs that might still be busy.

Yes, swimming is one of the best exercises there is for all-around development.

We have an article on Common Eye Troubles which you can obtain by following column rules.

House Pets.

"Please write an article on what harm a cat can do to your health—I mean the kind that goes to any place, an alley cat. I have a friend whose two children are not well. I imagine the cats drag germs in and the children sleep with them, kiss and fondle them something outrageously. They are kind and lovable children.

"S."

House pets, if they go where they are exposed to disease germs, may certainly bring them into the household. Children should be taught to be kind to animals, but they should not be allowed to kiss them or be kissed by them. Dogs and cats not infrequently are infected with worms; they may have mange, and both these diseases may be transmitted. Children should be taught to wash their hands thoroughly, always before eating, and especially after handling pets.

There are probably other wrong hygienic habits in the family you speak of.

Editor's note: Dr. Peters cannot diagnose, nor give personal advice. Your questions, if of general interest, will be answered in the column, in turn. Requests for articles must be accompanied by a fully self-addressed, stamped envelope and 2 cents in coin for each article, cover cost of printing and handling. For the pamphlet on reducing and gaining, 10 cents in coin, with fully self-addressed, stamped envelope, must be enclosed. Address Dr. Peters, in care of this paper.

Tomorrow: Inherited Fat?

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

BY ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.

WHO SUCCEEDS IN COLLEGE.

According to tests made in the psychological laboratory of Colgate university, the boy who succeeds in college must be an introvert. This means he blushes easily, is much affected by what people say about him, is extremely self-conscious, much given to detail, writes better than he talks and would walk a mile for an idea or an ideal.

By similar experimenting and statistical charting these psychologists have discovered that extroverts do not succeed in college. These are the fellows who love sports, talk better than they write, laugh easily, are hard-boiled as to criticism, and carry a carload of happy dispositions and would walk more than a mile for something besides an idea.

In other words if these conclusions are correct, the boy whom everybody likes and who likes everybody and who hasn't a grouch in a carload is going to fail in college, while his introverted, blushing, self-conscious detail-minded, worrying brother is sure of collegiate success.

If this is the case then many parents should have reason to rejoice on the day that their son is sent home with the official statement: "Cause of failure, 'Extrovert.'" The boy, in all probability, will succeed in business life in direct ratio to his failure in college. If the official college letter reads, "Congratulations on your son's remarkable record. If he continues to improve at the same rate he will rank as the greatest introvert dear old ——— college ever turned out," then prepare to see your young hopeful wearing a Phi Beta Kappa key and asking you to send him to the graduate school.

With all due respect to Colgate's personality and rating scale and its application in some 35,000 hours of work in a psychology laboratory, there are those, and the writer is one, who believe that success in college is not measured by Phi Beta Kappa keys or high marks or Who's Who or dollars.

Success at best is a relative term. A scientist who sacrifices his life in discovering a germ, a poor boy who becomes a scholar, a rich boy who attains eminence in engineering, a poet whose work is honored one hundred years after death, a Ph. D. in education who discovers an I. Q., a father with few opportunities who left money to his children—all spell success.

Success is practically always interpreted in terms of dollars, positions, fame, scholarship. In examining a paper, "College Records and Successes in Life," I find that Phi Beta Kappa key men are heavily listed in Who's Who. This is to be expected when success in life is measured in terms of scholarship or authorship.

This same report (Phi Beta Kappa Key in January, 1928, issue), speaks flippantly of a college graduate "selling chicken wire fence in a small town." The college record and success system of judgment evidently has no place in its scheme of valuation for "chicken wire salesmen." In other words, success, to judge by this report, has nothing to do, apparently, with health, character, love of family and fellow men, and good citizenship. If this salesman, instead of selling wire, had bribed cabinets or congresses he might have bene listed as a "success." If he had written a book which nobody read he might appear in Who's Who.

True success in college is in the answers to these questions: As a result of going to college can you think for yourself or are you still a parrot? Are your friends the sort you would welcome in your home or your business, trust with your checkbook and signature? Are you physically fit? Have you a clearer and deeper understanding of the significance of life? Have you a faith or an ideal which motivates your life? Did you come out of college ten times fitter than you were when you went in?

Answer these questions affirmatively and nobody will worry whether you are an introvert or an extrovert.

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER.

To Boys.

If you feel that you have an inferiority complex when in the company of girls and desire help in the art of getting along with people by developing your personality, I will send you some helpful leaflets for a 2-cent stamped envelope with your name and address on it.

Achievement Contests.

A little girl in our community is always being entered for beauty contests. She has a string of ribbons a mile long. All her mother thinks about, and I judge all the child thinks about, is entering beauty contests. She has been a beauty winner ever since she was a baby and she is only six now. I have nothing against the mother or the child, but I am asking whether or not this is harmful?

NEIGHBOR.

Answer—Baby contests are a good thing because they emphasize mother's care and compliment the mother without hurting the baby. As soon as children become self-conscious it is advisable to have achievement contests rather than those based on mere beauty. For example: the sturdiest little girl or boy child who can make bread, little girl who made her dress, the boy who raised the biggest pig, the healthiest child, etc.

Club Officers To Be Honored At Reception

Important among the affairs making up the social calendar for today will be the reception from 4 to 6 o'clock honoring the officers of the Atlanta Woman's club, including Mrs. Charles Goodman, president; Mrs. Shepard Bryan, first vice president; Mrs. Victor Kreigshaber, second vice president; Mrs. R. I. Reed, secretary; Mrs. T. G. Delph, corresponding secretary; Mrs. J. A. Carlisle, treasurer; Mrs. O. F. Kauffman, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. John A. McDougald, auditor.

Mrs. Wilmer Moore, chairman of the house committee, and Mrs. John S. Owens, chairman of hospitality, will be assisted in entertaining by a group of prominent members of the organization, and the receiving line will be formed in the long living room of the club.

The new members of the club will share honors with the officers and be introduced to the membership. Those joining the club during Mrs. Goodman's administration include Mesdames Clarke Donaldson, E. W. Gottenstrater, Virgil Warren, W. Roy Roberts, Hobart H. Roberts, A. S. Benton, G. W. Brandt, J. C. Gentry and Walter Smithy.

HARDWICK TO SPEAK IN SUMTER COUNTY

Americus, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Former Senator Thomas W. Hardwick will speak in Americus next Friday, October 12, according to an announcement authorized here today by W. W. Dykes, chairman of the Sumter county national democratic organization.

In preparation for Senator Hardwick's address, Dykes today called a meeting of Sumter county democrats for Friday afternoon, September 28, in the lobby of the Windsor hotel. One hundred outstanding Smith supporters in the county have been extended personal invitations, and it is expected that at least 500 persons will be present at this gathering.

It is the purpose of the promoters to form a compact and active political organization at this meeting, the purpose of which will be to advance the interest of Governor Alfred E. Smith and Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the national democratic standard bearers. In sounding the call for this meeting Dykes said today that if there ever was a time when the democrats of Sumter county should form a compact organization that time is now.

"We must get the vote out on election day," he said, "and offset the negro republican vote in this county, which, of course, will be augmented by the so-called 'anti-Smith democrats.'"

Because of an unusual situation existing this year it will not be enough, Dykes says, that Sumter county will go democratic in November, but it is necessary that the democratic ticket receive the largest majority ever given it in this community.

EMORY UNIVERSITY JUNIOR COLLEGE WILL OPEN TODAY

Valdosta, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—The work of grading and clearing off the campus of Emory University Junior college was completed today by the city and county forces, working jointly on this project.

In addition to the grading, walks and drives through the property have been laid out and everything made in readiness for the opening of the college on Wednesday morning, the 26th.

The enrollment is quite large, more than expected for the first term, and in addition to the families and friends of these young men, a number of other prominent visitors are expected for the opening exercises.

BENEFIT CONCERT AIDS FLOOD FUND OF SALVATION ARMY

Salvation Army eastern territorial headquarters in New York Tuesday added $1,500 to the Salvation Army Florida relief funds, Colonel Alfred A. Chandler, chief secretary of the southern territory, announced Tuesday night.

A substantial sum was added from proceeds of a benefit band concert given by the southern staff band under direction of Lieutenant Colonel Walter Peacock at St. Paul's Methodist church in Atlanta.

The New York contribution supplements an earlier gift of $1,000 made from the central territorial headquarters in Chicago and, except for a few unsolicited contributions from friends of the Salvation Army, represents all the cash now available for the Salvation Army's relief work.

The Army has not made any public appeal for funds, Colonel Chandler stated, as it does not wish to conflict with the Red Cross appeal. Contributions which have been made without solicitation, however, have been rushed to the Army relief stations in West Palm Beach to buy food for refugees.

The Salvation Army is centering its efforts on obtaining gifts clothing for refugees, collections being made on telephone calls to Ivy 2224, where more than 100 calls were received Tuesday.

FIDELITY MEN TAKE BIG INSURANCE SUM

Members of the Leaders' club of the Fidelity Mutual Life Insurance company in their recent annual convention at Hot Springs, Va., pledged a total of $1,060,000 of life insurance on their own lives, according to B. F. Fraser, Jr., who represents the company here and who has just returned from the meeting. Led by club officers in an inspiring demonstration of loyalty to the Fidelity in its golden anniversary year, this large sum was pledged in 30 minutes by members present from 40 states, Mr. Fraser said.

NEGRO ELECTROCUTED IN FLORIDA PRISON

Raiford, Fla., September 25.—(AP) James Turner, negro, convicted in Calhoun county of murder of another negro, was electrocuted at the state prison at 2:30 p. m. today.

The current was applied for 45 seconds and the negro pronounced dead after four minutes and ten seconds.

Phil Davis, white, reached the prison today from Volusia county, where he was convicted of killing another white man. Prison officials said he was sentenced to be executed next week but that the date for the electrocution had not been set.

McHan, of Macon, it was announced Tuesday. Judge Thomas was nominated by Clarence Andrew, right worshipful senior grand warden, and confirmed in the position by Raymund Daniel, grand master, and will be installed at a special ceremony October 5 in Battle Hill lodge at Lucile avenue and Gordon street.

ANTI-SMITH MEETING

Organization's Executive Committee To Convene Friday in Macon.

Headquarters of the anti-Smith democratic party of Georgia announced here Tuesday that the state executive committee had been called to meet at the city hall in Macon next Friday at 11 a. m., by Barry Wright, chairman.

"Organization has been completed in every congressional district," the statement quoted Mr. Wright as saying, "and in several districts every county therein is organized under a responsible head."

EIGHTH DISTRICT URGED TO SUPPORT NOMINEES

Resolutions Calling for Party Loyalty Adopted at Athens Meeting.

Athens, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—All democrats in the eighth Georgia district were called upon to support the national democratic ticket in the forthcoming presidential election in resolutions adopted at the congressional convention held here last Saturday.

The resolutions were drawn up by Charles H. Brand, congressman for the district, who was renominated at the meeting.

The resolutions declare that the "welfare of the southern people demands the overthrow of the republican machine now in charge of the affairs of this government." They follow, in full:

We, the representatives of the democratic party of the eighth congressional district of Georgia in convention assembled, hereby acknowledge and renew our allegiance to the principles of the national democratic party.

We indorse the platform adopted by the convention of the democratic party of this republic, and pledge our support to its nominees, Alfred E. Smith, governor of the great state of New York, as president, and Joseph T. Robinson, United States senator from the state of Arkansas, as vice president.

It is our opinion that these nominees not only deserve but are entitled to the support of every democrat of this district, both male and female. We make this statement because we believe that the welfare of the southern people demands the overthrow of the republican machine now in charge of the affairs of this government.

During the last eight years of republican rule under the Harding and Coolidge administrations, of which Mr. Hoover has been a dominant figure, the people of Georgia have endured more sacrifices, suffered more hardships, and struggled along under more distressed circumstances than at any other time since the civil war. We attribute this deplorable situation to the lack of sympathy, the indifference, the unfairness, and the unfriendliness of the leaders of these two republican administrations toward the people of the south. In behalf of ourselves and our forefathers who bore the brunt of battle during reconstruction days; in behalf of the masses of the people of this generation; and in acknowledgment of the sacred traditions and natural rights of our southland, we respectfully protest against this attitude of the republican party toward our people.

SLATON TO SPEAK

Former Governor Will Address Masonic Club Today.

John M. Slaton, former Georgia governor and well known speaker, will address the regular meeting of the Atlanta Masonic club at 12:30 o'clock today in the Winecoff hotel. Mr. Slaton will talk on experiences of his trip to Europe, from which he recently returned.

A special musical program has been arranged for the occasion, featuring Dr. and Mrs. T. G. Fowler, B. C. Broyles, president of the club, will conduct the meeting.

REGISTRATION TO OPEN AT OGLETHORPE TODAY

Enrollment Increase of 100 Students Expected, Dr. Jacobs Says.

An enrollment increase of 100 students is anticipated this year at Oglethorpe university, which opens the 1928 fall session this morning, with registration beginning at 9 o'clock in Lupton Hall and continuing through Thursday.

Various classes of the university will meet for the first time Friday, and will continue regularly thereafter.

Dr. Thornwell Jacobs, president and founder of the university, said Tuesday that his college looks forward to one of the most auspicious openings in its history.

Over 300 applications for enrollment in the freshman class have been received, while a total attendance of 600 students is expected for the coming year, as against the 500 mark set by the 1927-1928 terms.

New applicants include 50 co-eds this year, with a substantial increase anticipated over the 100 enrollment of the feminine contingent last year.

Extension classes meeting at convenient locations throughout the city also are being organized for work under regular university faculty members.

Last year these classes were held at various public schools and clubs. This term's meeting places will be announced later pending completion of plans.

The rapid growth of the university is shown, Dr. Jacobs said, in the fact that last May's graduating class was twice as large as the entire freshman class which matriculated at the university when it opened in the fall of 1916.

Last year's faculty personnel will be returned this year in every department, it was announced.

BENJAMIN L. CAMP UNABLE TO ATTEND STATE CONVENTION

Benjamin L. Camp, recently named by Governor L. G. Hardman as a delegate to the state democratic convention from White county, will not be able to serve in this capacity, according to a letter he wrote Tuesday to Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the state democratic executive committee. Mr. Camp said he is a rural letter carrier and under civil service rules is not permitted to accept such appointments.

Mr. Camp said he appreciated the honor but declared that he was unable to accept the position and that his name appeared without authorization in the list of delegates that he did not want his co-workers throughout the state to receive the wrong impression in connection with the appointment.

SHIP-TO-SHORE AIR MAIL SERVICE TO BE RESUMED

New York, September 25.—(AP)—Ship-to-shore air mail service from the French liner Ile de France will be resumed as soon as repairs are made on the plane recently damaged while taking mail ashore at the end of the vessel's last run to Europe, officials of the French line said today as the liner arrived from abroad.

Ohio Mine Leader Charged With Assault With Intent To Kill

St. Clairsville, Ohio, September 25.—(AP)—Adolph Pacifico, Bellaire, vice president of the United Mine Workers organization in Belmont county district, was charged with assault with intent to kill in a grand jury indictment returned here today. Myers Davis, Bellaire, an executive officer of the union, was charged with assault and battery.

The indictment resulted from disturbances in the mining district last summer. Pacifico was directly accused of starting a riot at Neffs, a mining village. The grand jury refused to return indictments against some 40 non-union workers who had been charged with assault on pickets and other union miners.

The 51 women from Mutton Hollow who marched on the county jail here last summer to liberate several prisoners who had been arrested in connection with disorders, were allowed to go free by the grand jury. The women were induced to enter the jail to inspect it and after getting inside the doors were closed and locked. They were held for several hours.

THE NIGHTMARE

BLUE RIBBON FICTION

By GERALD MYGATT

SYNOPSIS.

Patricia Shane is being entertained in one of New York's night clubs by Fanning Eddgar. She is annoyed by the insulting stare of a hawk-nosed man on the opposite side of the room. At the table with the Hawk are a blonde, coarse looking woman and a slight young man, who appears to be drunk. The head waiter calls young Eddgar away from his table on a pretext, and as soon as he is gone the Hawk approaches Patricia and tries to engage her in conversation. He is interrupted by a good looking young chap, who orders him back to his place. The newcomer introduces himself as Jimmie Kirklin. Patricia tells Kirklin that she thinks the hawk-nosed person had asked the head waiter to get rid of her escort. A fight ensues and Fanning Eddgar walks in on it. He pays the head waiter to restore order and Patricia introduces Kirklin to him, and then asks Fanning to take her home. A few minutes later, as Kirklin leaves the place with his companion, he is followed by a man on the street who appears to be drunk.

INSTALLMENT IX.
THE HIDEOUT.

Five minutes later Bart Stoman and the woman drove up before the white marble facade of a converted dwelling in the East Sixties. On a chaste brass plate beside the door two brief lines in script announced the sole business to which the house was dedicated. The plate read:

VAN DRUM
LOVELINESS

The woman said: "Don't bother to get out, Bart." She smiled and added: "It always gives me a kick, just seeing that sign. Sometimes it makes me wish I was an honest-to-god lady. You know, at that, a lot of the poor dears think I am. Miss Van Drum! Me, Queenie Allinson."

The man growled: "Quit it! You get so damn sentimental over yourself, Queenie. Hop out and go to bed. And be across the street from that guy's front door at 9 o'clock sharp. And when you locate the girl come in. Don't use the phone. I'll be at the dump."

The man whom Broadway called Bart Stoman gave a curt order to the driver and the cab left Queenie standing upon the curb. It rounded the corner, worked back through the darkened streets to Fifth avenue, and there headed south. Stoman leaned back against the uncomfortable cushions, pulled out another of his large, oily cigars, bit off the end, and lit a match. His first long exhalation of smoke was almost a sigh.

Seeing Queenie's brass nameplate always did that to him, he reflected. Somehow it brought up a memory, not of a nameplate, but of a glazed office door many stories above the ground in what in earlier days was always called a skyscraper. One used to approach that door with a sort of reverence, for upon its glass panel, done in finely wrought Roman letters of genuine golf leaf, there stood a legend for all to read. And the legend ran:

L. BARTON STOMAN
ATTORNEY AT LAW

The hawk-nosed man smiled with a sort of twisted wistfulness. A mouth filling name, that! A name to conjure with! Well, so it had been, before that unfortunate day upon which his foot, as the saying is, had slipped. An exceedingly valuable client of Mr. Stoman's, who for one reason or another was under indictment by the grand jury, was only one link short in the otherwise perfect chain of his defense. This link rather urgently demanded the production of a witness. So Mr. Stoman, acting in his client's interest, proceeded forthwith to create a witness where none had been before, and everything would have been fine except for the simple accident that the new witness, at a time when he claimed to have been in Des Moines, was actually chauffeur for one of the jurymen at Great Neck, Long Island. The witness wept and blamed it all on Mr. Stoman. The judge raged, the district attorney boiled with anger, the Bar association with great dignity took steps. And presently L. Barton Stoman was no longer an attorney at law; was, in fact, fortunate, so it was pointed out to him, to be wearing mufti and not a uniform of those horizontal stripes which were the mode of the day in certain restricted circles.

The twisted, half-wistful smile changed abruptly to a flashing of teeth, a pulling down the upper lip, and then a grim, nodding stolidity. Stoman muttered: "Yeh, and I've made goats out of those babies a hundred times since. Tell me where to get off, would they? The only thing they taught me was to watch my step."

He seemed to consider this, puffing deliberately upon his cigar while the cab hurtled southward, for presently he nodded as if in confirmation of a thought and said aloud: "For three hundred and thirty-three thousand dollars the risk is worth it. Hmm! Say we give ten thousand to Joe—that's fair, or we leave him out. That leaves us with three hundred and thirty grand apiece. Well, we've waited six years for it. We've earned it, I guess."

The cab pulled up at the Thirty-third street entrance of the Waldorf-Astoria. The hawk-nosed man climbed out, paid his fare, and entered the hotel. He walked straight through the lobby and out through one of the Thirty-fourth street doors. On Thirty-fourth street he turned briskly west, crossed Broadway and Sixth avenue at their now comparatively deserted junction, and kept walking west to Seventh avenue. There he dove into the subway. He had to wait a long time for a train, but waiting gave him an opportunity to look around, to see if by any chance an apparently innocent stranger might nonchalantly have wandered in after him. For Stoman, who had learned not to take chances, was an expert at spotting detectives, private, public, or amateur, and he was also an expert, he flattered himself, at throwing them off his scent. They came in all guises, detectives did; burly men and skinny ones; old women selling papers; young girls with provocative eyes and figures; colored mechanics; once even a Chinaman. Thought Stoman: "Lon Chaney missed his calling. There's a job waiting for him in this town any day." Then he smiled with a certain pleasure because no one had followed him down the steps. Yet he stood on the uptown platform until he heard the distant rumble of a downtown train—one actually can hear rumbles in the subway after 2 o'clock in the morning—and only then did he hasten over to the downtown platform to board the sleepy local as it pulled out.

Stoman got off at Twenty-third street and once more headed west. Except for occasional big trucks smashing their way across town from the Jersey ferries the thoroughfare was a straight black stretch of emptiness. On his left the tall bulk of the rare old Hotel Chelsea loomed as a dark shadow, spotted only by the brilliance of its entrance and a sparse scattering of yellow windows, one here, one there, for all the world like great oblong stars in a dim heaven of quiet and tranquillity. Stoman hurried on. He crossed Eighth avenue, a deserted hollow highway of uneasy planks roofing a giant's trench that some day was to be another subway. He made the next long block at a businesslike stride, giving a curt "No" to a derelict who approached him whining for something. On account of this beggar Stoman climbed the steps of the elevated railway at Ninth avenue, waited patiently for a train to come in, then walked down to the street again and turned up Ninth avenue. Here, in the shadow of the overhead railway, he was able to give consideration to regions behind him. It was extremely improbable that anyone was following, but still . . . L. Barton Stoman, quondam attorney at law, had learned his lesson well.

Somehow he satisfied himself that nobody was interested in his whereabouts or movements, and accordingly he turned west once more into a side street. It was a dark street, banked with warehouses, silent factories and rooming houses that once had been fashionable residences, all lined up soberly along two sidewalks littered with trash cans and other such phenomena of the night. The hawk-nosed man proceeded methodically toward Tenth avenue, looking neither to the right nor to the left. Along toward the middle of the block he abruptly vanished; that is, he stepped into a black areaway and stood there utterly silent, his ears straining for the slightest scrape of shoe leather on concrete. He waited so for perhaps two minutes. Then he tugged a key out of his pocket and let himself in through the iron gate that opened into the basement of the house he had chosen.

This was an old-time brownstone house, its facade weathered and rutted by many years of ice and snow and sun and rain. Outwardly it looked like any one of its neighbors; inwardly it smelled like a whole block of them. The smell of the house was dusty, musty, acridly unpleasant. Stoman walked through a narrow pitch black hall, felt for a door, opened it and closed it, and then struck a match. With a practiced hand he reached upward and touched the tiny fizzling flame to a gas jet. The gas jet roared, sputtered and then flared into yellow light.

"Looks all right," the man mumbled. And so it was. The room had once been a kitchen, and if a rusty iron range, a soiled copper sink and a dirty wooden table made any room a kitchen it still was. But the windows, it seemed, were boarded tight. The rusty range stood in front of an old-fashioned red painted fireplace, high and wide.

The hawk-nosed man edged gingerly behind this stove and placed the palm of his left hand upon a brick in the very back of the long disused fireplace. Strangely enough, the brick and all its fellow bricks moved backward, doorwise. The hawk-nosed man ducked through the fireplace, passed into an adjoining chamber, and again lighted a gas jet. Then he retraced his steps, turned out the original light, came back again into the new chamber and heaved the brick door shut. He beamed about this new chamber, which was of brick or apparent brick, and contained no visible door.

BY JOHN P. BOUGHAN,
Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, September 25.—(AP)—Huge primary receipts both in Canada and the United States, with Argentina offering to sell at bargain prices, pulled wheat values here straight downward today. Temporarily at least, export demand for wheat from North America was but little better than zero, and United States exports of wheat and flour for July and August were officially reported at 21,652,000 bushels against 49,079,000 bushels the corresponding months last year.

Wheat closed unsettled, 1 1-2c to 1 3-4c net lower, with corn varying from 1-4c decline to 1c advance, oats 1-8c to 5-8c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 57c.

Liverpool Drops.

Right at the outset today, wheat traders were confronted with an unlooked for drop in Liverpool quotations and with word that Argentine wheat was obtainable cheaper abroad than wheat from either Canada or the United States. Reports were also at hand that the crop outlook south of the equator had been helped by welcome rains in Argentina and likewise by showers over Australia. On top of these advices were estimates that Canadian rural deliveries of wheat totaled 17,000,000 bushels for two days. Meanwhile, primary arrivals in the United States today were 3,581,000 bushels compared with 2,992,000 bushels a week ago.

Selling from the northwest in particular broadened out in the wheat pit as the day progressed. Rallies were negligible. Apparently, the pressure came chiefly from hedging sales made against the immense volume of new wheat moving to market north and south alike of the Canadian line.

Orders Limited.

About the only suport for the market came from resting orders proved to be limited, and the close of trading left prices at almost the day's bottom level. Influences in some degree by Kansas reports of a large acreage being seeded, although ahead of the fly-free date and upon poorly prepared seed beds.

Corn owed its relative firmness largely to prospects of killing frosts tonight well in advance of the average date for much of the corn belt. Month-end evening-up of accounts in the September delivery of corn was also a strengthening factor. Oats declined as a result of scattered selling.

Provisions tilted downward, owing to sympathy with a drop in the value of hogs.

BY STANLEY W. PRENOSIL
Associated Press Financial Editor.

New York, September 25.—(AP)—Curious cross currents of prices ran through today's stock market, which opened strong, turned weak around mid-day and then headed upward again on the late trading. Final quotations were mixed, with many of the popular industrials showing small net declines and a few specialties recording sizeable gains.

Trading was conducted at such a furious pace that the ticker fell more than 40 minutes behind the market by early afternoon, but part of the delay was made up before the close. Total sales of 4,606,300 shares have been exceeded only about five times this year.

Call Money Drops.

Call money renewed at 7 1-2 per cent and a plentiful supply seemed available, but when banks began to call about $10,000,000 in loans a general selling movement set in. This was checked by the lowering of the call rate to 7 per cent. Although sterling was quoted at the year's low, no engagement of gold in Great Britain for shipment to this country was reported, but the belief was expressed in banking circles that some of the gold recently purchased there by Germany might find its way into this country.

Hope is still held out for the imports of gold from Argentina, which has taken about $100,000,000 of the yellow metal from the United States within the past year.

Time Money Firm.

Time money rates held firm at 7 to 7 1-4 per cent, with 7 1-2 bid by some brokers. Commercial paper, on the other hand, was quoted at 5 1-4 to 5 1-2. Interest rates on margin accounts for the month of September are expected to be the largest in year.

Bear traders, taking advantage of the long ticker delay and the top heavy speculative position in some specialties, inaugurated the mid-day selling movement. So swift was their attack that prices on the floor, in many instances, were quoted several points away from those on the tape before the extent of the reaction became generally known. Liquidation by frightened investors and speculators forced several issues 2 to 10 points below their early highs, but buying support was quickly provided. In a few issues, such as Montgomery-Ward, which rebounded from 249 1-4 to 265, the rally assumed violent proportions.

News Is Favorable.

The day's trade news was largely favorable. Steel mill operations were reported to have increased 6 per cent within the past week and a continued good inquiry was noted for copper. Several favorable August railroad earnings reports were published. Union Pacific, Texas & Pacific and Missouri Pacific all making favorable comparison with the same month last year.

Automotive shares again attracted a large following. Packard, Chrysler, Graham-Paige and the Chandler-Cleveland issues all moved into new high ground. Yellow Truck was under heavy accumulation on reports that recent "write-offs" placed the stock in a position to consider the payment of dividends next year. Briggs Manufacturing, which is doing a record-breaking business, again changed hands in large volume, crossing 58 to a new high and holding near the top throughout the selling movement in the general list.

Coppers Responsive.

Coppers continued to respond to the recent stiffening in commodity prices. Howe Sound crossed 70 to a record high price. Anaconda, Granby and Kennecott also eclipsed their previous 1928 highs.

United States Steel common, General Motors, Radio, Hudson, National Biscuit, National Dairy Products and Westinghouse were among the recent favorites to close a point or two lower. Case Threshing broke 5 points. Murray corporation dropped from an early high of 93 1-2 to 83 and then rebounded to 90, off 2 3-4 net. Similar fluctuations took place in several other specialties.

Rails were again inclined to sluggishness.

Foreign exchanges moved within extremely narrow and irregular limits, with sterling cables quoted around $4.84 15-16.

Most commodity markets lost ground. Cotton reacted about 75 cents to $1.25 a bale and wheat about 1 1-2 cents a bushel. Coffee closed unchanged to 11 points lower and sugar quotations were fairly steady.

Market Gossip

News From Wall Street and New York Editorial Comment

Furnished by Fenner & Beane.

Stock Opinions.

Fenner & Beane: Market seems ready to react judging by willingness to take profits on decline in money rate, selected oils, and coppers still good.

Hornblower & Weeks: Would limit commitments to the stocks where special possibilities may be found, but would not neglect the possibilities when they occur.

Prince & Whitely: Think that "the non-ferrous group is expected gradually to accumulate strength."

WALL STREET JOURNAL.

Selling was considerable better in character than that which has appeared on the familiar Tuesday reduction over last six weeks. Substantial profit-taking was indulged in by some big operators who have been consistently bullish since the market recovered from the June break.

These people are not bearish regarding the long pull outlook, but feel that the general list is entitled to a period of correction after its recent sweeping advances. Undoubtedly some liquidation was induced by expectation of a further flurry in call money in connection with the month-end settlements. Many traders were reducing their lines on the theory that another run-up in the demand rate over October first would provide the pretext for a reaction which was needed to strengthen technical conditions in the principal trading stocks.

Stock Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, September 25.—Today's market opened strongly, actively converging on a few specialties and on the oils and coppers. Among the latter, Anaconda, Kennecott, and Nevada Consolidated made new highs, stimulated by the recent advance of the metal to 15½c. Substantial profit-taking developed later in the afternoon and prices in many cases were lower for the day.

Cudaby Packing, to which we have been calling attention recently, is in an attractive buying zone and represents better value than the majority of active industrial stocks.

The action of the market in taking profits rather than continuing the advance of such a development as the drop in the call money rate, indicates a weakened technical position, which makes it desirable to conserve profits by taking advantage of present strength and switching into such issues as Cudahy, Nevada, Independent Oil and Gas, and the like, which have not yet completely discounted their immediate prospects.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, September 25.—After a brisk selling movement around noon and the early part of the afternoon stocks rallied moderately toward the close. Money eased to 7 per cent on the stock exchange and was available at 6½ per cent in the outside market. Trade news continued bullish with the announcement that ingot production of the U. S. Steel corporation was up 6 per cent this week to 85 per cent of capacity. The president of one of the large smelting companies said that the outlook for improvement in the copper industry is most encouraging, that the recent advance in price shows how much better off the industry is and that he sees no reason to indicate that the prices for the present will average any lower than 15½ cents a pound. The motors stocks, particularly Chrysler and Graham-Paige, rallied easily, although there was considerable pressure against Hudson which looks lower. Wright Aero recovered sharply to 173 against yesterday's low of 155. Steel, General Motors and other leaders, however, were not able to recover all of their losses and the closing was decidedly irregular.

Cotton Letters.

FENNER & BEANE.

New York, September 25.—Cotton had a fair sized bulge today but liquidation in October proved a disturbing factor and brought on liquidation in other months. This liquidation coupled with the usual hedging turned out to be a rather heavy weight for the market to carry and prices slipped below the previous finals in the late trading.

Temperatures continued low over the belt with frost reported in Western North Carolina. Map readers generally look for continued rising temperatures in most sections.

Reports also coming in of disappointing yield, small ginnings and of an unusually large amount of seed cotton needed to gin a bale. Spot demand was reported good but western sections appear to be pressing cotton for sale as fast as picked and the basis asked is low.

Sentiment is decidedly bullish on the theory that the crop outlook has shrunk to a point that will sooner or later induce large mill buying but present indications are that hedging will prove more or less of a burden to the market for some time.

ORVIS BROS. & CO.

New York, September 25.—(Special.)—This was first notice day for cotton to be delivered on October contracts and notices amounted to only about 4,200 bales on an insignificant total. Nevertheless October contracts opened at a sharp decline from which there was a spirited advance of $2.50 per bale. The higher level attracted liquidation and increased hedge sales with a result that prices sold off $2 per bale from the high and, the net result tonight was but a slight gain on Saturday's closing.

Cold weather in the south has momentarily spent its influence on speculative demand but there is a tendency on the part of mills to buy on recessions. The weather outlook is mostly fair, partly cloudy in the west with cooler temperatures for that section.

Today's reaction is a natural one which may extend somewhat further, but in view of lowered crop ideas and important trade demand; we believe reactions should be taken advantage of for making purchases.

LIVINGSTON & CO.

New York, September 25.—The market today has pursued an erratic and indefinite course. After opening down to 15 to 25 points in response to easy cables and scattered selling, prices shot upward 45 to 55 points on a fresh wave of general buying, including trade fixing, covering and active commission house demand only to decline 35 to 40 points during hedge selling. The more favorable weather and forecast for fair and warmer conditions promoted the decline. Obviously, the recent advance has greatly eased the technical position and sentiment appeared more two-sided with more disposition to anticipate a further recession after the upturn of about 175 points but the belief prevails in many quarters that the next government estimate will be 14,000,000 bales or less and we consequently doubt any material decline. We favor purchases on any further moderate setback.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, September 25.—(Special.)—Hedge selling on the opening market off 20 points but rumors of light frost in the northern edge of the belt brought in heavy outside buying and a sharp advance to above 19 cents for December. Increased hedge sales at this level eased the market off to last night's closing prices, where it remained fairly steady until the late trading. The market was more reactionary on theory advance been too rapid, and renewed selling on the close put prices down another 20 points, closing easy 20 points below last night's close.

A good deal of the selling which followed after the last government report was based on the hope of continued crop improvement during September but the unfavorable weather since the first and the low temperatures the past ten days have changed sentiment and we continue to advise purchases on all breaks.

Cotton Briefs.

New Orleans, September 25.—Today was first notice day for October deliveries, both in New Orleans and New York. Notices issued here called for 1,000 bales and in New York for 4,000 bales.

The weather map showed low temperatures all over the cotton region with light frost in some northern sections.

Torrential rains in the cotton district of Mexico are reported to have caused heavy damage to the crop.

The failure of Liverpool to fully respond to the advance of yesterday in American markets was attributed by private cables to hedge selling.

New York, September 25.—(AP)—Advances from an opening decline carried the cotton market into new high ground for the movement today, but buying on reports of low temperatures in the south and apprehensions of reduced crop estimates tapered off at the advance to 19.07 for December. This price represented a net gain of 24 points and an advance of 179 points from the recent low level, which attracted realizing and that delivery closed at 18.64. The general market closed barely steady, at net declines of 14 to 24 points.

Opening Is Steady.

The opening was steady at a decline of 14 to 23 points under realizing and local, or southern selling promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables. Initial offerings were soon absorbed, and the market turned upward. Broker, with Wall street and western connections were again reported active buyers and there appeared to be apprehensions that the low temperatures reported in the corn belt would bring light frost into some sections of the cotton belt overnight.

Further reports of damage to crop prospects from the recent eastern belt storms were also a factor on the advance, which extended to 19.05 for October and 18.88 for March contracts, or 20 to 27 points net higher.

October Liquidated.

Liquidation of October reported at the opening due to the circulation of notices estimated at 4,200 bales, but it was absorbed and October later firmed up with the rest of the list on reports that the cotton was being taken by trade interests.

The buying movement tapered off around the 19-cent level for December, however, and the market weakened in late trading under realizing, while there seemed to be a little more southern selling during the last hour. Last prices showed reactions of about 38 to 43 points from the best.

Weather Forecast.

The official weather forecast failed to confirm private predictions of light frost in northern sections of Tennessee, Alabama and western North Carolina, which may have disappointed early buyers and probably accounted for part of the later selling.

Liverpool attributed the decline there to hedging with Bombay and continental selling, but reported increased sales of cotton cloths to India and a fair business in yarns.

Exports today 13,116 bales, making 791,794 so far this season. Port receipts 109,558. United States port stocks 933,613.

COTTON DECLINES AT NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, September 25.—(AP)—Failure of expected frost in the belt to materialize and profit taking were responsible for a decline of 34 to 39 points in the cotton market today after prices had advanced 19 to 22 points in earlier trading. December contracts traded down from 18.40 to 18.01 and closed at 18.03, or 16 points net lower for the day. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 14 to 18 points.

The opening was easy in response to relatively lower Liverpool cables and first trades here showed losses of 14 points. Before initial offerings were absorbed October traded off to 17.92, December 18.03 and January 18.05, or about 15 to 16 points under yesterday's close.

Good trade buying and some covering developed later probably induced by the low temperatures shown by the weather map in the eastern belt and private advices of frost in several places. Fears that heavy rains reported in northern Mexico might extend into Texas also helped the recovery which carried October up to 18.26 December 18.40 and January 18.42, or 34 to 37 points above the early lows and 19 to 22 points above the previous close.

As the detailed weather report failed to confirm the private frost advices early buyers liquidated and there was also fair hedge selling as well as selling by ring traders on the theory that a reaction was due. The market worked downward for the remainder of the session reaching the lowest in final trading when October sold at 17.92. December 18.01 and January 18.04, or 34 to 39 points under the day's highest. The close was practically at the lowest.

Today was first notice day for October and notices for 1,000 bales were issued here for 4,000 bales in New York. The prompt stoppage of these notices probably aided the early advance.

Total bond sales (par value) $10,334,000.

New York, September 25.—(AP)—The bond market gave a see-saw demonstration today. Easing of the call money rate in the afternoon served somewhat to encourage trading and total sales exceeded $10,000,000, but the maintenance of high time money rates and the calling of upwards of $10,000,000 in bank loans had a restraining influence.

Coppers surrendered the leadership of the market utilities and rails and the foreign list also came in for considerable attention.

Andes Copper 7s were in rather heavy demand, but the price advanced only fractionally. Anaconda 7s were traded at yesterday's prices.

Public Service of New Jersey 4 1-2s improved in reflection of the strength of the stock, establishing a new year's peak at 156 7-8. Metropolitan Edison 5s sold up a point. Oils were firm in sympathy with the stocks, but price changes were small.

Rails, particularly the secondary issues, attracted buying evidently on expectations of increased fall earnings. Seaboard-All Florida 6s, which have been weak since storm damage was reported, advanced a point. Similar gains were registered by Southern Railway 6 1-2s, Mobile & Ohio 4 1-2s, Chicago & Northern 3 1-2s, Erie 4s and Louisville & Nashville.

GRAIN EXPORTS FOR PAST WEEK SHOW INCREASE

Washington, September 25.—(AP)—Grain exports from the United States last week were 9,328,000 bushels as compared with 8,555,000 bushels the previous week. Commerce department figures today gave the following comparisons between last week's exports and those of the week before:

Wheat 4,568,000 bushels against 4,496,000; rye 579,000 against 609,000; oats 576,000 against 773,000; corn 62,000 against 59,000; barley 3,363,000 against 2,618,000.

Canadian grains exported through United States ports amounted to 1,564,000 bushels against 2,042,000 bushels the previous week, while exports of North American wheat flour were 323,000 barrels against 190,000 barrels.

Cottonseed Oil.

NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, September 25.—The market for cotton oil futures ruled comparatively steady today, the absence of October tenders and a good demand for spots supporting the market. Prime summer yellow oil closed unchanged at 9.10 and prime crude closed at 8.00 to 8.25. Futures closed steady: October 9.13; December 9.16; January 9.25; March 9.35; May 9.58.

NEW YORK.

New York, September 25.—Cottonseed oil was quiet and irregularly lower today, duplicating the fluctuations in cotton. Trade was largely done among local operators, the outside trade still holding aloof. Almost half of the business was represented in exchanges from October to December and January at 6 and 10 points difference, respectively. Commission houses sold October and bought December, while refiners did the reverse. Final prices were 2 to 9 points lower. Sales 10,600 barrels. Prime crude 8.25; prime summer yellow spot 9.80; October closed 9.96; December 10.02; January 10.07; March 10.25.

The Day in Finance

By R. L. BARNUM

Ticker Again Falls Behind; Reaction Is Expected Soon in Market as Result of Unusually High Existing Levels for Stocks; Gold Exports Not Expected To Have Any Material Effect.

New York, September 25.—Stocks opened strong and active with the tape [illegible]lling further behind until the noon hour when it was [illegible] minutes late. This condition, making it impossible for outside traders to keep in close touch with what was going on on the stock exchange floor, together with the banks here starting to call loans, caused selling of the stocks, carrying leading shares down from one to three points from the morning's high. Large declines occurred in specialties. Murray Body dropped 7 3-4 points in the noon hour. This, however, does not mean much when it is recalled that that stock advanced $7 a share yesterday to a new high of 84 1-2 against the year's low of 21 1-2.

Call money opened at 7 1-2 per cent with 7 1-2 per cent asked for time money for from 30 to 90 days. Little time money is available. Time loans falling due in many cases are not being renewed. Some time loans are being made at a rate above the published quotation. It was learned today, for example, that one New Jersey trust company had just made a loan of $1,000,000 in Wall street for four months with the interest rate paid 8 per cent.

Reaction Due Soon.

In stock exchange circles here the feeling is growing that a reaction in the stock market is not far off. This feeling is based partly on the existing high price level for stocks, partly on the existing high rates for time and call money, partly on the increasing tendency of Wall street banks to discriminate in the loan envelopes against stocks that have recently had sensational advances. Similar action on the part of Wall street banks occurred some two weeks before the June break of 24 points in the average price of 50 representative stocks.

Directors of American Can, Allied Chemical and Anaconda met today to declare dividends. In each case only the regular dividend was declared. Something more was expected by speculative Wall street, especially in the case of American Can and Allied Chemical.

Steel common did not make a new high record for all time yesterday when it sold at 161 1-2: That was a new high price for the stock since the 40 per cent stock dividend was paid last year. Steel common sold at 176 on May 31 last year, the day before the stock opened ex-dividend for the 40 per cent dividend. That was the high price for all time for the old stock. The 160—which until yesterday was the high for all time for the present stock was made in September of last year. A price of 160 for the present stock is equal to 224, including the 40 per cent stock dividend. At 160 a stock paying 7 per cent dividends offers an income return of 4.4 per cent or less than recently offered nine months government notes. One house here today purchased 50,000 shares of National Power and Light. Rumors of a merger are being widely circulated.

Benjamin M. Anderson, economist of the Chase National bank here, the second largest bank in the country, made a talk today on the autumn money market at Chicago at a lunch of the Illinois Manufacturers' Cost association. "The fairly widespread expectation that gold movements during the autumn are going to relieve the tension in the American money market does not seem to me to be justified," he said.

Have Slight Effect.

He believes that if we get $25,000,000 gold from London this autumn "it would have very slight effect upon the American money market. The idea that we could expand credit $250,000,000 or more on the basis of $25,000,000 gold import today is quite fantastic. Multiple expansion takes place only when reserves are excessive, not when reserves are deficient." He points out that if $25,000,000 gold comes to the United States and Europe there is no certainty that we should make a net gain of gold for Canada ordinarily takes gold from us in the autumn.

Call money dropped to 7 per cent in the fourth hour. The tape was 40 minutes behind then and the influence of lower call money was not registered on the tape until later. First the decline in stock prices stopped and then in the late trading the stock market began to recover.

A partner in one of the largest stock exchange firms in Wall street making a daily analysis of the stock market that is widely read in the financial district here, points out today that it is coming to be considered that no so-called general reaction is likely simply because the market is segregated into various groups of different character stocks and different price levels, each dependent not upon relative but upon actual values. After pointing out that the rise in prices during the last six weeks has exceeded $2,000,000,000 the belief is expressed that the market taken as a whole has its relative limitations; that the existing stock price level discounts what is likely to be realized in the way of improving general business; that a large part of the stock market is in a distributive stage. This market observer who has remained a bull up to the present time concludes today's analysis with the unqualified statement: "I think a recession is due and not far away."

Wall Street Briefs.

New York, September 25.—Ingot production of the United States Steel Corporation took a sharp rise of about 6 per cent in the last week, crossing 85 per cent of capacity. Independent companies also increased operations, but the gain was not as large, some of the smaller units not moving ahead as rapidly as the larger companies. Bethlehem Steel is running between 85 and 86 per cent, while Republic is credited with slightly higher figures. Youngstown Sheet and Tube and Inland Steel also have increased their activities.

Simon Guggenheim, president of American Smelting and Refining company, said on his return from abroad that the outlook for improvement in the copper industry was most encouraging. The current price of 15¼ cents a pound was the best indication that the industry was better off than it has been for several years. He saw nothing to indicate that the present quotation would average any lower. He looked for larger earnings for the company this year than in 1927, when net income was $15,477,769, or $19.64 a share on the common.

August surplus of the Pere Marquette moved up to $1,259,069 after charges, from $1,089,062 in August last year, but for 8 months was slightly under a year ago, $4,654,140 against $4,753,956.

E. H. Krom, president of G. R. Kinney company, reports that sales for the current quarter to September 17 show an increase of $339,854 over the corresponding period last year.

Stockholders of Federal Water Service Corporation voted to increase the class "A" stock, no par, from 300,000 shares to 1,000,000, to insure additional capital stock when the need arises. No increase was made in the authorized class "B."

Sugar.

New York, September 25.—With no improvement in demand, raw sugar was easier again today, prices declining 1-16 of a cent, to the basis of 3.93 for spots, duty paid. The only sale reported at this level was 10,500 bags of Cuban, from store, but there were further offerings at the same price.

Another set of new low records were established in raw futures under a renewal of tired long liquidation and selling by houses with both Cuban and European connections, final prices showing net losses of 5 to 6 points. The market opened 3 to 5 points lower in response to disappointing London cables, and continued inactivity in spots, but met extensive covering and toward midday a rally of 1 to 2 points followed. Demand, however, was soon supplied and prices closed at the lowest of the season. Failure of refiners to show interest discouraged new buying and the only demand appeared to be for covering. Approximately sales, 72,500 tons. October closed, 1.93; December, 2.06; January, 2.08; March, 2.11; May, 2.18; July, 2.26; September, 2.34.

Demand for refined was of a small hand-to-mouth variety and prices were unchanged at 5.40 for fine granulated.

THE NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK, Trustee

DARMSTAEDTER UND NATIONALBANK KOMMANDITGESELLSCHAFT AUF AKTIEN, Co-Trustee

The following is summarized in part from a letter of Messrs. Henke and Schmitz, Managing Directors of the Rheinisch-Westfalisches Elektrizitatswerk Aktien-Gesellschaft:

The Rhine-Westphalia Electric Power Corporation with its subsidiaries comprises one of the largest electric light and power systems in Europe, with respect to property value, earnings, capacity of power stations and number of customers. The territory served embraces a large part of the Rhineland, including the Ruhr district, the most important industrial section of Germany. This territory has an area of about 9,360 square miles and a population of over 8,000,000.

The consolidated earnings of the Corporation and certain of its wholly owned subsidiary companies, including only a portion of the earnings of the many other companies in which the Corporation has a substantial and profitable interest, for the three fiscal years ended June 30, 1925, 1926 and 1927, respectively, were as follows:

	Fiscal Years Ended June 30 1925	1926	1927
Gross Earnings, including Non-Operating Income	$24,266,224	$23,688,756	$26,965,563
Operating Expenses, Maintenance and Taxes	16,563,957	15,165,562	16,992,084
Net Earnings, before Reserves for Renewals and Replacements	$ 7,702,267	$ 8,523,194	$ 9,973,479

The earnings statement for the year ended June 30, 1928, is not yet available. It is fully expected that it will show earnings in excess of those for the previous year, which exceeded all previous years in the history of the Corporation in point of earnings. Indications are that the current year will set another new record, the output during the past few months having increased approximately 23% over the corresponding period of the previous year. The net earnings of $9,973,479 for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1927, as shown above, compare with annual charges of $3,062,880, constituting interest requirements on the mortgage debt, including this issue, and estimated maximum fixed charges on industrial debentures issued under the Dawes plan.

The Consolidated Mortgage Gold Bonds will be secured by direct mortgages on the operating properties of the Corporation, subject to $6,681,610 industrial debentures issued under the Dawes plan and $24,448,000 Direct Mortgage Gold Bonds. The mortgage under which these bonds will be issued will contain conservative restrictions governing the issuance of additional bonds under the mortgage. The mortgage will also provide for a cumulative Sinking Fund calculated to retire by maturity over 56% of the bonds of the 6% Series of 1928.

Each $1,000 Bond will carry a stock purchase right, evidenced by an appropriate warrant, non-detachable until January 1, 1928, entitling the holder to purchase, after January 1, 1929, and on or before August 1, 1931, a certificate of the National City Bank of New York, representing four "American shares," each such American share being issued against the deposit with the trustee's agent in Berlin of 100 reichsmarks ($23.81) par value of the common capital stock (bearer shares) of the Corporation. The price to be paid for each American share will be as follows: $50 if exercised after January 1, 1929, and prior to August 1, 1929; $52.50 if exercised on or after August 1, 1929, and prior to August 1, 1930; and $55 if exercised on or after August 1, 1930, and on or prior to August 1, 1931, after which date the purchase rights will be void. The current market price of the German shares on the Berlin Stock Exchange indicates a market value for the American shares of approximately $50 a share.

Application will be made to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

Bonds are offered when, as and if issued to and received by us, subject to approval of our counsel, Messrs. Shearman & Sterling, New York City, and Doctor Friedrich Kempner, Berlin, Germany. It is expected that delivery in the first instance will be made on or about October 17, 1928, in the form of Temporary Bonds or Interim Certificates.

Price 94 and interest, yielding about 6.49%

A substantial amount of these Bonds have been withdrawn by Credit Suisse, Zurich, for Switzerland. Additional amounts have also been withdrawn for other European markets.

Kentucky Standard Strong Point; Phelps-Dodge Leads

New York, September 25.—(AP)—The curb market turned reactionary on profit taking toward the close of today's session, after one of the broadest upturns since last spring, in which almost all groups participated. Chain Stores generally declined.

Utilities were stronger than for some time past. Electric Bond and Share making an extreme gain of about 9 points, touching a new peak at 139 1-2, while American Gas and Electric jumped about 7 points to a new top at 186 1-2, then lost about two-thirds of its gain. Puget Sound sold more than six points higher at one time. United Gas Improvement and United Light and Power "A" eased after early gains.

Sparks Withington was a strong point in the industrials, advancing 6 points to a new peak at 146. Checker Cab extended its gain on reports of heavy orders, and National Rubber Machinery went ahead 3 points to a new top at 39 on reports that earnings for the year would be on the basis of $6 per share after the conversion of the bonds. Marion Steam Shovel, Oakes Products and Campbell Wyant went up 2 to 4 points to new tops. Columbia Graphophone and Theater "A" improved.

Bancitaly dropped more than a point, while American Solvent, Budd Manufacturing, Kimberly-Clark and Southern Asbestos were in supply. Doehler Die Casting, and Moore Drop Forging, fell 3 and Royal Baking Powder 8 points. In the Chain Stores, Safeway.

SECOND MUSKETEER OF AIR IS KILLED

Lieut. Cornelius Dies When Planes Crash in San Diego Maneuver.

San Diego, Calif., September 25.—(AP)—Lieutenant W. L. Cornelius, one of the army's "three musketeers of the air," who figured in the recent Los Angeles air races, was killed here today when his plane crashed with another in mid-air at Rockwell field, North Island.

Cornelius was one of two surviving members of the trio, Lieutenant J. J. Williams having been killed at the air races at Los Angeles two weeks ago. Lieutenant Irving A. Woodring now is the sole survivor.

The "three musketeers" were members of the ninty-fifth pursuit squadron and formerly in the same flight at Selfridge Field, Mich., when they were attached to the first pursuit squadron. Lieutenant Cornelius' home was at Fort Smith, Ark.

Lieutenant Roger E. Williams, of Spokane, Washington, was said to have been injured seriously in a crash.

Reports said the planes piloted by Williams and Cornelius locked wings while flying in battle formation. Cornelius is said to have jumped from his plane with a parachute which failed to open. He was killed instantly when he struck the ground. Army quarters announced that a detailed official report would be made later in the day.

RED CROSS RELIEF FUND $1,074,775

Washington, September 25.—(AP)—Red Cross headquarters has announced that the West Indies hurricane relief fund is near the million and a half mark, the total being $1,437,970. Of this amount $1,074,775 was reported from the eastern area and $46,653 was contributed from Porto Rico. The Red Cross is asking a minimum of $5,000,000.

Of this amount $1,074,775 was reported from the eastern area, $236,306 from the mid-western area, $80,236 from the Pacific area and $46,653 was contributed from Porto Rico. The Red Cross is asking a minimum of $5,000,000.

GREETING IS PLANNED FOR RAILROAD WORKERS

Plans for a public reception Saturday for the 750 employees of the Southern railway, first detachment of the 1,200 to be transferred to this city from Washington, D. C., were announced Tuesday by Mayor I. N. Ragsdale.

A meeting of the general committee in charge of the welcome to the railroad employees will be held at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the mayor's office. Many citizens are requested to be present with their cars at the Terminal station by 9:50 o'clock Saturday morning to aid in the reception.

W. Bayne Ginson has been named chairman of the men's division of the reception committee, while Mrs. Mildred Seidell is chairman of the women's division. The police band will participate in the welcome.

"In Atlanta's history the city has never received at one time an influx of so many high-class citizens, and their arrival will offer a splendid opportunity to greet them with a genuine, hospitable reception," Mayor Ragsdale said. "I know that Atlantans will accept it as a privilege to join in the welcome to our new citizens and the endeavor to make them feel at home right from the time of their arrival. Our citizens can extend a fine courtesy to the arrivals by meeting them at the railway station with automobiles and transport them direct to their new homes."

The railway employees will arrive on three special trains, the first due at the Terminal station at 9:50 o'clock in the morning, the second at 10 o'clock and the third at 10:10 o'clock.

MINER IS ARRESTED FOR FLOGGING ATTEMPT

St. Clairesville, Ohio, September 25. John Eberhardt, 40, a miner, of Barton, near here, was arrested today on grand jury charges of riotous conspiracy, as the alleged leader of a gang of "night riders" who attempted to lynch Lester Berry, 18, and Mrs. Goldie Wheeler, 21, near Barton, on the night of September 16.

Miss Hannah Gallagher, Berry's sweetheart, escaped from the mob while the three were being taken from a buggy in which they were taking a ride.

Eberhardt, arrested at his home by Sheriff C. C. Hardesty, was brought to the office of County Prosecutor Wandell, where he was being questioned. He very strenuously denied participation in the attempt to hang Berry and Mrs. Wheeler, claiming that he knew nothing of the episode. He said, however, he had worn a white robe trimmed in red, such as was alleged to have been worn by the mob.

Berry and Mrs. Wheeler were taken to a clump of trees about half a mile distant where ropes were fastened about their necks and the other ends thrown over limbs of the trees. The ropes then were tightened until the two victims' toes merely touched the ground.

While Berry and Mrs. Wheeler were dangling from the tree limbs with their toes tipping the ground, the mask slipped from the alleged leader's face and they were able to recognize him.

When the man believed he was recognized, he was said to have given orders that they be cut down. That was done, with the admonition they were to return home and mention the incident to no one under threat of death.

The members of the mob were said to have boasted they were a "night riders' club." There were about twenty in the mob according to testimony given the grand jury.

Instead of obeying the injunction, the victims called the county prosecutor and related their experiences. The matter was promptly placed before the grand jury.

The minimum sentence if convicted on the riotous conspiracy charge is two years in the state penitentiary.

CHARGE DISMISSALS IN MEXICO DEBATED

Move Under Way To Save 16 From Death of General Obregon.

Mexico City, September 25.—(AP)—No decision was reached tonight by the justices of the supreme court on the motion by attorneys for 16 defendants in connection with the assassination of President-elect Obregon that the orders of arrest be cancelled.

These defendants include the Mother Concepcion and others charged with having conspired to manufacture and place bombs in Obregon's headquarters and the chamber of deputies. The judges met in the city hall of Mixcoac to hear the pleas, which if granted would amount to dismissal of charges. Otherwise the defendants must stand public trial. The court will sit again tomorrow.

Meaning of "Banda."

The arguments today revolved at great length around the definition of the word "banda," which appears in the indictments. Federal District Attorney-General Correa Nietro declared that the defendants by their meetings in the home of Concepcion had constituted themselves into a band intending unlawful acts and that "banda" as used in this case means that the defendants were members of a group conspiring against life by assassination and against property by bombing.

The defense attorneys argued that a "banda" might be a musical organization and that mere membership in such did not justify arrest and imprisonment.

Toral Worked Alone.

They contended that Jose de Leon Toral, who fired the shots that killed Obregon, had not shared with others knowledge of his intention. The court took under advisement the definitions gleaned from the many dictionaries brought in to bolster the claims of both sides.

All of the defendants sat in the front row in the courtroom, surrounded by police guards. Mother Concepcion laughed frequently during the arguments on the definition of "banda" and even Leon Toral, whose face is usually serious, smiled occasionally. Sometimes the defendants applauded points in the arguments made in their behalf.

PITTSBURGH STARTS BIG VICE PROBE

Pittsburgh, September 25.—(AP)—An investigation of "protected vice" in Pittsburgh, much similar to the Philadelphia inquiry now under way, was launched today by the county grand jury.

District Attorney S. H. Gardner petitioned for the investigation, citing the recent charges of Police Magistrate John Verona that bootleggers and gamblers were paying "protection" money to the police and that practically every official in the administration of Mayor Charles Kline had knowledge of it.

Verona, recognized political power in the hill district and chief lieutenant of Kline's, was dismissed as a police magistrate yesterday by the mayor, who held that Verona, in his capacity as an alderman, used his constables to harass the police. In his letter to Verona the mayor did not mention the charges brought by the former magistrate.

The political strife between the mayor and Verona flared up when Verona sent his constables out to arrest police inspectors for disorderly conduct, and the police started a drive of their own, arresting the constables on the same charge.

THIRD-CLASS SLEEPERS PUT ON BRITISH TRAINS

London, September 25.—(AP)—Sleeping berths for third class passengers were inaugurated on the few long-distance railways of Great Britain last night, marking something of a revolution in travel from the far corners of Scotland, Wales and England.

The luxury sleeping compartment of first class cars on British railway lines are the last word in comfort, but they are scarce and expensive. The occupant enjoys everything from the services of a valet to breakfast in bed, but he must travel first class, which costs twice as much as third and then pay an additional pound sterling for his private compartment.

British night trains have in the past carried one or two sleepers with a dozen third-class day coaches crowded with men, women and children sleeping sitting upright in the "carriages" or when the trains are jammed, sprawled in the corridors.

The innovation of third-class sleepers enables the ordinary passenger to obtain a berth for seven shillings or $1.75. The compartments are four-bunk affairs without privacy.

Each berth is equipped with a pillow and a traveling rug—and in the morning there is tea, without which no real Englishman starts his day in good humor.

ITALIAN CIRCLE WILL CELEBRATE COLUMBUS DAY

For the first time in Atlanta, Columbus Day, October 12, will be observed by the Italian Circle, it was announced Tuesday night following a meeting of directors and officers of that organization.

Meeting in Signor Volpi's studio in the Wesley Memorial building the Italians decided to honor his memory by giving a formal dinner-dance in the Ansley hotel on the night of October 12.

Tentative plans for the affair were approved and a formal announcement of the arrangements will be made later. Dr. Attilio Bollati, recently appointed Italian counsel to Atlanta will be a guest of honor at the affair.

HASSELL-CRAMER DUE AT COPENHAGEN

Copenhagen, September 25.—(AP)—The steamer Fulton, which is bringing from Greenland Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, of the plane "Greater Rockford," passed Hirtshals at noon today. She is expected to dock here at 9 a. m. tomorrow.

The fliers will be received by a welcoming committee headed by H. Percival Dodge, United States minister to Denmark; Knud Rasmussen, famous explorer, and General Castonier, president of the Geographic society. They will remain in Copenhagen a few days and then sail for the United States.

English Cotton Industry Weekly Review

Manchester, England, September 13. (By Mail.)—The feature of interest in the market during the past week has been the comparatively big decline in raw cotton prices. This has been due to a bearish September report issued by the United States government on the American cotton crop. The slump in prices has been rather steeper than anticipated by most traders, and it illustrates the weak undertone. It is very evident that the raw cotton markets lack buying power and as the position stands at the moment it is quite possible that values will eventually recede to a lower level.

Lancashire, of course, is pleased at this development, for it means that cloth buyers will be able to commence operations on a lower basis. The policy of shippers and merchants for some time past has been one of holding aloof and this attitude has been amply repaid.

At the time of writing, however, a very unsettled tone prevails throughout the Manchester market. There appears to me a lack of confidence in current rates and until there is more stability in Liverpool and New York business in piece goods will continue of a hand-to-mouth character.

Cloth prices have been tested on a free scale, but only a limited turnover has taken place either for home or abroad. It is quite possible that a buying movement will commence at an early date. American and Egyptian yarns have been in quiet request. No immediate relief is in sight for spinners.

A meeting of the Master Spinners' Federation will be held at an early date when a proposal will be submitted that short time working should be recommended in the American spinning section of the trade. This move is a result of a special meeting of the Oldham Master Cotton Spinners' association held last night, when it was decided to press the federation to call a mass meeting of the trade with a view to obtaining support towards curtailing production on an organized scale.

Three-Day Stoppage.

The amount of short time working was not stated but there is a strong desire that there should be either a three days' stoppage each week or a complete stoppage of the trade in alternate weeks. Between 50 and 60 spinning mills in the American section are closed down owing to the severe trade depression and spinners whose mills are working are unable to sell at a profit.

At a special meeting of the shareholders of the British Cotton Growing association held in Manchester a scheme was approved for the reduction of the capital from 500,000 to 262,027 pounds sterling. This will be effected by returning to the members half of the money subscribed and reducing the nominal value of the shares from 1 pound sterling to 10 1-2 shillings. This return of capital has been made on account of the strong financial position of the association and the council was of the opinion that without in any way marring the resources of the association and without endangering its future work a distribution of capital could rightly and properly be made.

BLAZE THREATENS FOREST PLAYGROUND

Los Angeles, September 25.—(AP)—County authorities mobilized 300 men her early today and rushed them to Oak Flat, Los Angeles county's forest playground, where forest fires along a 25-mile front threatened to jump a highway and eat into the recreation area.

It was reported here that winds had caused the fires to spread along the wide front.

Error May Free Leopold

DARROW LAUGHS AT "FAVORITISM"

And Loeb in Six Years More

BY W. F. SULLIVAN.

Chicago, September 25.—(United News.)—Announcement that Richard "Dicky" Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., "thrill slayers," convicted of the murder of little Bobby Franks, through a court error, would be eligible to parole from prison in seven years, created a lively controversy here today.

Hinton G. Clabaugh, chairman of the state board of pardons and paroles, in his statement referred to Loeb and Leopold as the "pampered pets of the penitentiary," and said he wanted the public to know the conditions that "a few rat holes might be plugged."

Lot of Silliness.

To this Clarence Darrow, noted criminal attorney, who defended the wealthy college boys in the most sensational trial in the criminal annals of Cook county, replied that Clabaugh was "having a brainstorm," and termed the statement "a lot of silliness."

Clabaugh said that an error in the mittimus under which Loeb and Leopold were committed to prison, would permit them to apply for parole in seven years. The slayers were sentenced by Judge John Caverly to serve 99 years for kidnaping and a life term for murder. The mittimus allowed them to serve the terms concurrently instead of consecutively, however, he said.

Status is Farce.

"Their status at the penitentiary is a farce," Clabaugh said. "Already they are building up fine records in the prison with a view to seeking paroles. Somebody is using their influence. These two sons of wealth are pampered pets in Joliet.

"Imagine picking the two worse cases in the prison and giving these boys the choice positions over more than 3,000 other men. One is private secretary to the first warden and the other is private secretary to the Protestant chaplain. Yet Leopold was generally believed to have been the brains of the prison outbreak two years ago which has cost, so far, several lives and resulted in the hanging of three men."

Clabaugh said he called attention to the error when he took charge of the parole board but that it had no effect. He said he did not know whether the law would permit the error to be corrected but at least "no attempt was being made."

Error Correctable.

Darrow said if there was an error in the commitment papers, it could be corrected by the court.

"It's a lot of silliness," he told the United Press, referring to Clabaugh's remarks. "There is nothing to it. When Judge Caverly sentenced those boys to life and 99 years his purpose was to tie them up in prison so they never would get out again. There will be no attempt to have them freed."

Under the "good time" law, life prisoners with good records, are eligible for parole after serving only 11 years and three months. The thrill slayers" are in their fifth year at prison.

LOS ANGELES MAN ALLEGES "HOLDUP" OF SMITH SPEECH

Los Angeles, Calif., September 25.—(AP)—F. M. Abbott, manager of the Smith-for-President club of Los Angeles, today charged that "high administration influences" were responsible for failure last night of southern Californians to hear Governor Alfred E. Smith's Teapot Dome speech at Helena, Mont., over the radio.

The democratic nominee's speech was slated to have been rebroadcast by a Los Angeles station. It did not relay the speech, however. Station officials announced that inability to obtain land wires to bring Smith's voice from Helena to southern California was responsible.

Arrangements for the rebroadcast were said to have been under direction of Major Andrew White, of station WOR in New York city, in charge of the particular hook-up which was handling Governor Smith's address.

Abbott said that political influence was exerted so that Governor Smith's discussion of the Teapot Dome case would not be heard in southern California.

"I am satisfied," Abbott said, "that high administration influences have spoiled this part of the democratic campaign in the interests of republican success in November."

WEST COAST NOT IN RADIO HOOK-UP.

New York, September 25.—(AP)—The radio bureau of the democratic national committee never intended Governor Smith's speech at Helena to be broadcast on the west coast, Josef Israels, of that bureau, announced today.

"To have used west coast stations in last night's hookup," he said, "would have necessitated leasing land wires, the coost of which would have been $4,000 an hour. It was not considered that this expense would be warranted to broadcast that particular speech to the west."

MOORE TO SAIL FOR U. S. FRIDAY FROM PERU POST

Lima, Peru, September 25.—(United News.)—American Ambassador Alexander P. Moore has engaged passage for New York Friday, it was learned tonight.

The United States envoy will return for treatment of his left leg which was injured by a fall July 4 and has troubled him intermittently since then.

It was announced that there was no official reason for the trip but it is known that Moore recently had discussed the question of President Coolidge acting as arbiter in the Tacna-Arica controversy.

JUDGE CALLAWAY RAPS REPUBLICANS IN BURKE SPEECH

Waynesboro, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Judge E. H. Callaway, of Augusta, addressed the voters of Burke county at the courthouse here Tuesday. Miss Nina Jones presided. Frank S. Burney introduced the speaker.

Judge Callaway spoke for one hour and forty-five minutes comparing the two parties. He flayed the republicans for their failure to enforce the prohibition laws. He severely censured all religious bigots, pointing to many Catholics who have done valiantly in the history of America. He discussed all the issues of the campaign.

His address was the first on the presidential issues heard here and was well received.

HOOVER MAKES PLANS FOR HIS SOUTHERN TRIP

Washington, September 25.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover had a busy day today, working for a while on his Elizabethton, Tenn., speech and receiving reports on the political situation in the middle west. He also held his semi-weekly conference with newspaper correspondents, but would not disclose whether his campaign plans would be extended to include addresses in a number of cities to which he has been invited, including a recent invitation from St. Louis.

Governor John Hammill, of Iowa, brought to the republican presidential candidate a lengthy survey of conditions in the corn belt and Iowa in particular. The governor was accompanied to the Hoover headquarters by Dr. Hubert Work, chairman of the republican national committee.

With Roy O. West, secretary of the interior department and former secretary of the national committee, Hoover also discussed the political situation in the middle west. Plans for an extension of the campaign work in that section were considered.

Hears from Wisconsin.

From Walter J. Kohler, republican nominee for governor of Wisconsin, the presidential candidate received information on conditions in the Badger state. Kohler said afterwards that the Hoover-Curtis ticket had "a good chance" to carry the state, but said he would withhold a more positive prediction until after the forthcoming visit of the democratic presidential candidate, Alfred E. Smith.

Hoover's press conference was one of the briefest on record. Making his way through the group of nearly half a hundred newspapermen in the semicircular room at his headquarters, the candidate announced that he had nothing on his mind and said in response to questions that he was unable to help the correspondents with respect to a number of subjects with which they treated.

These included whether he is to extend his speaking tour; whether his Elizabethton speech will deal with water power; and if he is to speak in St. Louis on his way back to his California home to vote.

Invited to St. Louis.

It was disclosed that the nominee has a very strong invitation from St. Louis, but his acceptance will depend upon the route of his homeward journey, whether it carries him to the north or to the south. Invitations also have been received from a number of other cities and these likewise are under consideration.

During the day Hoover put the final stamp of approval upon the schedule for his trip into the south early next month. Leaving here on his special train on the night of October 5, he will go direct to Elizabethton, where he will speak in mid-afternoon of the next day at the patriotic and industrial celebration which will be held at that time in that mountain town.

Rear Platform Appearance.

When his train reaches the Virginia-Tennessee line at Bristol, a stop will be made for a rear platform appearance. Before delivering his address at Elizabethton, the republican standard bearer will be a guest at a luncheon and will review a historical pageant.

Then Hoover will motor 10 miles to Johnson City, where he will make a brief talk to the veterans of all wars domiciled in the Johnson City Soldiers' Home, which is one of the largest in the country. He then will go direct to his train for the return trip to Washington, arriving here early Sunday morning.

This will be his last journey away from Washington until the middle of October when he will invade the home town of his democratic opponent, speaking at Carnegie hall, on the night of October 17. Plans for this trip still are in the making and it may be that the original program will be extended somewhat.

MILLS ASKS SUPPORT OF G. O. P. FOR TAX CUT

Says Party Has Reduced Annual Impost by Almost Two Billions.

Washington, September 25.—(AP)—Ogden L. Mills, undersecretary of the treasury, in a radio speech tonight under the auspices of the republican national committee on "economy in government" again praised the fiscal policy of President Coolidge and criticized that of Governor Smith, the democratic presidential nominee, in New York.

In another radio address under the auspices of the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Raymond Robins, of Chicago, national director of the republican campaign among industrial women, lauded the position of Herbert Hoover, the republican presidential candidate, on the solution of the nation's industrial problems. She declared that the higher wages, shorter hours and social gains now enjoyed by the American working man and woman "can be protected only" by Hoover's election.

The undersecretary said the past seven years had seen the reduction of internal revenue taxes, including the income tax, by about $1,800,000,000 annually. "We have cut the per capita internal revenue taxes in half" he continued. "That is, from $42.23 to $23.61, which means an annual saving of $21.62 on the average to every man, woman and child in this country.

"Taxes that have gone down," Mills concluded, "can just as readily, in fact much more easily, go up. And what's more, they will, unless the people themselves definitely record their approval of public servants who recognize economy as a principle of government and then proceed to live up to that principle."

DR. RAFFALOVICH WILL SPEAK TODAY BEFORE TRADE CLUB

Dr. George Raffalovich, of the Rockefeller foundation, and professor of modern languages at Spelman university, will speak before the Atlanta Foreign Trade club at its bi-weekly luncheon meeting in the Chamber of Commerce building at noon today. Dr. Raffalovich will speak on "The Value of a Knowledge of Modern Languages in Business and Society."

At this meeting plans will be discussed for courses in French, Italian, German and Spanish to be offered to business men and travelers through the Foreign Trade club.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

The Story of Our War With Spain. Americans Urge Reforms in Cuba.

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

TIME AND AGAIN THE UNITED STATES TRIED TO BRING PEACE TO WAR-TORN CUBA BY URGING SPAIN TO MAKE CONCESSIONS TO THE CUBAN INSURGENTS, BUT SPAIN REFUSED TO GRANT THE MUCH-NEEDED REFORMS WHILE THE CUBANS REMAINED IN ARMS.

IN 1878 THE "TEN YEARS' WAR" CAME TO AN END. THE REVOLUTIONISTS CEASED FIGHTING AFTER GENERAL MARTINEZ CAMPOS, THE SPANISH COMMANDER, HAD PROMISED THE CUBANS SELF-GOVERNMENT IN LOCAL AFFAIRS, LIBERAL SUFFRAGE AND THE ADMISSION OF CUBANS TO OFFICE.

BUT THE SPANISH PARTY IN CUBA, COMPOSED OF THE WEALTHY LANDLORDS AND MERCHANTS WHO BENEFITED BY SPANISH RULE, WAS UNWILLING TO HAVE THE MASS OF CUBANS SHARE IN THE GOVERNMENT, AND THROUGH ITS INFUENCE THE PROMISED REFORMS WERE WITHHELD.

THE MAJORITY OF CUBANS, COWED BY YEARS OF SPANISH TYRANNY AND OPPRESSION, MADE LITTLE PROTEST, BUT THE FORMER INSURGENTS KEPT THEIR ORGANIZATION AND WAITED FOR THE CHANCE TO STRIKE A TELLING BLOW FOR FREEDOM.

REV. EDWARD BAILEY, AGED MINISTER, DIES

Presbyterian Churchman Had Been Retired for Fifteen Years.

The Rev. Edward Bailey, 76, for many years active in the Presbyterian ministry, died early Tuesday night at his home on Peachtree road, following a brief illness. He served in the Cherokee Presbytery and in Texas as a minister. He has been retired from active work for more than 15 years.

He is survived by a daughter, Mary Louise Bailey, of Atlanta; two sons, Henry M. and Dr. M. K. Bailey, both of Atlanta; a sister, Miss Letitia Bailey, of Columbus, Miss., and a brother, J. N. Bailey, of Atlanta. Funeral arrangements will be announced later by H. M. Patterson and Son.

MRS. MANNES DIES

Prominent Decatur Woman Was Watkinsville Native.

Mrs. J. C. Mannes, 68, died at a private hospital early Tuesday morning after an illness of several months. She had been for many years a resident of Decatur and was the wife of the Rev. J. C. Mannes, who is now connected with the state department of agriculture.

Mrs. Mannes was a native of Watkinsville, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ashford. She was married to Mr. Mannes in 1890 and for several years after their marriage lived in Chattanooga, moving from there to Decatur. In the latter city she had been active in religious, social and patriotic circles for many years at the time of her death.

She is survived by her husband; a daughter, Mrs. F. H. Roberts, of Decatur, and two brothers, W. T. Ashford, of Atlanta, and A. W. Ashford, of Watkinsville. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

IRA E. WILKS, LAGRANGE LEADER, DIES SUDDENLY

LaGrange, Ga., September 25.—(Special.)—Ira E. Wilks, prominent LaGrange merchant, was found dead in his bed Tuesday morning about 6 o'clock by members of his family. It is thought that death came as the result of high blood pressure.

Mr. Wilks was president of a local clothing store, and had carried on an extensive real estate business during the past year. He also conducted an automobile business and was the local representative for a large gasoline company. He had been in business here for the past several years.

The body was carried to Petrey, Ala., Tuesday, where funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon from the Petrey Baptist church. Interment will be in the Petrey cemetery.

The deceased is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mae Petrey Wilks, two daughters, Catherine and Helen, and one son, Edward.

WAYCROSS RAILROAD MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Waycross, Ga., September 25.—Funeral services were held here Monday morning at 11 o'clock for Cecil Martin, 38, who died suddenly at his home Saturday.

Mr. Martin, a well-known employee of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad, dropped dead Saturday afternoon about 6 o'clock. He had been in apparent perfect health.

He is survived by one son, Herman Martin, of Waycross, and one daughter, Cecile Martin, also of Waycross; four brothers, T. O. Martin, of Glenwood, Ga.; C. F. Martin, of Fort Pierce, Fla.; W. C. Martin, of Birmingham, and L. M. Martin, of Waycross; also one sister, Miss Leona Martin, of Waycross.

Services were conducted by the Rev. J. N. Peacock, pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment was at Oakland cemetery.

Mortuary

MRS. CLARA TRIPP.

Funeral services for Mrs. Clara Tripp, who died Monday morning at the residence, 148 Vanmoy street, will be held at 9:30 o'clock this morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The Rev. Father M. A. Cotter will officiate and interment will be in Oakland cemetery.

THOMAS WESLEY REEVES.

Funeral services for Thomas Wesley Reeves, who died Tuesday morning at his residence in Hapeville, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning in the Hapeville Methodist church. The Rev. E. D. Hale, assisted by the Rev. P. A. Kelley, will officiate and interment will be in the College Park cemetery. Mr. Reeves is survived by his widow; seven sisters, Mrs. Letha Tanner, Mrs. O. L. Carmichael, Mrs. Ola Haynie, Mrs. T. D. Harrison, Mrs. W. L. Hanes, and Miss Eunice Reeves, all of College Park, and Mrs. J. H. Eddy, of Charleston, W. Va., and three brothers, W. F., H. L. and E. B. Reeves.

MISS ELIZABETH RITTENGER.

Indianapolis, Ind., September 25.—(Special.)—Funeral services for Miss Elizabeth Rittinger, 71, a former resident of Atlanta, Ga., who died here Sunday night, will be held at the residence of a sister, Mrs. John W. Schaaf, tomorrow with burial here. She had lived in Atlanta several years, coming to Indianapolis from that city. Besides the sister, she is survived by two nephews, Peter and Joseph Denzer, and a niece, Mrs. Anna Peters, all of this city.

ALABAMA PROFESSOR TELLS OF POWER AID

Dr. J. S. Thomas Admits Receiving Salary; Atlantan Also on Stand.

Washington, September 25.—(AP)—The payment of approximately $10,500 by Alabama utilities interests to J. S. Thomas, director of extension work at the University of Alabama, as salary between January 1, 1927, and July 1, 1928, was revealed by him today in testimony before the federal trade commission power investigation.

During the first six months of his employment, he said the work was in connection with the Alabama state committee on public information. This arrangement was discontinued, he added, because he felt that he was not suitably equipped for such work.

Made Speeches.

Robert E. Healy, commission counsel, asked what services had been rendered subsequently for the $666 monthly salary. Thomas replied that he had made economic and sociological researches, and had addressed Rotary, Kiwanis and Civilian clubs and other groups throughout the state. He expressed the opinion that the audiences had not been informed of his employment by the utilities interests, one of which he named as the Alabama Power company.

Thomas testified that he had long been interested in the industrial development of the state, and that he had not abandoned his connection with the university upon accepting a salary from utilities organizations.

Last August, he said he accepted an associate directorship on the Alabama state board for industrial development. This board is intended to foster industrial expansion in the state, he added, and funds to finance it are expected to be contributed by the state and private groups. Healy inquired whether utilities organizations would aid its support and Thomas replied that he did not know.

Atlanta Man Testifies.

Prior to Thomas' appearance, C. M. Kilian, of Atlanta, testified as secretary of the southeastern division of the National Electric Light association. He identified financial records which showed disbursements of $20,000 in the last fiscal year. Among these was an item of $115 paid to Thomas, as expenses for attending a convention of the division at Miami.

Another document identified by Kilian recorded the sessions of the public relations section meeting of the division convention at Birmingham in 1924. Healy read excerpts from this into the record, one of which included remarks by M. H. Aylesworth, then managing director of the N. E. L. A., and now president of the National Broadcasting company.

"All the money being spent is worth while," it said, "and may I leave this thought with you executives. Don't quit now. At the next convention have more young ladies here so as to do the job right, and let off more men from the departments so they can come here. Don't be afraid of the expense. The public pays the expense. Let us continue with big meetings." (Applause.)

Witnesses subpoenaed to testify in the inquiry tomorrow include J. A. Switzer, of Nashville, Tenn., secretary of the south Appalachian power conference; Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, Chapel Hill, N. C., chairman of the executive committee of the conference, and Thorndike Saville, Chapel Hill, former treasurer of the conference.

WEE CORSET SHOP HOLDS UP PROPOSED 24-STORY BUILDING

New York, September 25.—A woman's little corset shop is preventing erection of a big skyscraper. Mrs. Estelle G. Rosenfield, whose store has a ten-foot front, has a temporary injunction against a proposed 24-story structure in Herald Square. She has a 12-year lease, wants $150,000 to move and has been offered $25,000.

AKRON BABY BLIMP FLIES TO LAKEHURST ON FIRST JOURNEY

Naval Air Station, Lakehurst, N. J., September 25.—(AP)—The Puritan, 86,000 cubic foot dirigible of the Goodyear Zeppelin company, Akron, Ohio, arrived here today for a week's stay.

It was planned to take the ship on several short flights along the eastern coast before returning to Ohio.

STREET CAR NOISE CAUSES WOMAN'S LEAP TO DEATH

New York, September 25.—(AP)—Mrs. William F. Cooper, 54, of New York city, who leaped to death Sunday from a seventh floor apartment, was a sister of George Gray Barnard, it developed today. She clutched in one hand a note saying the noise of the street cars was more than she could stand and in the other hand a picture of her husband.

You'll Get Out and Get Under the Moon!

You sho' will, flat tired Bozo, if you've got any idea of taking a ride on them tissue paper tires! The moon's a mighty pretty thing when you're looking at it with nothing but sweet thoughts on your mind—but it loses its attraction when it's only seen by your back while you're patching up them busted tires!

Now there ain't any reason why you can't have them mighty good Columbus and Firestone Tires and Tubes what Cottongim sells on terms and down payments to suit anybody's income. So come on down and let me outfit you with tires what'll let you get out and get under the moon so as you can actually enjoy the moon and all what it means!

Yours for many moons,
